

CHAMBERLAIN'S TABLETS
FOR CONSTIPATION
BILIOUSNESS
Headache
INDIGESTION
Stomach Trouble
—SOLD EVERYWHERE—

GIRLS! USE
CLOTH ON HAIR

Try This! Hair Appears Soft,
Colorful and Abundant
—A Gleamy Mass

35 Cent Bottle of "Danderine" Also Ends Dandruff; Falling Hair!

Immediately—your hair becomes beautiful. Just moisten a cloth with Danderine and draw it carefully through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; this will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or any excess oil—in a few minutes you will be amazed. Your hair will be wavy, fluffy and possess an incomparable softness, lustre and really appear twice as thick and abundant—a mass of luxuriant, glossy, colorful hair. Besides beautifying the hair, Danderine eradicates dandruff; invigorates the scalp, stopping itching and falling hair.

Danderine is the best, cheapest and most delightful hair corrective and tonic. It is to the hair what fresh showers of rain are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, vitalizes and strengthens them. Its stimulating properties help the hair to grow long, heavy, strong.

You can surely have beautiful hair, and lots of it, if you will spend 35 cents for a bottle of Danderine at any drug store or toilet counter. It is not greasy, oily or sticky.—Adv.

LOSE YOUR FAT, KEEP YOUR HEALTH

Superfluous flesh is not healthy, neither is it healthy to diet or exercise too much for its removal. The simplest method known for reducing the overweight body easily and steadily is the Marmola Method, tried and endorsed by thousands. Marmola Prescription Tablets contain an exact dose of the famous Marmola Prescription, and are sold by druggists the world over at one dollar for a case. They are harmless and leave no wrinkles or flabbiness. They are popular because effective and convenient. Ask your druggist for them or send price direct to the Marmola Co., 412 Woodward Ave., Detroit, Mich., and procure a case.—Adv.

RED PEPPER FOR RHEUMATIC PAIN

Red Pepper Rub takes the "ouch" from sore, stiff, aching joints. It cannot hurt you, and it certainly stops that old rheumatic torture at once. When you are suffering so you can hardly get around, just try Red Pepper Rub and you will have the quickest relief known. Nothing has such concentrated, penetrating heat as red peppers. Just as soon as you apply Red Pepper Rub you will feel the tingling heat. In three minutes it warms the sore spot through and through. Pain and soreness are gone.

