HUN REVOLUTION ENDS IN A FARCE

BERLIN, March 19.—The dictatorship of Dr. Wolfgang Kapp and the rule of his Praetorians ended as suddenly as it began.

With the inglorious departure of Kapp from the Chancellor's palace at six o'clock Wednesday night and the ignominious kicking out of Baron Luetwitz by a committee of determined citizens, the curtain was rung down upon as extreme a political comedy as ever was staged in the most unstable Republic of South

America To Disarm Baltic Troops

Kapp's Praetorian guard of the Baltic troops and marine brigade already are packing up for departure knowing they will be disarmed and discharged as soon as they are out of the city. They are being sped on their way by an ultimatum from the officers of the Security Police—a husky body of former non-coms—that, unless the Baltic troops were removed speedily they would be beaten up by members of the Security Police.

No amnesty has been promised Kapp or his colleagues, and the Ebert-Bauer Government offered no conditions.

Try for Better Terms

Kapp realized in the course of the morning that "the game was up" and signed his resignation at eleven o'clock, although the fact was not given out until one o'clock in the afternoon.

Von Ludendorff and Colonel Bauer in the meantime continued their efforts to obtain a new lease of power or at least better terms, by sending agents to the Coalition party's representatives to argue that only by coming to terms with the military party, could the city and country be defended against the Bolshevik peril.

An Inapt Remark

Unfortunately for them their committee was informed that about the time that Bauer and Capt. Pabstun had been negotiating with the Independent Socialists for joint action to prevent the return of the Ebert Government an alleged remark by von Luetwitz relative to the necessity of making common cause with the radicals to root out "the rotten parliamentarism" had come to the ears of the Ebert party.

Representatives of Ebert's party met and summoned von Luetwitz and demanded that he immediately resign command of the troops and the authority entrusted to him by Dr. Kapp.

Von Luetwitz complied and the meeting appointed General von Secht to command the troops and bring about their immediate withdrawal from Berlin.

Stood Out to End

The Ebert Government it is asserted, retained until the end its determination to have no dealing with the military Junker Government which forced it to flee from Berlin.

The Security Police have assumed a guarantee for the maintenance of law and order in Berlin and though the Baltic and other troops are still

Anaemic Paleness Quickly Changed To Rosy Cheeks

Chlorosis or anaemia is simply thinness of blood.

If confined too much indoors, anaemia develops because the lungs are insufficiently supplied with oxygen, and the blood is consequently impoverished and half starved.

But there is a cure.

Dr. Hamilton has solved the problem in his famous pills of Mandrake and Butternut; as a blood enricher their equal is not known.

All the functions upon which life depends are helped by Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

Richness and purity are instilled with wonderful promptness into the vital fluid.

Healthy color supplants the pallid, ashen face.

Better appetite strong digestion and dreamless sleep, are sure to follow, because of the increased blood supply furnished by Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

Think it over.

Will it pay you to look and feel half dead, to lack color and spirit, when all can be changed by Dr. Hamilton's Pills?

ATTEMPT TO HANG MAN FAILS

JACKSON, MISS., March 19.—The state of Mississippi, if a bill which has been introduced in the legislature by Representative John Yeager of Lamar County, is adopted, will pay $5,000 to a man who was hanged 17 years ago.

The introduction of the bill recalls a tragic story that aroused intense interest and no little political bitterness throughout the state.

The beneficiary of the bill if it is passed will be Will Purvis, a prosperous farmer of Columbia, Marion county.

In 1903 Will Buckley was waylaid shot and killed, as he was riding home from Columbia, accompanied by his brother. They were suspected of having gone before the grand jury and divulged secrets of the White Caps a lawless organization that had been terrorizing and running the negroes out of the county for several months and whose motto was death to traitors.

Will Purvis was arrested, tried and convicted and sentenced to be hanged after one of the most sensational trials ever known in the state. The day for the hanging arrived and thousands of his friends and neighbors, as well as those who were not friends swarmed into the little county town to see him pay the death penalty—the gruesome affair to be open to all comers.

When the trap was sprung the body of Purvis shot through to the ground the noise having slipped. The sheriff jumped to take another trial as executioner, but the spectators would have none of it. Purvis was dazed but by no means dead, and accompanied the sheriff back to jail, where he remained until the courts could determine whether or not he was to hang a second time.

A great hue and cry was made against going in the face of what was called the "hand of Providence," in sparing the life of one then believed to be innocent of the crime charged against him, and it was made an issue in the gubernatorial campaign then on. However, the supreme court fixed another day for the execution of Purvis.

Anse McLaurin, then candidate for governor, afterwards United States senator, announced that if he was elected governor he would commute Purvis's sentence to imprisonment for life, and later on pardon him. He was elected and carried out his promises.

