Little Men Who Make Big Trouble.

When Nations Have Been Agitated by People Who Are Not Celebrities.

As soon as Parliament meets the papers will be once more full of the Osborne case, and it is already openly prophesied that the Osborne decision may eventually be the means of wrecking the present Government.

Yet Osborne, whose name is in everyone's mouth, is merely a railway porter, doing his duty quietly in a station not far from London, and a year ago no one would have been more surprised than he to hear of the notoriety that was to be his.

At present his name represents a principle. A minority of the Union to which he belongs objected to the use of their contributions towards the Union funds for paying the expenses of Labour M. P.'s. Osborne was put forward by these to make a test case, and this case he won.

The result is that at present none of the great Unions can legally employ Union funds for Parliamentary purposes, and not unaturally there is a strong agitation about to reverse the decision.

Another unknown railway man who recently sprang into sudden prominence was the shunter Goodchild, employed by the North Eastern Railway Company at Gateshead Station.

Holiday Traffic Upset.

Because he refused to be transferred from one part of the town to another, he was suspended. Next day the men demanded his immediate restoration, but the company refused, in spite of the strong words of their own officials, one of them, the Secretary of the Amalgamated Society of Railway Servants, the other Mr. Hudson, A. P., between five and six thousand men at once struck work, and the whole great system was thrown into confusion.

The strike caused an enormous sensation, happening as it did in the midst of the holiday season. But the men's own leaders were against them, and within forty-eight hours the strike had collapsed.

One can hardly call Von Veldheim a "little man," for physically he is a giant. Yet his name would have remained as little known by the world at large as tens of millions of others but for the affray which ended in his shooting Wolf Joel in March, 1898.

That shooting and the trial which followed it betrayed the plans of the Outlanders to the Boer Government, and was the direct cause of the Boer War and the loss of many thousands of lives and many millions of money.

French and German at the Same Time.

In connection with the Boer War might be mentioned the name of Charles Macrum, who acted as American Consul at Pretoria at the time of the outbreak of hostilities. Macrum was nobody in particular, but, as it happened, had strong anti-British propensities. He complained to his Government that the British authorities had tampered with his correspondence, and his letters to American papers very nearly got us into trouble with the United States.

Just a year ago every newspaper in France and Germany was full of the name of a humble private soldier named Mans. Mans is the son of German parents, but was born in Paris. Considering himself a German subject, he was called to the colours and served two years in the German army at Metz. Returning to Paris, he was informed that he was a French subject, and must serve his two years' conscription in the French army.

In order to avoid trouble he agreed to do so. For some years afterward Mans attended his annual training in both armies, but last year as it happened, the French and German manoeuvres coincided, and as he was unable to attend both, the truth came out, and was followed by a perfect tempest in the international tea cup.

A Bulgarian Clerk's Love-Affair.

It was found that there were many others of doubtful nationality. Like Mans, and the diplomatic correspondence which followed has not yet resulted in any definite decision.

In March last the Bulgarian Government was nearly overthrown simply because a young Bulgarian bank clerk, Jordan Stefanoff, happened to fall in love with a pretty Turkish girl named Saadet Hanum. Saadet's father, being a Mahometan, refused his consent, so Stefanoff ran away with the girl.

Her father appealed to the Turkish Minister at Sofia, and the Bulgarian authorities arrested the girl and lodged her in goal at Rustekuk. At once the whole Mahometan population of the town rose and tried to storm the goal. Stefanoff's friends opposed them more than a score of people were killed, and many injured. Troops had to be called out to quell the riot.

Twenty-five thousand mourners followed the coffin of the dead, and an anti-Turkish demonstration on a huge scale was held all through Bulgaria. Bulgaria and Turkey very nearly came to blows, and the trouble is not yet at an end.—Pearsons' Weekly.

Minard's Liniment Co., Limited.

Sirs,—I came across a bottle of your MINARD'S LINIMENT in the hands of one of the students at the University of Maryland, and he being so kind as to let me use it for a very bad sprain, which I obtained in training for foot races, and to say that it helped me would be putting it very mildly, and I therefore ask if you could let me know of one of your agents that is closest to Baltimore so that I may obtain some of it. Thanking you in advance I remain, Yours truly,

T. A. Celebration.

The T. A. & E. Society celebrated the 120th anniversary of the birth of Rev. Father Matthew, the Apostle of Temperance, at their hall last night. Mr. Ellis, the President, occupied the chair and introduced Rev. Dr. Kitchen, who delivered an address on the life of Father Matthew in which the great work that he had done for the cause of temperance was eulogized. A vote of thanks proposed by ex-President Bates and seconded by Mr. E. M. Jackman was carried unanimously. Mr. J. L. Slattery also made a brief speech appropriate to the occasion. Refreshments were served in the club rooms where songs were rendered by Messrs. Slattery, Coughlan, Spratt, Murphy, Grace and Billings.

Doings at Wabana Mine

OUR IRON ISLE.

The shipping season is drawing to a close and by the end of next month enough ore will be shipped to supply the demands of both companies.

