POLICE COURT CONVICTIONS.

During the Last Three Months 144 Persons Have Been Found Guilty of Misdemeanors.

During the three months ending today Police Magistrate Parke made 144 convictions in cases of misdemeanor brought before him at the Carling street hall of justice. This number is slightly in excess of those in the same quarter last year, but the offences charged were of a less serious nature. Fines to the extent of $588 were imposed, but little more than half that amount was paid into the city treasury. The convicted parties doing time at Castle Kelly in default.

The total number of convictions is made up of 47 drunks and disorders, 19 vagrants, 48 cases of breach of by-law, three keepers of disreputable houses and seven inmates, two cases of assault, one of selling cigarettes to minors, two cases of excessive driving and one of cruelty to animals.

The majority of the cases of breach of by-laws was for riding bicycles on the sidewalk, and in every one of these cases a fine of $1 was imposed. This penalty does not seem sufficiently high to act as a deterrent.

CITY NEWS.

Saturday was an off day at the Police Court, not a case being entered on the big blotter.

During the month of August there were 46 births, 58 deaths and 48 marriages registered with the City Clerk.

The Damascus Commandery of Knights Templar, of Detroit, passed through London Friday night on their way home from the Boston Triennial Conclave. They report having had a pleasant time.

The lighting committee of the St. Thomas City Council has recommended the acceptance of the tender of the Street Railway Company, represented by Messrs. D. R. Cameron and C. B. Hunt, city, who offer ninety lights per annum for $6,999.25.

The old cedar blocks on Dundas and Richmond streets are not the valuable asset they were considered a week or two ago. The Medical Health Officer has notified the City engineer that he must sell them for burning purposes on sanitary grounds, but that was hardly necessary, for nobody wants to purchase them.

It was stated in a paragraph in Saturday's issue that Mr. A. C. Chapman, of the G. T. R. News Stand, who was the recipient of a valuable English walking stick, was "better known as Chappie" by his intimate friends. This he denies and it is to be regretted that the word was used in such a connection, although no harm was intended.

An amusing case comes from the Oneida Reserve. Washington Dextrose is alleged to have had a flask of whiskey, and he says he left it in charge of a squaw named Nellie Cornelius. The latter tempted some of the braves, and finally allowed them to taste the firewater. And now Constable E. Nihum, of the Reserve, has laid charges against Dextrose and the squaw of giving liquor to Indians.

Mills and Arthur Callow are the Toronto delegates to the Dominion Trades and Labor Congress, which opens here on Tuesday. P. J. Jobin, President of the Congress, and H. Lafre Langevin, of Quebec; P. J. Ryan and Wm. Dainton, of Montreal, are expected here Sunday morning. The Toronto delegation will arrive on Monday.

THE REV. CANON DANN.

What a Limerick Paper Says of the New Vicar of St. Paul's.

The Limerick Chronicle of Aug. 27 contains the following in reference to the departure of Canon Dann for this city, to fill the position of Vicar of St. Paul's Cathedral, to which he was appointed in July. It will be seen that the rev. gentleman has held a distinguished place among the Irish clergy, and comes to London bearing with him a large measure of the esteem of his fellow citizens:—

From the Limerick Chronicle.

We learn that the Rev. Canon Dann, B.A., Rector of Killeedy, has been appointed by the Dean Wardens to the Vicarage of St. Paul's Cathedral, London, Diocese of St. Paul, London, Canada, the duties of which post he will take up about the end of September. The departure of the Rev. Canon Dann creates a void in the Diocese which it will be difficult to fill. Almost the whole of Canon Dann's clerical life has been passed in this city and neighborhood. He entered the diocese in 1874 having been appointed by the late Archbishop Jacob to the important curacy of St. Michael's. After two years' service, which post he now vacates after a service of nineteen years. It will be a sufficient proof of Canon Dann's ability, and of the esteem in which he is held by his fellow clergy, to state that he has been elected by them to every position which it was in their power to confer upon him. He is a member of the Diocesan Council, of the Finance and Glebe Committees, and of the Diocesan Board of Education. He is also one of the representatives of the Diocese to the General Synod of the Church of Ireland. The Lord Bishop conferred upon him the rural deanery of Croom, and in 1891 appointed him one of the Canons of St. Mary's Cathedral. He is also one of the Chaplains to the Lord Lieutenant. By his departure from amongst us the Protestant Omnip's Society loses one able advocate and a zealous member—one who ever took an unflinching interest in its welfare since he became connected with this diocese. Canon Dann is an eloquent and impressive preacher, as on very many occasions he has been selected for special sermons in St. Mary's Cathedral, as well as in many important churches outside the Diocese of Limerick. In private life Canon Dann's genial and happy manner won for himself hosts of friends who, while deeply regretting his departure, congratulate him on his removal to a new and more important sphere of duties in the Dominion of Canada, where, in his new home, he will enjoy the good will and esteem of all classes, as he has experienced in Limerick.

