

POOR DOCUMENT

TWO HUSBANDS AT FOURTEEN.

A MARYLAND GIRL MARRIES HER STEPFATHER AND THEN HER TRUE LOVER—A QUEER MARRIAGE.

A wedding has just taken place in Dame's Quarter District, Somerset Co., Md., under circumstances which have probably never been paralleled in this country. H. E. Whyte, a boy aged 17 and of excellent character, married a pretty little brunette named Ella Shores, aged fourteen, thus giving to the girl a second husband within a period of two years. On Feb. 5th, 1880, precisely two years from the date of this marriage, the residence of Dame's Quarter were greatly excited by learning that Sydney Shores, a farmer aged 65 years, had married Ella Shores, the 12-year-old daughter of his deceased wife by a former husband. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Zachariah Bowen, a Methodist Episcopal clergyman, who, as shown afterwards, was deceived by Shores as to the child's age and did not know that she was his stepdaughter. At that time there were threats of lynching the bridegroom, and a mob visited his house one night to hang him. Shores, however, who was an old soldier, showed fight, and beat off the mob. After the man had lived with the child as his wife for four days the county authorities took cognizance of the affair and arrested him. Shores was committed to jail in default of bail, and the girl was taken charge of by friends and removed from Shores' house. The feeling against Shores was further aggravated by the fact that his wife, who was the widow of his uncle, had only been dead a month when he married the girl. Some months later Shores was tried at the County Court, convicted of misdemeanor and sentenced to pay a fine of $500 and stand committed to jail until it was paid. The clergyman was acquitted on the ground that he had not known the facts of the case. Shores, being a poor man, could not pay his fine, and would doubtless have been in jail now had he not succeeded in escaping last year, since which time he has not been heard of. Meanwhile the girl-wife, by friends, applied for a divorce, which application was heard last fall and granted. Throughout her troubles, Whyte, her second husband, displayed the most Quixotic solicitude for her, and finally induced her to marry him last week, as stated. Mrs. Whyte is an unusually pretty girl, well educated and intelligent. Several prominent residents of the county have taken an interest in the welfare of the young couple and will help to establish the bridegroom in business.

FOUND AT LAST.

A DESERTED WIFE DISCOVERS HER TRUANT HUSBAND'S LOCATION AFTER A TWENTY YEAR'S SEARCH.

Recently the arrival of a visitor at a farm house near Berlin, on the Grand Trunk, caused a great deal of consternation among the quiet inmates. The visitor was a young man of about twenty who spoke English with an effort, and was evidently a foreigner. He enquired for the owner, and on that gentleman presenting himself he stated his errand. He said that his name was August Tremsky; that he came from Riga, in Russia, and he greatly startled the farmer's wife and her daughters by claiming the head of the house as his father, and affirming that his proper name was Tremsky. The farmer disclaimed the relationship, and said that he had never been in Russia. The young man reiterated his statement, and was finally compelled to leave the house. On the day following the same youth accompanied by his mother put in an appearance, and the farmer manifested great emotion and uneasiness at seeing her. She claimed him as her husband, but as before he denied all knowledge of her, and ordered her from the house.

THE WOMAN'S STORY.

Mrs. Tremsky talks German, and told a resident of that German settlement the following story:—Twenty-one years ago she was married to Jacob Tremsky in Riga. They lived happily together until after the birth of her son, when being thrown out of employment, he became unwell and frequently ill-treated her. Suddenly, about twenty years ago he left home, and all efforts to discover him proving unavailing, she considered him dead. Three years ago a man who had returned to Russia informed her that her husband was living in Canada. Want of means prevented her immediate departure to this country, but last fall she arrived, and then commenced her weary search for the truant husband, she knew that he lived in the county of Waterloo, but his change of name, of which she had not been informed, rendered it extremely difficult for her to trace him, and now, when found, the long-lost husband disowns both her and her son. The farmer is quite wealthy, and has a large family of sons and daughters, to whom the news has been a severe shock. Mrs. Tremsky states that she will appeal to the law for her rights, and there the matter rests for the present.

"There is nothing like settling down," said the retired merchant confidentially to his neighbor. "When I gave up business I settled down and found I had a comfortable fortune. If I had settled up I should not have had a cent."

Prospectus of the "Herald."