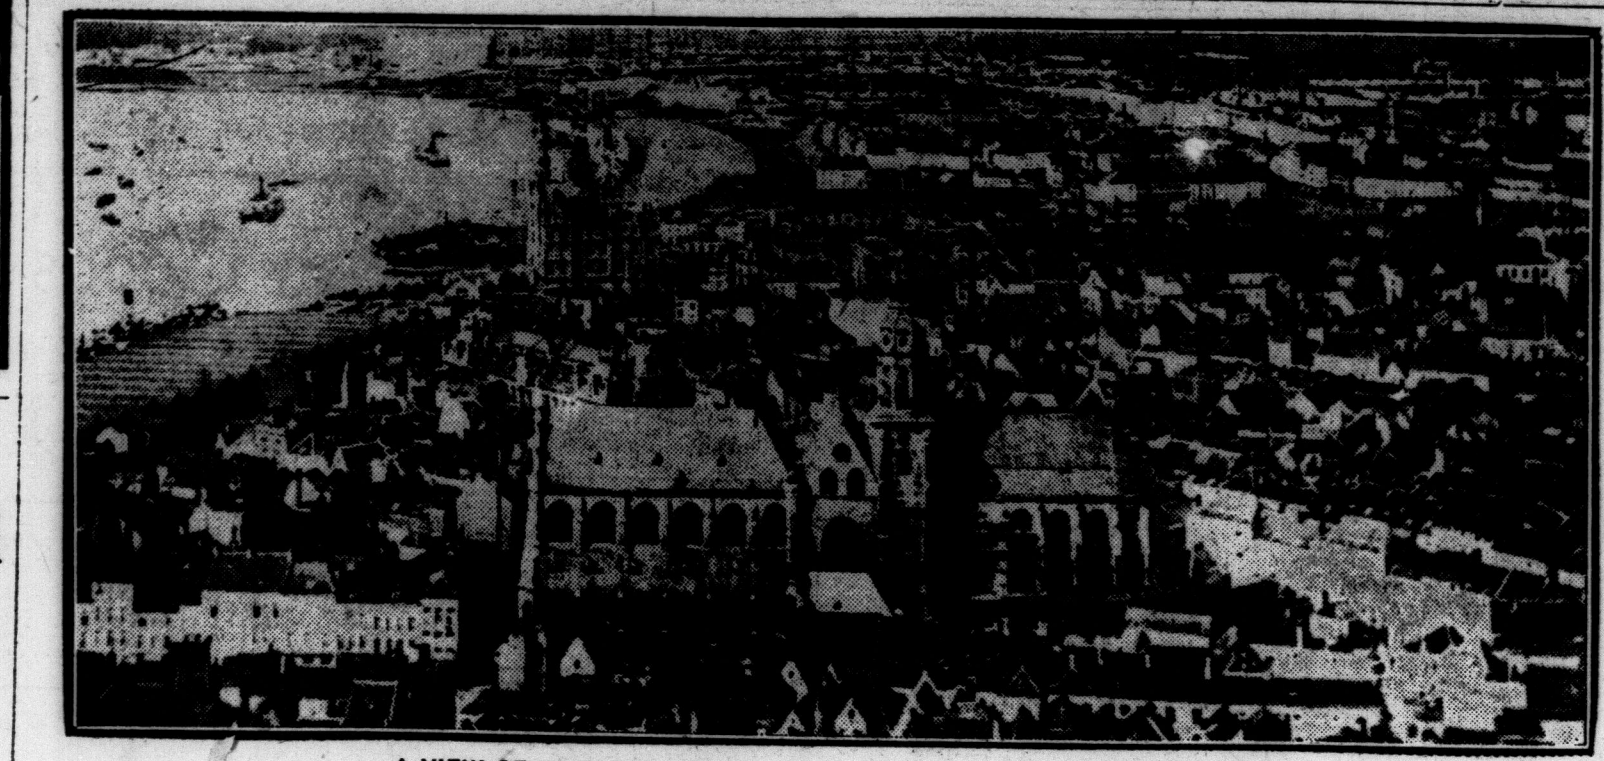

Ask any good druggist for a jar of Rowles Red Pepper Rub. Be sure to get the genuine, with the name Rowles on each package.—Adv.

Piles

are usually due to straining when constipated. Nujol being a lubricant keeps the food waste soft and therefore prevents straining. Doctors prescribe Nujol because it not only soothes the suffering of piles but relieves the irritation, brings comfort and helps to remove them.

Nujol is a lubricant—not a medicine or laxative—so cannot gripe. Try it today.

Nujol
A LUBRICANT—NOT A LAXATIVE

A VIEW OF ANTWERP BEFORE ITS CAPTURE BY THE GERMAN ARMY.

BRITAIN'S NAVY AT WAR AID RUSHED TO ANTWERP BY FRENCH AND BRITISH

Churchill Finds Ready Response To Appeal To Save Belgian Port—Germans Break in Before Help Arrives, But Allied Forces Escape.

VIII.—ANTWERP.
By WINSTON CHURCHILL.
Lord Kitchener now threw himself into the task of concentrating and organizing a relieving army. He telegraphed at 9:40 a.m. on October 3 asking the French war minister to make all preparation to send the proposed two divisions with cavalry and artillery complete as soon as possible and let him know how soon they would be despatched.

At 7:35 on the same afternoon the composition of the French contingent was received from the British ambassador.

