HONEST labour bears a lovely face—Dekker.

GOD calls our loved ones, but we lose not wholly What he hath given; They live on earth, in thought and deed as truly As in His heaven,

EVERY man's life is a fairy-tale written by God's fingers.—Hans Christian Andersen.

IT is the special privilege of truth always to grow on candid minds.—Scrivener.

I FIND the doing of the will of God leaves me no time for disputing about His plans.—George MacDonald.

DAVID LIVINGSTONE said, "I am a missionary, heart and soul; God had only one Son, and He was a missionary!"

OF all the anguish in the world, there is nothing like this the sense of God without the sense of nearness to Him.—Elizabeth Prentiss.

ALL wise work is mainly three-fold in character; it is honest, useful and cheerful.—Ruskin.

AROMATIC plants bestow No spicy fragrance while they grow; But crushed or trodden to the ground Diffuse their balmy sweets around.—Goldsmith.

GOD respecteth not the arithmetic of our prayers, how many they are; nor the rhetoric how neat they are; nor the geometry of our prayers, how melodious they are; but the divinity of our prayers, how heart-sprung they are.—John Trabb.

THAT best portion of a good man's life, His little, nameless, unremembered acts Of kindness and of love.—Wordsworth.

THE present moment may be a season of darkness. How shall we find the light? "Draw nigh to God and He will draw nigh to you." "Draw nigh," for "God is light and in Him is no darkness at all."

OF all the passions, jealousy is that which exacts the hardest service, and pays the bitterest wages. Its service is—to watch the success of our enemy, its wages—to be sure of it.—Colton.

AS for jest, there be certain things which ought to be privileged from it; namely religion, matters of state, great persons, any man's present business of importance, any case that deserveth pity.—Bacon.

READING employs us in youth, amuses us in old age, graces and embellishes prosperity, shelters and supports, adversity, makes us delightful at home, and easy abroad, softens fatigue, and enlivens retirement.

MAYHAP you are despised and trodden underfoot of men, having almost lost your self-respect. Lift yourself up; let no man despise you! God is your Father! You are the heir of His love; you ought to be a sharer in His glory.

EACH has a burden of his own That must be borne, and borne alone; Some solitary care; A weary, a tenacious load, Known only to one's self and God, And which no friend can share.

How very sweet, says Spurgeon, to many workers are those little corners of the newspapers and magazines which describe their labours and successes; yet some who are doing what God will think a great deal more of at the last, never saw their names in print.

EMOTION is the bud, not the flower; and never is it of value until it expand into a flower. Every religious sentiment, every act of devotion, which does not produce corresponding elevation of life, is worse than useless; it is absolutely pernicious, because it ministers to self-deception and tends to lower the tone of personal morals.—Murray.

IT is very easy to forbear stealing other men's goods, but hard not so much as to covet or desire them; very easy not to bear false witness in judgment, but not so easy to avoid detraction in conversation; very easy not to desire another man's death, but hard not to desire some inconvenience to him; easy to forbear defaming our adversary, but hard not to despise him.—De Sales.

READ and pray, think and pray, pray and fear not. Lord God, thou knowest my prayer is for mercy, and strength to keep mercy, to believe and rejoice, to believe and adore, to believe and love, to believe and have no will but to please thee, to believe and die to the world; and thou knowest that I prostrate myself before thee as a sinful helpless creature, placing no confidence in my own strength, attainments, willing or running, but trusting wholly in thy grace and power for the pardon of all my sins and the supply of all my wants.—Rev. T. Adams.

EXCITEMENT IN ROCHESTER.

WIDESPREAD COMMOTION CAUSED BY THAT REMARKABLE STATEMENT OF A PHYSICIAN.

The story published in these columns recently, from the Rochester, N. Y., Democrat, created a deal of comment here as it has elsewhere. Apparently it caused even more commotion in Rochester, as the following from the same paper shows:

Dr. J. B. Henion, who is well-known not only in Rochester but in nearly every part of America, sent an extended article to this paper, a few days ago, which was duly published, detailing his remarkable experience and rescue from what seemed to be certain death. It would be impossible to enumerate the personal enquiries which have been made at our office as to the validity of the article, but they have been so numerous that further investigation of the subject was deemed an editorial necessity.

With this end in view a representative of this paper called on Dr. Henion at his residence on Andrews Street, when the following interview occurred: "That article of yours, Doctor, has created quite a whirlwind. Are the statements about the terrible condition you were in, and the way you were rescued such as you can sustain?"