THE ELECTRIC CARS.

The electric cars running past the new white front on F. W. Beck's store is a great improvement on Dundas street. Come and look at the mammoth window now, and the goods displayed in it. The prices are simply marvelous. Think of it, a first-class cloak, to order, from $10 to $15, well trimmed, well made, and the cut cannot be approached in the city. Everything made on the premises. —F. W. BECK, merchant tailor, 237 Dundas.

JEFFERIES DISMISSED.

A County Detective Dealt With Summarily.

MADE AN ILLEGAL ARREST.

And Extracted $6 from the Prisoner for His Release.

DETECTIVE WARD MIXED IN IT.

The Two Officers Were Together and Judge Elliot Finds It Hard to Dissociate the Two. Only Jefferies Was Proceeded Against, However.

A SALUTARY warning was given to the members of the county constabulary Saturday by the dismissal of Detective Luke Jefferies, of London, West, from the force, on the charge of having wrongfully extracted money from John A. Tracey by threatening him with a prosecution. The case was heard by Judge William Elliot a few days ago, and he handed down his judgment Saturday morning. It was as follows:—

It appears that Mr. Tracey and a young woman were on what is called Becher's Island on 24th June last, when Jefferies appeared, accompanied by Ward, and accosted Tracey as being a trespasser, or at any rate as a wrong-doer of some description. Jefferies then spoke of money, which is denied by Jefferies, but Tracey's statement is confirmed by what the young woman says. However, no money was then paid, but the young woman was taken into the vehicle which Jefferies had brought, while Tracey walked with Ward, ostensibly to be taken to the police station. After proceeding a part of the distance the young woman was liberated, and Tracey was taken into the vehicle and driven a short distance further, when, desirous of avoiding further trouble, he acceded to Jefferies' demand, and on the payment of $6 was liberated.

It is denied by Jefferies that any money was asked for or paid from Tracey to last, and Ward's statement is to the same effect.

But in the first place Jefferies had no right to arrest the parties. Admitting that they were trespassing, which is by no means clear, they might have been proceeded against by summons. To take them into custody in that summary way was unjustifiable. But having taken this step, why were they both liberated? Jefferies says he was moved with compassion, but why was not the compassionate feeling exhibited at the outset? There was enough said, then, to induce Jefferies to withhold further proceedings if pity was in question.

In my opinion, the whole proceedings on the part of Jefferies was to extract money, and I find that in this case he made use of his position as constable improperly and illegally to extract money, namely $6 from Mr. Tracey.

Such conduct cannot be permitted, and the man who conducts himself in that way is unfit to act as a constable. Accordingly, Luke Jefferies is dismissed from the county constabulary.

I find it difficult to dissociate Ward from Jefferies in this matter. We have the credit of being a useful and valuable constable, and if further proceedings are not taken in his case it is to be hoped that he will take warning.

Luke Jefferies had been a constable on the county force for over ten years. He conducted a grocery business also for some time past, and only within the last month or two he quit every thing else to devote his attention to

THE VERY TALLEST.

Electric Railway Power House Stack to be 140 Feet High.

The Power House Will Be a Substantial Structure, and Will Contain Machinery Capable of Developing Twelve Hundred Horse Power.