I did not reach the city till after 3 p.m., and after consulting with Colonel Dallas I was visited by the Belgian prime minister, Monsieur de Broqueville, who was a man of exceptional vigor and clarity both in mind and speech. He had been misled to the helm of the Belgian state at the moment of the decision not to submit to wrongful aggression. He explained to me the situation with precision. General de Gueise, the commander of the fortress, added his comments. The outer forts were falling one by one. Five or six shells from the enormous German howitzers were sufficient to smash them to their foundations. To destroy their defenders even in the deepest casemates, and to wreck the platforms of the guns. Now the forts of the inner line were being similarly attacked, and there was no conceivable means of preventing their destruction after another at the rate of about a day. The army was tired and dispirited through having been left so long entirely upon its own resources without even a sign of the allies for whom they had risked much. Material of every kind—guns, ammunition, searchlights, telephones, entrenching materials—was scanty. The water supply of the city had been cut off. There were many German sympathizers in its population of 600,000. At any moment the front might be broken under the heavy artillery attack, which was then in progress. But this was only half the danger. The life and honor of the Belgian nation did not depend on Antwerp, but on its army. If Antwerp was lost, the army would be lost, and the fate of Belgium was sealed. The line of the Dyle was no longer in the hands of the Belgian army, but in the hands of the German army. The only line of retreat was the Dutch frontier and the sea coast. Two Belgian divisions and their cavalry division were staying off the Germans from the line of the Dyle, but they were in a very precarious position. The line of the Dyle was no longer in the hands of the Belgian army, but in the hands of the German army. The only line of retreat was the Dutch frontier and the sea coast. Two Belgian divisions and their cavalry division were staying off the Germans from the line of the Dyle, but they were in a very precarious position.

When can they arrive?
Reconnoitres Front.
While waiting for the reply that afternoon and also the next morning, I went out and examined the nature of the enemy's attack. It was a crescent of German kite balloons; a continuous bombardment; scarcely anything in the nature of an infantry attack. The nature of an infantry attack was not to be expected. We were, however, at length able to reach actual inundations along the stone-paved highway. Entrenching here was impossible for either side, owing to the water met with at a foot's depth. The Belgian pickets crouched behind bushes. There was at that moment no rifle fire, but many shells traversed the air overhead on their way to the Belgian lines.

Although the artillery fire of the Germans at Antwerp was at no time comparable to the great bombardment afterwards witnessed along the western front, it was certainly severe. The Belgian trenches were broad and shallow, and gave hardly any protection to their worn-out and in many cases inexperienced troops. As we walked back from the edge of these inundations along a stone-paved highway, it was a formidable sight to see on either hand the heavy shells bursting in salvos of three and fours with dense black smoke near, or actually inside these scanty shelters in which the supporting troops were huddled in fairly close order. Every prominent building—chateau, tower or windmill—was constantly under fire; shrapnel burst along the road; machine gun fire was directed at least would be required to make sound breastworks or properly constructed and drained trenches or pits. Till then it must be mainly an affair of hedges and of houses; and the ineffective trenches were merely shell traps.

The marines did not arrive until the morning of the 4th, and went immediately into the line. When I was already engaged with the Germans in the outskirts of Liege. Here, for the first time, I saw German soldiers creeping forward from house to house or darting across the street. The marines fired with machine gun from a balcony. The flashes of the rifles and the stream of flame pulsating from the mouth of the machine gun lit up a warlike scene amid crashing reverberations and the whistle of bullets. Twenty minutes in a motor car, and we were back in the warmth and light of one of the best hotels in Europe, with its perfectly-appointed tables and attentive servants all proceeding as usual!

Ready Response.
The reply of the British government reached me on the morning of the 4th, and I sent it at once to Monsieur de Broqueville. Lord Kitchener to First Lord (pp.). Am arranging expeditionary force for relief of Antwerp as follows:
British force.
7th Division, 18,000 men, 63 guns, under General Capper. Cavalry division, 4,000 men, 12 guns, under General Byng, to arrive at Zeebrugge 4th and 5th October. Naval detachment, 8,000 men, also naval and military heavy guns and detachments already sent. Headquarters staff will be subsequently notified.