"Every one of them and many additional ones. I was brought so low by neglecting the first and most simple symptoms. I did not think I was sick. It is true I had frequent headaches; felt tired most of the time; could eat nothing one day and was ravenous the next; felt dull pains and my stomach was out of order, but I did not think it meant anything serious. The medical profession have been treating symptoms instead of diseases for years, and it is high time it ceased. The symptoms I have just mentioned or any unusual action or irritation of the water channels indicate the approach of kidney disease more than a cough announces the coming of consumption. Do not treat the cough, but try to help the lungs. We should not waste our time trying to relieve the headache, pains about the body or other symptoms, but go directly to the kidneys, the source of most of these ailments."

"This, then, is what you meant when you said that more than one-half the deaths which occur arise from Bright's disease, is it, Doctor?"

"Precisely. Thousands of diseases are torturing people to-day, which in reality are Bright's disease in some of its many forms. It is a hydra-headed monster, and the slightest symptoms should strike terror to every one who has them. I can look back and recall hundreds of deaths which physicians declared at the time were caused by paralysis, apoplexy, heart disease, pneumonia, malarial fever and other common complaints which I see now were caused by Bright's disease."

"And did all these cases have simple symptoms at first?"

"Every one of them, and might have been cured as I was by the timely use of the same remedy. I am getting my eyes thoroughly opened in this matter and I think I am helping others to see the facts and their possible danger also."

Mr. Warner was visited at his establishment on North St. Paul Street. At first he was inclined to be reticent, but learning that the information desired was about Bright's disease, his manner changed instantly and he spoke very earnestly:

"It is true that Bright's disease had increased wonderfully, and we find, by reliable statistics, that from '70 to '80, its growth was over 250 per cent. Look at the prominent men it has carried off: Everett, Sumner, Chase, Wilson, Carpenter, Bishop Haven, Folger, Colfax and others. Nearly every week the papers record the death of some prominent man from this scourge. Recently, however, the increase has been checked, and I attribute this to the general use of my remedy."

"Do you think many people are afflicted with it to-day who do not realize it, Mr. Warner?"

"A prominent professor in a New Orleans medical college was lecturing before his class on the subject of Bright's disease. He had various fluids under microscopic analysis and was showing the students what the indications of this terrible malady were. 'And now, gentlemen,' he said, 'as we have seen the unhealthy indications, I will show you how it appears in a state of perfect health,' and he submitted his own fluid to the usual test. As he watched the results his countenance suddenly changed—his colour and command both left him a-d in a trembling voice he said: 'Gentlemen, I have made a painful discovery; I have Bright's disease of the kidneys.' And in less than a year he was dead. The slightest indications of any kidney difficulty should be enough to strike terror to any one."

"You know of Dr. Henion's case?" "Yes, I have both read and heard of it." "It is very wonderful, is it not?" "No more so than a great many others that have come to my notice as having been cured by the same means." "You believe then that Bright's disease can be cured?" "I know it can. I know it from my own and the experience of thousands of prominent persons who were given up to die by both their physicians and friends."

"You speak of your own experience, what was it?" "A fearful one. I had felt languid and unfitted for business for years. But I did not know what ailed me. When, however, I found it was kidney difficulty I thought there was little hope and so did the doctors. I have since learned that one of the physicians of this city pointed me out to a gentleman on the street one day, saying: 'There goes a man who will be dead within a year.' I believe his words would have proved true if I had not providentially used the remedy known as Warner's Safe Cure."

Dr. S. A. Lattimore, although busily engaged upon some matters connected with the State Board of Health, of which he is one of the analysts, courteously answered the questions that were propounded him:

"Did you make a chemical analysis of the case of Mr. H. H. Warner some three years ago, Doctor?"

"Yes, sir." "What did this analysis show you?" "The presence of albumen and tube casts in great abundance."

"And what did the symptoms indicate?" "A serious disease of the kidneys."

"Did you think Mr. Warner could recover?"

"No, sir. I did not think it possible."

"Do you know anything about the remedy which cured him?"

"Yes. I have chemically analyzed it and find it pure and harmless."

We publish the foregoing statements in view of the commotion which the publicity of Dr. Henion's article has caused and to meet the protestations which have been made. The doctor was cured four years ago and is well and attending to his professional duties to-day. The standing of Dr. Henion, Mr. Warner and Dr. Lattimore in the community is beyond question and the statements they make cannot for a moment be doubted. Dr. Henion's experience shows that Bright's disease of the kidneys is one of the most deceptive and dangerous of all diseases, that it is exceedingly common, and that it can be cured.
