Flowers in Arctic Regions.

Flowers grow profusely in many parts of the Arctic regions. One of the most frequently met with is the cotton plant. The miners of the north saying that wherever cotton blooms, ice is not far below.

One may walk for miles, between the months of June and August, through fields of cotton plants in flower, the white silky tops swaying in the Arctic breeze. At present little use is made of it, from an industrial point of view, except where the down is gathered for filling pillows.

Throughout the cotton fields flowers bloom in luxuriance, as is only to be expected in a country where the sun shines continuously during the summer months. Among others, the flower-hunter may gather purple larkspur, bluebells, monk's-hood, primroses, asters, lilies-of-the-valley, and even a kind of Arctic geranium, pink or white in color.

Boys' Choice in

Newspaper Work.

"A party of senior scholars from an elementary school at Trowbridge,

Wiltshire, were recently conducted over a newspaper office, and afterwards wrote essays," says the Times.

"A boy of 12, discussing his choice of a post on a newspaper, wrote:—"I should not decide upon the foundry, for it is much too hot. Neither should

I be kept on the printer's job, which must be a strain on the eyesight. I expect I should have to choose the place of office-boy, and endeavour to rise to the top of the ladder and become the editor, whose salary is sure to be a "fat" one."

Girl for Airship.

Offer to be Stewardess.

The following letter has been received from a Yorkshire girl by the manager of Messrs. Armstrong, Whitworth's aircraft factory at Selby:

"I am writing to ask you whether there is any working position on R.

33 or any other airships which could be given to a woman, and if so to whom shall I refer.

"Do you require a stewardess or is this a position for the future? I am greatly interested in this sort of thing and should be glad of the opportunity of going on a voyage across the Atlantic by airship."

It is a sign of the times.—Ex.

He Was a Horse.

Sir John Foster Fraser was talking about the Mesopotamian heat.

"An officer at the Savoy," said Sir John, "declared one day: 'When I was in Mesopotamia, sir, I sweated two gallons a day.' But another officer said coldly: 'Men perspire. Only