French force.
Territorial division, 15,000 men, proper complement of guns and squadrons, General Roy, to arrive Oostend 6th to 9th October. Fusilier Marine Brigade, 8,000 men, under Rear Admiral Ronart. Grand total 53,000 men. Numbers are approximately correct.

Also one from Prince Louis, 10:30 a.m.—
The naval brigades will embark at Dover at 4 p.m. for Dunkirk, where they should arrive between 7 or 8 o'clock. Provisions and ammunition as indicated in your telegram.
The matter has now passed into the region for pure action. Could Antwerp resist the enemy's attack long enough to enable the French and British relieving force to come to their aid? Secondly, if this command, could nine or ten allied divisions at Antwerp and Ghent hold the Germans in check until the left wing of the main armies, advancing daily from the south, could join hands with them? In that case the allied lines in the west might be drawn through Antwerp, Ghent and Lille. All this turned on a few days, and even on a few hours.

teeth of submarines, began to disembark at Ostend and Zeebrugge from the morning of the 6th onward. The French division was embarking at Havre. Admiral Ronart and his 3,000 Fusiliers Marines were already entrained for Dunkirk. If only Antwerp could hold out.

Meanwhile, also, it must be remembered, Sir John French was secretly withdrawing the British army from the Alsace and moving round behind the French front to the neighborhood of St. Omer with the intention of striking at Lille and beating in the German right. Every day that large German force were detained in front of Antwerp helped and covered the detrainment and deployment of his army and increased its chances of success. But every day became graver, the peril to the Belgian army of being cut off, after all, the Germans should be the victors in the main battle.

The anxieties and uncertainties of this tremendous situation had to be supported by the Belgian chiefs in addition to those reserved for the attack battering on the crumbling Antwerp front and its exhausted defenders. That they were borne with constancy and coolness, that the defence was prolonged for five momentous days, and that, although the Antwerp front was broken in before effective help could arrive, the Belgian field army was safely extricated, was a memorable achievement.

The attitude of the king and queen was magnificent. The impression of the grave, calm soldier-king presiding over the evacuation of his troops and his kingdom, was never passed from my mind.

Meanwhile Lord Kitchener and Prince Louis continued to give the necessary orders from London.
(To be continued tomorrow.)

(Copyrighted in United States of America. All rights reserved. Exclusive serial publication rights in this advertisement held by The London Advertiser.)

MELBOURNE
Special to The Advertiser.
Melbourne, Feb. 20.—Mrs. James Showers has returned home after attending the funeral of her father, Mrs. (Dr.) Howell, who was spending a few weeks at Leamington, the great-granddaughter of the late Sir James.

Mr. R. E. Campbell has not only improved his own property, but has also improved his neighbor's property and joining his house to the garage and moving it from the front of the property to the back.

Mr. R. E. Campbell has not only improved his own property, but has also improved his neighbor's property and joining his house to the garage and moving it from the front of the property to the back.

Mr. R. E. Campbell has not only improved his own property, but has also improved his neighbor's property and joining his house to the garage and moving it from the front of the property to the back.

Mr. R. E. Campbell has not only improved his own property, but has also improved his neighbor's property and joining his house to the garage and moving it from the front of the property to the back.

Mr. R. E. Campbell has not only improved his own property, but has also improved his neighbor's property and joining his house to the garage and moving it from the front of the property to the back.

Mr. R. E. Campbell has not only improved his own property, but has also improved his neighbor's property and joining his house to the garage and moving it from the front of the property to the back.

Mr. R. E. Campbell has not only improved his own property, but has also improved his neighbor's property and joining his house to the garage and moving it from the front of the property to the back.

