HIGHLANDERS' POPULAR PIPES SOUND SPLENDID

A signal for an outburst of patriotic inthusiasml is given each night when the pipers march down the walk to-wards the grand stand. The pipers of the 48th Highlanders arouse enough cheers when they arrive in front of the grand stand, but that is not nearly all, when the clamor that precedes and consequent upon their march thru the grounds is taken into account.

All the people, whether they have any Scotch blood or not, are stirred en they hear the music of the pipes. rum-Major George Marlborough and cohorts are given a stirring welcome every time the populace either sees or hears them. They are sturdy specimens of the men of the Highlands with everyone of them towering over six feet.
