

BATTERWOOD HOUSE
NEAR PORT HOPE, ONTARIO.
April 12th, 1933.

Dear Sir Arthur,

Many thanks for your letter of April 10th. The arrangements which you outline seem most admirable. I greatly appreciate your thoughtfulness and I know Salter will too.

If you would really like me to say a word of thanks on behalf of the audience after Salter's Lecture, I should be glad to do so. I shall only speak very briefly.

As far as I know Salter's activity at the present time is writing and speaking on the economic crisis. He retired from the League of Nations Secretariat in 1930 and since the publication of his book "Recovery" last year he has performed the very useful function of acting as a publicist on that and kindred subjects.

I hope you will be able to lunch with me on Wednesday, April 19th when I am asking
