YORK PIONEERS MET

Were Addressed by C. A. B. Brown Yesterday-Presented With Flag.

The monthly meeting of the York Pioneer and Historical Society was held yesterday afternoon at the Royal Canadian Institute, wnen a fair audience of members were entertained by an able address, delivered by C. A. B Brown, chairman of the finance committee of the hoard of education. The subject was: "Recent Improvements in the Educational System of Toronto," and the speaker dealt with his sub ject in a thoro manner.

He said: "In the old days the schools were not used outside of school hours. Last year nearly 10,000 permits for entertainments were issued by the board of education and already this year 9000. In 1890 there was one high school in Toronto, at which 400 pupils were in attendance. Today there are seven, and the technical school, at which institution alone 5000 pupils are

A Valuable Asset.

"At the present time," he said, "there is on hand $55,000 for the superannuation fund. The playgrounds of the city are a valuable asset to the community, as the children are thus in good quarters and under competent supervisors. The Penny Bank is an important adjunct and all work is done by the different staff, thus avoiding expense to the board. In the postoffice savings bank there is $160,000 of school children's money. Medical and dental inspection are of inestimable value, the only expense being in the paying of four inspectors, and nurses, all work in dentistry being done free of charge by the Dental Society. The night schools serve to teach foreigners the English language and respect for the British flag."

An interesting feature was the presentation of a British flag to the society, the gift of Harry Piper of New York, formerly of Toronto. This flag had in 1862 been presented by the late Lord Strathcona to an Indian chief at the Cariboo Mines, British Columbia, and had come into the possession of Mr. Piper shortly after. He had given it to his honor the lieutenant-governor, who decided to present it to the society. The presentation was made by ciety. The presentation was made by Alexander Fraser. The president, Wil-liam Crocker, occupied the chair.

CAME FROM KANSAS CITY TO ENLIST WITH BEAVERS

Father and Son of the Carroll Family Now Serving in the Canadian Army.

In the Carroll family of Kansas City, Mo., there is a fine example for To-ronto's youth. Three months ago the only son of the family, now Sgt. W. J. A few days ago the head of the family Percy Carroll, followed the example of the son and traveled over a thousand miles to be able to join the 204th Beaver Battalion, in which unit he was ac-

Pte. Carroll is an old service man having spent eight years with the British army in India. Both father and sor were well connected in business in Kansas City before coming north to link up their fortunes with the Cana dian army. The father was a prominent advertising manager, while the son gave up a good office position. Pte. Carroll has one brother, who is a lieutenant-colonel of the artillery, now stationed at Saloniki.