The N. S. S. Co. contemplate building a new machine shop 100 x 50 feet, which, when finished, will be a decided advantage to that company.

"The Club" of the staff of both companies in connection with the Technical School is again being revived, and last Saturday an enjoyable evening was spent there.

Miss Ida Doyle has accepted a position in St. John's and will in future reside there. Her many friends of the Iron Isle wish her every success.

On Monday, the 3rd inst., the mail steamer Euphrates could not land at the Cove and mails and passengers had to wait until Tuesday.

The new houses being erected by the companies are nearing completion and will soon be ready for occupancy.

Messrs. Hannon and Gorman, of Hr. Main, Magistrate O'Toole, Conception Harbor, and Dr. Jones of Avondale, who were here attending the funeral of the late respected Magistrate O'Donnell, left for home Friday evening.

Saturday was observed as a half holiday with the D. I. & S. Co. It was also pay day, and quite a few hundred received their "wear-with-all."

Mr. Edward Kent, an old respected resident of the Island, died last week.

Last week's short storm was severely felt here, the wind blowing directly in the bay.

Messrs. S. Godden and J. Butler, of the D. I. & S. Co. staff, left Saturday to spend the week-end with relatives.

The stockpiles of ore of both companies have greatly diminished during the shipping season, and to the observer viewing them in May and now, there is quite a contrast in size.

The roads are in the same filthy old state, and the only consolation to be had is the exclamation of the old residents saying "twas ever thus."

The Assyrian colony in the new society formed here are doing much good, and we wish to place ourselves on record as being in entire accord with the good work they are doing, and warmly congratulate Messrs. Carbage and Murphy on the good performed in such a short while. We regret that one of our "fellow knights of the pen" should express himself against this move, but there are always obstructionists to every good cause.

SAILORS CAUSE TROUBLE.—A fisherman from a banker in port who had taken too much liquor created a row on Water Street last night. His companions tried to interfere but were prevented by the police, who brought him to the lockup.

YOUR BACKACHE WILL YIELD

To Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Rockland, Maine.—"I was troubled for a long time with pains in my back and side, and was miserable in every way. I doctored until I was discouraged, and thought I should never get well. I read a testimonial about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and thought I would try it. After taking three bottles I was cured, and never felt so well in all my life. I recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to all my friends."—Mrs. WILL YOUNG, 6 Columbia Avenue, Rockland, Me.

Backache is a symptom of female weakness or derangement. If you have backache, don't neglect it. To get permanent relief you must reach the root of the trouble. Nothing will do this so safely and surely as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Cure the cause of these distressing aches and pains and you will become well and strong.

The great volume of unsolicited testimony constantly pouring in proves conclusively that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has restored health to thousands of women.

Mrs. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has read thousands to health free of charge.

Notes From Harbor Grace.

The young man R. Tarrant, who lost his hand at Horwood's Lumber Factory, returned by Thursday's train from St. John's. He speaks highly of the kind treatment accorded him at the Hospital.

Mrs. Robert Tetford arrived by Saturday's express from a month's visit to her son and other relatives at Sydney.

The Trinity whaler Hump, which had secured three whales in the bay, left on Friday with her valuable tow for the factory in Trinity.

Mrs. R. M. Duff and her daughter, Miss Helen, returned by Friday's train from a very pleasant visit to Montreal.

Mr. John Tucker arrived from St. John's on Saturday night and is receiving the hearty congratulations of his numerous friends on having passed such a successful examination and being awarded a Master's Certificate of competency by the Marine Board of Examiners. Shake, Capt. John, and we join with your other friends in wishing you pleasant passages and fair winds wherever your ship is bound.

Miss M. D. Wallace, the popular teacher of Victoria Street School, sang a very pretty solo at the evening service in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church yesterday. This young lady has a rich, clear voice, and her solo was very much enjoyed by the congregation, who would like to hear her oftener.

Two hundred and fifty pairs of boots are now being turned out daily at the shoe factory of the Archibald Bros. The output is continually on the increase.

Coal is rather a scarce article in town at present, but Messrs. McRae & Sons are expecting two cargoes this week, with more to follow soon.

Preparations are being made for our agricultural exhibition to be held next week. More interest than usual is being taken in the exhibition this season. Cattle, pigs, &c., have been given a place on the programme, and the affair promises to be very successful.

Mrs. (Dr.) Lehr and her little boy are here from St. John's spending a few days. They are staying at Gordon Lodge.

Messrs. McRae's schr. Ruby with a number of freighters arrived from Long Island on Saturday evening.

The Last of Magistrate O'Donel.

Large Funeral at Bell Island.

On Friday last, at 10 a.m., the funeral procession of our late Magistrate T. P. O'Donel wended its way solemnly and slowly to St. Michael's Church, accompanied by a large following, including the representatives of both companies, shopkeepers, business men, and all the prominent citizens of the Iron Isle, who turned out to pay their last tribute to one whom in life was highly esteemed and respected.