Mr. R. E. Campbell has not only improved his own property, but has also improved his neighbor's property and joining his house to the garage and moving it from the front of the property to the back.

teeth of submarines, began to disembark at Ostend and Zeebrugge from the morning of the 6th onward. The French division was embarking at Havre. Admiral Ronart and his 3,000 Fusiliers Marines were already entrained for Dunkirk. If only Antwerp could hold out.

Meanwhile, also, it must be remembered, Sir John French was secretly withdrawing the British army from the Alsace and moving round behind the French front to the neighborhood of St. Omer with the intention of striking at Lille and beating in the German right. Every day that large German force were detained in front of Antwerp helped and covered the detrainment and deployment of his army and increased its chances of success. But every day became graver, the peril to the Belgian army of being cut off, after all, the Germans should be the victors in the main battle.

The anxieties and uncertainties of this tremendous situation had to be supported by the Belgian chiefs in addition to those reserved for the attack battering on the crumbling Antwerp front and its exhausted defenders. That they were borne with constancy and coolness, that the defence was prolonged for five momentous days, and that, although the Antwerp front was broken in before effective help could arrive, the Belgian field army was safely extricated, was a memorable achievement.

The attitude of the king and queen was magnificent. The impression of the grave, calm soldier-king presiding over the evacuation of his troops and his kingdom, was never passed from my mind.

Meanwhile Lord Kitchener and Prince Louis continued to give the necessary orders from London.
(To be continued tomorrow.)

(Copyrighted in United States of America. All rights reserved. Exclusive serial publication rights in this advertisement held by The London Advertiser.)

MELBOURNE
Special to The Advertiser.
Melbourne, Feb. 20.—Mrs. James Showers has returned home after attending the funeral of her father, Mrs. (Dr.) Howell, who was spending a few weeks at Leamington, the great-granddaughter of the late Sir James.

Mr. R. E. Campbell has not only improved his own property, but has also improved his neighbor's property and joining his house to the garage and moving it from the front of the property to the back.

Mr. R. E. Campbell has not only improved his own property, but has also improved his neighbor's property and joining his house to the garage and moving it from the front of the property to the back.

Mr. R. E. Campbell has not only improved his own property, but has also improved his neighbor's property and joining his house to the garage and moving it from the front of the property to the back.

Mr. R. E. Campbell has not only improved his own property, but has also improved his neighbor's property and joining his house to the garage and moving it from the front of the property to the back.

Mr. R. E. Campbell has not only improved his own property, but has also improved his neighbor's property and joining his house to the garage and moving it from the front of the property to the back.

Mr. R. E. Campbell has not only improved his own property, but has also improved his neighbor's property and joining his house to the garage and moving it from the front of the property to the back.

Mr. R. E. Campbell has not only improved his own property, but has also improved his neighbor's property and joining his house to the garage and moving it from the front of the property to the back.

Mr. R. E. Campbell has not only improved his own property, but has also improved his neighbor's property and joining his house to the garage and moving it from the front of the property to the back.

teeth of submarines, began to disembark at Ostend and Zeebrugge from the morning of the 6th onward. The French division was embarking at Havre. Admiral Ronart and his 3,000 Fusiliers Marines were already entrained for Dunkirk. If only Antwerp could hold out.

Meanwhile, also, it must be remembered, Sir John French was secretly withdrawing the British army from the Alsace and moving round behind the French front to the neighborhood of St. Omer with the intention of striking at Lille and beating in the German right. Every day that large German force were detained in front of Antwerp helped and covered the detrainment and deployment of his army and increased its chances of success. But every day became graver, the peril to the Belgian army of being cut off, after all, the Germans should be the victors in the main battle.

The anxieties and uncertainties of this tremendous situation had to be supported by the Belgian chiefs in addition to those reserved for the attack battering on the crumbling Antwerp front and its exhausted defenders. That they were borne with constancy and coolness, that the defence was prolonged for five momentous days, and that, although the Antwerp front was broken in before effective help could arrive, the Belgian field army was safely extricated, was a memorable achievement.

