IRISH VALOUR IN THE ATTACK.

British Army Headquarters in Frnce.—The main attack on the opening of the offensive on Tuesday was along the Western bank of the Canal du Nord, which runs almost due north and south from a point a little west and south from a point a little west of Havrincourt. The main Hindenburg line trenches were built along this waterway and the British had to fight their way up a big ditch. There was intense hard work almost from the start as the Ulsterites, who undertook the bank, got in among the German defences, Because of the secret nature of the attack no artillery could be used to cut the tremendously strong lines of barbed wire in front of the trenches, and the tanks were not operating in this section Therefore it was necessary for the Irishmen to charge the entanglements and bomb them to pieces in order
