London, April 16. Carlton Towers, Yorkshire, was on Chiraday the scene of a pretty spectacle, when little Lady Beaumont and her sister, the Hon, Ivy Stapleton, were at home to their friends. Carriages, automobiles, and a special train brought children from most of the Yorkshire nurseries to dance and have tea with the little 9-year-old peeress and her sister. The two children stood at the head of the wide oak staircase receiving their guests and making a charming picture in blue and white, with silver wreaths on their hair till the music started.  STANDARD OIL CO. Odontine

The "Copper King" Swears to Wipe Out Corporation.

BIG WAR OF MILLIONS IS ON

Says That Only Death Can Stop His

Campaign of Extermination. Boston, April 19.-Thomas W. Lawson, best known as a "copper king" millionaire horse breeder, with a great farm at Cohasset, and aspirant America cup honors, has declared that inless his death prevents he is out to fight the Standard Oil Company and all its allied interests until he backs it off the map. In other words, Lawson is making rouble by the million. He is known as a trouble maker: verything he has had to do with ooner or later has brought a war loud into existence. He helped organize the Amalgamated Copper, and t is in the biggest lawsuit, or in 115 awsuits, aggregating the greatest amount of trouble in the courts of the known world today. He built a cup defender, and became embroiled with the New York Yacht Club in a fight which was inernationally known. That trouble saw him come out at the small end of the horn. He wasn't allowed to sail, and his boat proved a loser any.

The Amalgamated trouble is still brewing. But Lawson is saying publiely that he will spend every cent of money he has in the world to beat the Standard Oil Company and its friends nto a sense of decency, and cheerfully goes ahead into trouble. Only Mr. Lawson understands by what method he purposes beating the Stardard Oil Company, but the people who say "preposterous" because of the amount of capital the Standard Oil has, which may be considered as ammunition, haven't heard the testinony in the recent suit in connection with the consolidation of the gas com panies of Boston and adjacent towns. There Mr. Lawson testified one day that he and Henry H. Rogers, of the Standard Oil Company, carried through between themselves transactions involving hundreds of millions of dollars without so much as making a mark on a piece of paper. They juggled with interests which make national debts of some countries look like pocket money without making a memorandum of agreement. One deal involved over $100,000,000, and the profits cleaned up on this transaction were $46,000.000, but not a word was written down. They simply talked it over and went ahead.

One of Mr. Lawson's declarations has been that deals of high finance are Mr. Passmore has suffered for a short nearly all rotten to the core, that they time, was the cause of death. e wind, and they have no foundation I n fact. In a word that capital in most ases has been merely the say so of years, but resigned only a few days men interested in huge corporations. notably the Standard Oil and its allies, and that never a dollar has been availhuge backers.

It was known long ago that Mr. Lawson was not happy in the relations e had formed over the Amalgamated Hope, the home of his parents, for incompany. He got people in Boston and terment. all over New England to invest in the stock of the company at high prices, far higher than it commands today, saying he personally believed it worth the high price paid and more. The stock was paying 8 per cent dividends then. One day, just on the eve son to get investors for the Amal-, gamated, declared that the dividen 1 stitutional disease, was credited with a loss of $7,000,000 at that time. He gave evidence that he was hurt in reputation as much as in actual cash, for he said a long time after that that he still was losing money "in chunks," as he put it. The