The attitude of the king and queen was magnificent. The impression of the grave, calm soldier-king presiding over the evacuation of his troops and his kingdom, was never passed from my mind.

Meanwhile Lord Kitchener and Prince Louis continued to give the necessary orders from London.
(To be continued tomorrow.)

(Copyrighted in United States of America. All rights reserved. Exclusive serial publication rights in this advertisement held by The London Advertiser.)

MELBOURNE
Special to The Advertiser.
Melbourne, Feb. 20.—Mrs. James Showers has returned home after attending the funeral of her father, Mrs. (Dr.) Howell, who was spending a few weeks at Leamington, the great-granddaughter of the late Sir James.

Mr. R. E. Campbell has not only improved his own property, but has also improved his neighbor's property and joining his house to the garage and moving it from the front of the property to the back.

Mr. R. E. Campbell has not only improved his own property, but has also improved his neighbor's property and joining his house to the garage and moving it from the front of the property to the back.

Mr. R. E. Campbell has not only improved his own property, but has also improved his neighbor's property and joining his house to the garage and moving it from the front of the property to the back.

Mr. R. E. Campbell has not only improved his own property, but has also improved his neighbor's property and joining his house to the garage and moving it from the front of the property to the back.

Mr. R. E. Campbell has not only improved his own property, but has also improved his neighbor's property and joining his house to the garage and moving it from the front of the property to the back.

Mr. R. E. Campbell has not only improved his own property, but has also improved his neighbor's property and joining his house to the garage and moving it from the front of the property to the back.

Mr. R. E. Campbell has not only improved his own property, but has also improved his neighbor's property and joining his house to the garage and moving it from the front of the property to the back.

Mr. R. E. Campbell has not only improved his own property, but has also improved his neighbor's property and joining his house to the garage and moving it from the front of the property to the back.

RESEARCH INSTITUTE SOUGHT BY MEETING

Canadian Manufacturers' Association Addressed by Hume Cronyn of London.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Ottawa, Feb. 21.—In an endeavor to make a concerted drive in support of the foundation of an industrial research institute for Canada, the first session of the scientific and industrial research conference opened here this morning under the auspices of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association. Dr. Frank D. Adams of McGill University occupied the chair and delivered an important address in which he urged the importance of steps that would lead to the establishment of a research institute in the Dominion.

YOUNG HEBRIDES FARMERS COME TO CANADA IN APRIL

Associated Press Despatch.
London, Feb. 21.—The first migration of young Hebrides farmers to Ontario under the immigration scheme of that province will begin on April 20, when the steamship Metagama will put into Stornoway harbor to take 400 men and women between the ages of 18 and 23 aboard for Canada.

DELAY HYDRO DISCUSSION ON NIPEGON PLANT POWER

Canadian Press Despatch.
Toronto, Feb. 21.—Owing to the fact that representatives of the City of Port Arthur had not received their notification of the conference, and were not present yesterday, the conference between the provincial hydro commission and representatives of the government to discuss the terms of the draft contract for the supply of power to the Great Lakes Pulp and Paper Company from the hydro's Nipegon plant was held over until tomorrow at 4 o'clock.

TO PRESERVE BEAUTY SPOT MADE FAMOUS BY WALTON

Associated Press Despatch.
London, Feb. 21.—Efforts are being made by the national trust to preserve for the people the famous beauty spot, Dovecliff, made famous by Isaac Walton and his friend, Charles Cotton. The place is in the neighborhood of George Eliot's country home, where Adam Bede told in his little wheezing shop. Here also Tom Moore wrote "Lullaby." Thousands of visitors come to Dovecliff every year, and it has recently been offered for sale.

EXPECT ALL-NIGHT SESSION ON SHIPPING BILL DEBATE

Associated Press Despatch.
Washington, Feb. 21.—Possibility of an all-night session faced the senate when it convened this morning to resume the debate on the shipping bill, with opponents indicating no intention of abandoning their filibuster against the measure. It appeared that the bill might be brought to a definite test of strength during the session.

