Lignite for Coal

Ontario, with its large deposits of lignite, is specially interested in a report by Frank A. Herald recently issued by the United States Geological Survey. Lignite, it appears, is being used by the United States reclamation service for the genera tion of electricity, which is conveyed over cable lines to Buford, where electrically operated pumps are used to lift water to an extensive irriga tion system operating in the Missouri River valley. Lignite, it is said, appears to be well adapted to this work and can be cheaply mined. It serves furnaces equally well, whether these are fed by hand or stoked automatically. The main point is that a novice handling it usually meets with difficulty, and is apt to condemn it without realizing that the method, not the fuel, is at Systematic tests have shown that lignite, when properly handled, is thoroughly satisfactory when boilers and fire boxes are properly construct ed and the fires correctly fed and controlled. When these requirements are met it is claimed that lignite produces results superior to those obtained by the use of ordinary coal. Not only this, but lignite holds valuable possibilities for use in producer-gas plants and in the making of briquettes. Those who have been experimenting with lignite believe that it can be made success ful as a business proposition and the value of this to Ontario can hardly be overestimated. The province has suffered from lack of coal deposits, and if a means can be devised to make lignite available for domestic and manufacturing purposes, it will he made independent of coal imports.

'HIS simple rule of health is daily called attention to by every doctor in the land, whose first question to the patient almost invariably is, "Are your bowels regular?" Yet there's not one person in fifty who takes proper care of the bowels. And the result of this foolish neglect is nine-tenths of all ill-health. If today you are unable to free your body of waste matter at the usual time, or if the act causes straining, pains and discomfort, don't let that condition occur again tomorrow. Unless your bowels can carry away the materials left after food is digested, decay sets in, the poisons of which, taken up by the blood, increase the risk of Typhoid Fever, Appendicitis, and many other serious diseases.

In treating constipation, there is a right way and a wrong way. The wrong way is to take harsh purgatives which even though they do clear the bowels, cause griping and nausea, injure the delicate tissues, and so disturb the normal functions as to cause the return of constipation. The right way is to help Nature to produce natural movement, without pain or discomfort, by using

exall Orderlies

More Than One Hundred Million Were Sold Last Year

This enormous quantity was used with good results by busy men who suffered from constipation, due to lack of exercise, or indigestion caused by overwork-by children whose parents realize the harmful effect of common purgatives-by old people whose systems cannot stand anything harsh-by women during pregnancy, and after childbirth, when any medicine with a violent action would be particularly dangerous. Many of these people are your neighbors and friends. Ask anyone who has ever used them-they'll tell you Rexall Orderlies satisfied and helped them.

-a gentle laxative in the form of a chocolate-tasting tablet. One of these tablets eaten just before going to bed will help to restore your bowels to normal activity at a time when, your body being at rest, the medicine can do its best work. As a result of taking that tablet (or say two, if your case is obstinate), your bowels will move easily and naturally in the morning. The use of Rexall Orderlies for a few days afterward will restore normal regularity. Even chronic consti-pation is benefited by them, and it is not necessary to continue the treatment for a long time, be-cause, instead of driving Nature, they simply help her to help herself.