Arriving at the church school high Mass and Office for the dead was sung by Rev. Fr. Kelly, assisted by Rev. Fr. Ashley (Portugal Cove) as Deacon, and Rev. Fr. Wilson (Marystown) as sub-Deacon. The choir dispersed some very fine music and the service was indeed solemn and inspiring, during which many an eye was moist and many a head bowed in fervent prayer for the repose of the soul of him who lay there motionless in the grip of death, and who no later than a few days previous assisted in the same choir. At the conclusion of Mass the burial service was read, when to the singing by the choir of the hymn "Nearer my God to Thee," the procession filed slowly out of the church and wended its way to the village cemetery, where the casket was taken from the hearse by the Knights of Columbus and carried to the grave, where the last respects were paid to Magistrate O'Donel, the body being consigned to Mother Earth, for "dust thou art to dust returneth."—R.I.P.

Workman Injured.

J. Evans had his hand badly injured while working at the F. B. Wood factory last evening. He was putting a cork in a ginger beer bottle when it burst and a piece of glass went into his hand, making a deep gash two inches long. He went to P. O'Mara's drug store and had the wound dressed by a doctor.

Mary's First Budget.

Believes Government Officials Should be Given Plenty of Work to Do So as Not to Take Time to Get Sick.

Editor Evening Telegram: Dear Sir,—My trip to Labrador was a very pleasant one, and I enjoyed very much reading your papers that you kindly sent me. I also received other papers, among them the Bay Roberts Guardian, sent by Uncle Nath. Well, sir, I thought my old sides would split I laughed so on reading the account of the Guy Celebration in that paper. What a wonderful appetite some people have to be sure. The Guardian said that Professor Peddle of Mosquito had a dinner prepared for 50 people, but Mr. Piccott, the honorable Minister of Marine and Fisheries, and a half a dozen of his friends came along and devoured the lot. It didn't say they were members of the Government, and Tom said he hoped they were not, as people with such appetites as that would be dangerous to have the ruling power.

Dead Island, where I spent part of my picnic, is a very nice place to put in a time, but, Mr. Editor, it is too bad to see poor men—poor fishermen—rowing their heavy crab-boats about day after day and getting no fish and at the same time thinking how their little children are to be fed for a long winter; this, too, when the heads of the different departments and lots of their servants are away on long holidays, enjoying the picnics out of the money squeezed in taxes from the bone and sinew of the island—the fishermen. Yes, sir, I am a fisherman's wife, and more than that, I am a fisherman's daughter.

I have been rocked in a drudge barrow when a baby, and I have many a time donned my oiled petticoat and worked from daylight till dark in the stage. This I am not ashamed of, and to-day I feel as independent as any lady in the island. I have a husband who is as good as the best of them, who leaves no stone unturned for my happiness, and what more would any woman want. But to return to my subject. The bad fishery of this year is a terrible calamity. I don't know what is to be the result. Each trip the steamer came up the shore it was the same report she brought from everywhere—no fish, no fish! What is to pay the wages of all these brass-buttoned, and in some cases brass-faced, men on the different boats. Even the mail officers must have assistants to help them to do their work. It is hard to see how any country can stand with so many people sucking its life blood. "Tory times are known to be hard times." They were always considered so, but this year beats all, for not only did we get hard times, so far as the fishery was concerned, but we now have canker potatoes to deal with.

As to Government positions, I think it is cruel to give people Government jobs at all. There must be some contagious disease lurking about the different public departments (perhaps it is canker), for no sooner does a man get a position than his health gives out, and he applies for a holiday of anywhere from one to six months to take a trip somewhere, for which he is paid. Not in one case out of twenty is his place filled during his absence, which makes me think that if he can be spared for six months he should be discharged or placed in some position where he would not have time to get sick. "This time now in this country to lop off the dead branches in the Government service, and the money saved that way should be given to the poor widows and orphans. To give you a case in point: Here is my Tom who has been hauling cod out of the water (since he was 15 years old) for over 50 years; if he went to the Poor Commissioner to-morrow and got a dollar he would be called a pauper. Oh, what grand promises were held out to the people a few years ago if only the Morris party could get the ruling power, and he got the ruling power; but what did the fishermen get?—a repetition of the Tory hard times and canker potatoes.

Yours in haste, MARY.

Nerves Were Exhausted

Wants others to know of her remarkable cure by use of DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD.

Mrs. Martin's condition as described in her letter below gives some idea of the extraordinary reconstructive power of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. Such cures as this have placed Dr. Chase's Nerve Food where it stands today as the most popular and most effective nerve restorative that money will buy.

Mrs. Edwin Martin, Ayer's Cliff, Que., writes,—"Before I began using Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food I was in a terrible condition. Dizzy spells would come over me and I would fall to the floor in a faint. I could not even sweep the floor without fainting and my nervous system seemed to be entirely exhausted.

"The use of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food has built up my system wonderfully so that I can do my housework and washing without any trouble, and I want others to know about it." In- sist on getting the genuine Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cts. a box, 5 boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or Ed- monson, Bates & Co., Toronto.