UNITED VETERANS TO WAIT ON PREMIER TOMORROW

Canadian Press Despatch.
Toronto, Feb. 21.—Deputations scheduled to wait on Premier Durney today include representatives of the Grand Army of United Veterans, Canadian Manufacturers' Association in connection with the workmen's compensation and representatives of Western Ontario municipalities in connection with the appraisal of gas company plants.

REPORT CATHOLICISM FLOURISHING IN CHINA

By EDGAR ANSEL MOWBRER.
Special Cable to The London Advertiser and Chicago Daily News, Copyright.
Rome, Feb. 21.—Catholicism is flourishing in China, according to the Conservative Roman. Last year 7,600 adult Chinese were converted to the Catholic faith, raising the total number of Chinese Catholics to more than 2,000,000.

Six-Year-Old Had Bronchitis Every Winter

Bronchitis generally begins with chills, followed by fever and a harsh, dry, irritating cough. There is a raising of phlegm, which at first is of a light color, but, as the trouble progresses it becomes of a yellowish or greenish color, and is sometimes streaked with blood.

All those who are troubled with bronchitis will find in Dr. Wood's Pine Syrup a remedy that will stimulate the bronchial organs, subdue the inflammation, soothe the irritated parts, and loosen the phlegm.

Mrs. Oliver C. LePage, South Ruston, P.E.I., writes: "My little six-year-old girl had very bad attacks of bronchitis every winter. In the evening and during the night she would have fever and choke up, and had a wheezing in her chest. We tried several cough medicines, but they never seemed to do her any good. A neighbor advised us to try Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, which we did, and after she had taken two bottles she got perfectly well."

Price 35c and 50c a bottle; put up only by the T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.—Adv.

Rideau Hall Coffee
The Aroma Entices—The Flavor Satisfies
German, Eckert & Co., Limited, London and Winnipeg 25

never neglect a cold
A "slight cold" is really most dangerous because it is apt to be neglected. Stop it at the symptom stage and guard against Tonsillitis, "Grip," Influenza, Pneumonia or Tuberculosis. KOLOK works quickly.
At all Drug stores
TWO SIZES
Norman S. Wright & Co. Limited
Distributors
Toronto • Montreal

MOTHER, MOVE CHILD'S BOWELS WITH "CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP"
Even Cross, Feverish, Sick Children Love its Taste and it Never Fails to Empty Little Bowels
When constipated, bilious, irritable, listless, or full of cold, your little one needs a teaspoonful of "California Fig Syrup" to quickly start liver and bowel action. In a few hours you can see for yourself how thoroughly it works the sour bile and undigested food right out and you have a well, playful child again.
Millions of mothers keep "California Fig Syrup" handy. They know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. It never cramps or overacts. Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.

An Odd Vacation
Some folks take their vacations once a year, in a lump. All the rest of the year they Grind.
Some folks—wise folks—take a little vacation Every Day; rest their brains by a change of interest; ride off for an hour on a favorite Hobby.
Here is a suggestion of an Odd Vacation. This newspaper you hold in your hand is an Undiscovered Country to you.

After you have finished your usual daily trip through these pages, take five minutes for a Side Trip—read some page or feature you think you haven't the slightest interest in.
You'll get Surprises.
And Diversion.
And maybe Profit.
Today, for example, take a trip through the Classified Columns. You will find them next to the comic page, neighbors to Andy Gump.
A kaleidoscope of Wants.
Hundreds of folks telling you what they want.
What could be more interesting?
All the world Wants Something.
Love makes the world go Round, but Wants makes the world go Ahead.
You want something yourself. Perhaps you will find your answer in the Classified Pages today.
Who knows?

RECEIVE SPLENDID TRAINING.
Many outside pupils attend the schools of Harriston. H. T. Hobbs is principal of the high school. Some of the pupils under the guidance of Miss J. McKee, public school principal, are shown in the above group.