I offer THE HERALD to the public, believing that a journal, liberal in its opinions, independent in its tone, and prompt in the matter of news, will be well received.

THE HERALD will give prominence to local news, and by having upon its staff an experienced city editor, who will devote his whole time to the local work, it will be able to give a complete and reliable report of the events which happen in Fredericton and vicinity.

In the selection of general news, regard will be had to those subjects in which readers of the HERALD can be reasonably expected to take an interest. Such news will be given in condensed, terse form, so that much will be compressed into a small space. No effort will be spared to make this journal, as nearly as possible, a complete record of current events.

Long editorials will be discarded as a rule, and in this department the subjects dealt with will be those of a present interest and which have some bearing upon the affairs of the people of Canada.

In politics the HERALD will be LIBERAL. Canada is essentially democratic in sentiment. Their manner of living, their education, the example set them by their fathers, are such that self-government and equal rights must ever be the birthright of Canadians. It follows therefore that anything in the political constitution which impairs the exercise of the functions of government by the people, any system of administration which favors monopolies, or has a tendency to exalt one class above another, are antagonistic to public sentiment and the best interests of the country. An important epoch in the history of this country is not far distant. Changes in the political status of the Dominion may be brought forward to be dealt with practically at any time. The HERALD will enter upon the discussion of such subjects as these with a determination to consider them from a Canadian standpoint, and to favor and advocate anything calculated to advance the material interests of the people.

In discussing the political issues now before the people, this journal will act in sympathy with Her Majesty's Loyal Opposition in Parliament.

The people of Canada cannot view with indifference the enormous expense attendant upon the administration of government. This is entirely out of proportion to the wealth and population of the Dominion, and as in a new country, seeking to build itself up by attracting immigration, it is all important that the rate of taxation should be kept low, the HERALD will join hands with those who advocate a reduction in the cost of government. The expense of administration and the large debt of the Dominion compel the imposition of a customs tariff, which, in order that sufficient revenue may be raised, must bear so large a proportion to the foreign trade of the Dominion as to be necessarily "protective." The so-called "National Policy" is simply the outcome of past and present extravagance, and cannot be justified by reference to any principle other than this, that the country ought to meet its engagements as they fall due. The people not being willing to have resort to direct taxation, it follows, as a matter of course, that whatever party is in power will be compelled to continue a high tariff. Nevertheless such alterations ought to be made in details as will make the burden of taxation bear as lightly as possible upon the staple industries of the country and the laboring classes. The nearer we can approach to free trade the better, in view as well as of the interests of our own people as of the relations in which the Dominion stands towards the other parts of the Empire and the United States.

Upon the Temperance question the HERALD will occupy no uncertain position; but will give its assistance to any well devised attempt, either by legislation or otherwise, to suppress the use and traffic in intoxicating liquors.

The HERALD will endeavor to keep its readers informed as to the progress of thought in the domain of religion and philosophy, without occupying any extreme or partisan position: neither publishing anything merely because it is novel, nor omitting to do so because it assails some generally recognized opinion.

The clergymen resident in the city will be requested to favor the readers of the HERALD by permitting the occasional publication in extenso of sermons by them. A special effort will be made to keep a record of what is transpiring in the religious world. No prominence will be given to any one denomination over another, but it will be our constant aim in the matter of news to treat all classes, creeds and sects with even-handed justice.

The HERALD will devote considerable attention in its tri-weekly issues to City matters, and it invites any of the rate-payers who may desire to do so, to employ its columns for the expression of their views on civic questions, with these conditions, that public men must be dealt with solely in their public capacity, and that all correspondence must be short, to the point, and deal with facts.

Correspondence upon all subjects of public interest is invited upon the same conditions.

The Saturday edition of the HERALD will not be a simple reproduction of the tri-weekly editions. It will be made up by selecting the articles in those editions of most interest to the public generally, as well outside as within the city. In addition to this, the local and foreign news will be brought down to the hour of going to press, and in this respect the HERALD will stand alone among the weekly newspapers of New Brunswick. It will also contain all the Church announcements for the next Sunday and the ensuing week, and such other features as may suggest themselves as calculated to make it a welcome visitor in every home, not only in this city, but along the valley of the Saint John. There is a field here for the right kind of a weekly paper, and the HERALD proposes to try and occupy it.

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION.
