FREFACE

earth is cre long to be the theatre, -is regarded as dark, mysterious and uncertain and the plainest promises and predictions of Jehovah are misapprehended, pervorted, or disbelieved.

The truth concerning this kingdom was the basis of the 'glad tidings' which Jesus, 'the twelve,' and the 'seventy,' preached 'to the lost sheep of the house of Israel.' and which, coupled with 'the things concerning the name of Jesus Christ,' make up 'the Gospel' which the anointed 'King of Israel,' after his resurrection, commanded his Apostles to preach to every creature ; adding, 'He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved, but he that believeth not shall be condemned.'

The essentiality of a belief of 'the gospel,' and of being baptized or 'born of water,' in order to salvation, is generally admitted; these conditions being too plainly stated to be disputed by any whe will be guided by the Scriptures alone: hence, if it can be clearly shewn that 'the gospel' preached by Jesns and his Apostles, previous to his crueificion, was neither more nor less than 'the gospel of the kingdom,' to which were added, on the day of Pentecost, 'the things concerning the name of Jesns Christ;' the essentiality of a belief of 'the things concerning the Kingdom of God,' as well as 'the name of Jesus Christ,' will be manifest.

Before proceeding further, then, let the reader be convinced from Scripture, that to preach and believe the gospel, which was proclaimed previous to Pentecost, was to preach and believe 'the glad tidings of the Kingdom of God ? a proclamation variously styled, 'the word,' the word of the Kingdom,' the things concerning the Kingdom of God,' the Kingdom of God,' & e. A reference to the following passages will establish this point. Lake iv. 18. 'The spirit of the Lord is upon me, because he hath anointed me to preach the gospel to the poor.' Here, Jesus states that he was anointed to preach the gospel in the 42rd verse, he says, 'I must preach the Kingdom of God to other eities also; for therefore an I sent.' Now Jesus was not sent to make two proclamations, or to preach two gospels: it follows therefore, that to preach the gospel, was to preach the Kingdom of God, and vice versa.

One or two additional testimonies will make this sure. Luke viii. 1. 'Ife went throughout every city and village, preaching and shewing the glad tidings of the Kingdom of God.' Matthew iv. 23. 'And Jesus went about all Galilee, teaching in their synagogues and preaching the gospet of the kingdom.' Luke ix. 1, 2, 6. 'Then he called his twelve disciples together,—and he sent them to preach the Kingdom of God. And they departed and went through the towns preaching the gospet.' Here, 'the twelve' sent by Jesus to preach the Kingdom of God, go preaching the gospet. Can a donbt exist in the mind of the reader, as to whether or not they did as they were commanded ? I think not. In preaching 'the gospel,' they proclaimed 'the word' or 'glad tidings of the Kingdom of God :' for with them they were identical.

But, as I have already stated, an addition was made to 'the gospel of the Kingdom,' on the day of Pentecost, viz: 'the things concerning the name of Jesus Christ,' which may be termed the conditions on which a believer of the gospel of the Kingdom, may become an heir to the Kingdom. These additional things, which may be all gathered from Peter's discourse on that eventful day, are now, —only generally, more or less corrupted, added to or taken from,—preached as the whole gospel; leaving the people in ignorance and unbelief of the Kingdom of God. What God joined together, man presumed to separate; and a mutilated portion of the 'glorious gospel of the blessed God,' powerless to beget an heir to the Kingdom,—as the writer is forced from scripture to conclude,—is for the mer itł the Jes of 208 nul Ap day jud this * gos wh mei be aft it f doi fro • re allCit the and of . ÷ n€ sel • th kin rev dui nat ani Sc tiz thi wr Ac cal inl gl an 51
