DIFFERENT KINDS OF CLOCKS.

DIFFERENT KINDS OF CLO. KS.

Tao story is that King Alfred had no better way to tell the time than by burning twolve caudies, each of which lasted two hours and when all the twelve were gone, another day had passed.

Long before the time of Alfred, and long before the time of Alfred, and long before the time of Alfred, and long before the time of Lirist, the shadow of the sun toll the hour of the day by means of a sun dial. The out Chaldeans so placed a hollow hemisphere, with a bead in the centre, that the shadows of the bead on the linter surface told the hour of the day. Chen kniels of divis were afterwards made with a tablet of wood or a straight plece of metal. On the tablets were marked the d. aront gours when the shadow came to the mark 'X, it was 0 o'clock in the morning. Tao dall was somethines placed near the ground, or in towers or buildings. The cick on the east end of Fancuil Hall, in Roston, was formerly a dial of tibls kind, and on some of the old church towers in England you may see them to-day. Askide from the kinds mentioned, the dials now in extreme are intended more for ornament than for use. In the days when dials were used oach one contained a motto of some kind, like these, "Time files like the shadow," or, "I tell in lours but those that are lappy."

But the day could be used only in