THE new power house now in course of construction for the London Electric Railway will have the biggest chimney in the city. Not only will this tall smokestack be the largest, but it will be able to look down on all the others. That of the London Electric Company close by—and at present the largest in the city—is 125 feet in height, while the new stack will rise 140 feet into the air. It will have a foundation twenty-five feet square, and at the base will be 13 feet square. The chimney will have a diameter of 6 feet 6 inches, and will be circular in shape. Two hundred thousand white brick will be required to complete the stack. The cost will be $2,500.

The power house will contain the greatest power-producing machinery of its size in the west. Six massive boilers capable of developing 290 horse-power each, or 1,200 in all, will be located in the easterly 50 feet of the building, fronting on Thames street, and adjoining the G. T. R. tracks. Coal will be received direct from the railway and taken in hand carts to the furnaces. The whole building is 110x60 feet, and is devoted to boiler and engine and dynamo rooms entirely, except for the west end, where will be a complete switchboard. A basement will be provided for storage purposes.

The building itself will be a neat structure, with foundations of stone and walls of white brick. The ends face east and west, and there are also doors in the south side facing Bathurst street. A second row of large windows are placed in the ends, and the whole interior will be light and airy. A large elevator runs along the centre of the roof.

The contractors are hurrying the work of construction. Moore & Henry are the architects.

BURNED TO THE GROUND.

Two Houses in London West are Totally Destroyed.

A Coal Oil Stove Exploded—The Neighbors Worked With a Will—Strong Winds Helped the Fire Along.

Two dwelling houses were destroyed in London West Saturday. A coal oil stove was being lighted in Henry Geiger's house on Oak street, near the Cove bridge, by one of the girls when it exploded, and in less time than it takes to relate it the rear of the dwelling was a mass of crackling flame.

The strong west winds fanned the fire into a fury, and the adjoining residence of Samuel Yealland, shoemaker, King street, was soon ablaze.

Neighbors formed a bucket brigade, and worked strenuously to save the adjoining houses. At three o'clock the Geiger and Yealland houses were level with the ground, but the other homes had been saved.

Only a small part of the furniture was saved from either of the burned houses. The buildings were substantial frame cottages, and the loss will be heavy in both instances, probably $2,500 in all.

The City Fire Department did not go over, thinking they could give no assistance.

LABOR DAY DEMONSTRATION

To be Observed Here With a Grand Procession and Picnic at Queen's Park.

To-day will be observed as a general holiday in this city, all the factories, stores and banks being closed. The organized sons of toil will celebrate it with a grand trades' procession, which will form on the Market Square at 12:30 o'clock, and will proceed at once to the Park, where a good programme of games will be given. The order of the procession will be as follows:—

Movement of Cattle.

Winnipeg Nor'Wester.—Five hundred head of young cattle arrived from Ontario on Monday, and have been sent west to the ranges. An additional shipment of 500 is expected in a few days. The importations are made by Mr. George Lane, of Willow Creek.

The shipments of stock to the east from the province and territories seems to be growing larger all the time, and yet there is no scarcity of cattle. For this week 300 cars were consigned to the east, which will make the largest shipment of any one week on record.

Montreal, Aug. 30.—Messrs. Burchell and Hoyer, of Brandon, Manitoba, are in the city with 250 head of cattle shipped from Ashcroft, B. C. This is the first shipment of cattle which has been sent from there across the Rockies. The cattle are now at the Hochelaga yards. There are 255 head more now on the road. The cattle are consigned to Mr. R. Bickerdike, Montreal, and will be shipped to Liverpool on Friday per steamship Angolman.

Mr. Burchell said the shipment was purely experimental, and he was not very sanguine of success. British Columbia has hitherto raised enough cattle for her markets only, but Mr. Burchell says there is much fine grazing country there and if a market can be found, a good trade may yet be developed.

Which is worse, imprisonment for life or a life-long disease like scrofula, for example? The former, certainly, would be preferable were it not that Ayer's Sarsaparilla can always come to the rescue and give the poor sufferer health, strength and happiness.

A hacking cough keeps the bronchial tubes in a state of constant irritation, which if not speedily removed, may lead to chronic bronchitis. No remedy can be found fonder than Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Its effect is immediate and the result permanent.