Purvis returned home after two years in the penitentiary, married his old sweetheart and they and their children are living happily on an 80 acre farm in Lamar county. Three years ago Joe Beard of Marion county, then on his deathbed, called in the sheriff, a clergyman and others and confessed that another had killed Will Buckley, he, Beard, being with him at the time.

Mr. Yeager now would have the state pay Purvis, who is a prominent family, $5,000 for his services while on the convict farm and as a belated balm for his horrible experience on the gallows. A first cousin of Mr. Buckley, the man murdered, favors the bill and it is believed the bill will pass.

MOVIE BAN ON FILMS OF LIFE OF OUTLAWS

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 19.—Never again will "Wild-eyed" Bill blossom out into a "movie star" and show the younger Oklahoma generation how he robbed the bank and beat his man to the draw.

"Bills" doom was sealed the other day when theatre owners and managers in convention here adopted a resolution pledging themselves to voluntary censorship of all films depicting the career of former convicts, alleged criminals and outlaws.

On ordinary accounts Ontario had a deficit of $1,559,802 for the year ending October 31, 1919. This is shown in the public accounts tabled. The province started the year with a balance of $5,140,176.35. The payments for the year amounted to $21,465,574.88 and the receipts totalled $19,904,772.04, leaving a deficit of over a million and a half.

Wilde's Experience Lesson to Carpenter

Frenchman Should Not Be in a Hurry to Secure Action—Welchman's Advice Proved Decidedly Costly to Him in the End.

NEW YORK, March 20.—Wesley Wilder No. 1 of the flyweight ten, can whisper a few things in Georges Carpentier's ears.

With flashes in mind of the bumps he hit before he got going good, the noted citizen of Pontypridd might say to the Frenchman before he takes his first step, "Go easy Georges. If you must fight even the dally set-ups, as they say here, tyke your time old chappie."

Into the ears of the newly-wed Frenchman, the same tune that the diminutive Wilde heard will be poured: "Here's something soft for a nice bunch of coin. You can polish him off in a couple of rounds with training."

Georges may fall for it and take unto himself a couple of figurative black eyes, such as gave little Jimmy such a dismal outlook on the U. S. A. Wilde made his mistake intending a deaf ear to the tips of American friends, who counselled him to take things easy and get acclimated before he pulled on the gloves.

He didn't. He had to stoop for the bag of coin. Jack Sharkey outpointed him and from a $20,000 attraction he dropped to the $5,000 class over night.

JERSEY CITY, N. J., March 20.—Pal Moore, Memphis, outpointed Johnny Duff, Jersey City bantam, in an eight-round fight here last night.

CLEVELAND, March 20.—Benny Valger, French featherweight champion and Charlie O'Connell, Cleveland, will be the headliners in a boxing show here on March 31, according to Jimmy Dunn, O'Connell's manager. The boxers are to weigh in at 130 pounds at 3 o'clock.

Carpentier is Different, Says Johnny Griffiths

He Says That Georges Should Not Be Compared With Other French Ringmen.

NEW YORK, March 20.—Most American boxers who have paid a visit to Europe have returned singing the praises of Georges Carpentier, Johnny Griffiths, the Akron welterweight who recently returned from a trip abroad, is an exception. Griffiths thinks the noted Frenchman has no chance of beating Jack Dempsey, although he may last several rounds because of his great speed.

Griffiths appears to draw the conclusion from his own experience with French boxers. He met two of them during his trip and he put both to sleep without extending himself. Griffiths did not see Carpentier fight, but he draws the conclusion that all French boxers are overrated.

There is little doubt that few of the French ringmen would be regarded as first class performers in this country. The French, as a rule, follow the English style of boxing. They would rather be fancy than effective. But from all accounts Carpentier is an exception. Georges obtained his early lessons in the art from American methods. According to many good judges Carpentier's style is thoroughly American. He is said to have discarded English ideas of what is good form in the ring and to have acquired a style that is partly a copy of American methods and partly his own.

He has learned to place great value on an aggressive attack. In that respect his style resembles that of Packey McFarland to a great extent. Packey was the most aggressive of all the highly scientific boxers. His main idea was to keep his opponent backing up, because when a boxer retreating he cannot hit effectively. "Never let them get set and they can not hurt you" was McFarland's motto.

Carpentier now is on the high seas bound for this country. Accompanying him are two other French boxers Papin and Ledoux. It may be some months before Carpentier gets into action, as his time will be taken up with motion picture and theatrical engagements, but Papin and Ledoux are coming to fight and they will lose little time in seeking engagements.

The whole party is managed by Desamps, who seems to think that both Papin and Ledoux are sure to make good. The showing these two boxers made is sure to have considerable effect on Carpentier's standing. If they make good Georges will be held in respect but if they disappoint Carpentier is also likely to lose standing. It looks as though Desamps is taking chances by enlarging his party.

Many attempts will be made to lure Carpentier into the ring before he tackles Dempsey for the title. Gene Melady, who is close to Jack Curley
