The perfection of Studebaker manufacture is responsible for the smooth running silence of Studebaker gears and moving parts.

Correctness of design and the correct material for each vital part, together with the exactness of manufacturing methods, has made it possible to secure even greater standards of accuracy than ever before.

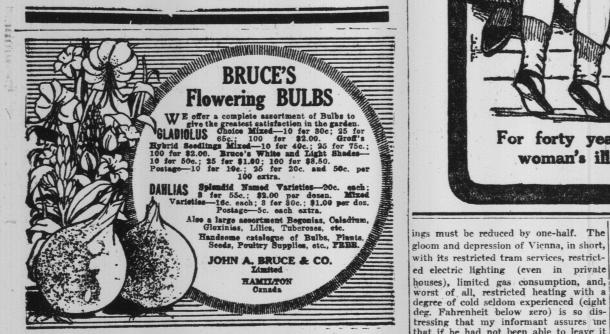

In the Series 18 Studebaker Cars noticeable vibration has been eliminated, and this because the Studebaker Motor has been improved, refined, perfected into one of the best automobile motors on the market today. The Studebaker is the most powerful car on the market within hundreds of dollars of its

For the last few days, according to a New York Times correspondent in Berne, Switzerland, writing about the middle of February, a number of people have been allowed to cross the Austrian frontier into Switzerland. Directly they reached a railway refreshment room or entered a Swiss dining car all of them naturally ordered a meal; but in almost all cases an ordinarily substantial meal proved too mach for them, and, instead of benefiting them, simply made them ill. The dining car attendants are, therefore, obliged to make provisions for these Austrian passengers just as stewards and steward—pensive, but that they are not procurable. The few who have money still manage to purchase enough, but the great majority who have not money either go constantly hungry or depend on public kitchens, which since their creation have supplied the poorer classes in Vienna alone with 88,258,815 meals at a total cost of about $82,163,805. At the end of 1916 there were also in Vienna alone 474,800 persons in receipt of government relief (grants of assistance), in other words, about one in four of the entire population of the Austrian capital. These government grants since the war until the end of last year had reached the sum of $50, to worth, have reached and 10 births. In Vienna alone the number of children born alive sank unceasingly from 3,323 in March, 1915, to 1,983 in December, 1915. ed visits to Austria- Hungary several times since the war I learn that never has the Austrian capital been in such a plight as just now. Men, women, and even children, have, especially lately, succumber to hunger and want, and I am assured by someone quite recently returned from Austria that children have been literally dying in the streets. Nowhere is there enough to eat, he says, except among quite wealthy classes and the most well-to-do farmers. The organization for the distribution of provisions is wretched despite the fact that a he would have lost his reason. Drastic Price Reductions for Tonight and Monday -- My Last Day

My license expires and my sale ends Monday night. This is positively my last sale of Boots and Shoes in your city.

After the rapid selling of the past week, stocks are greatly depleted, and I have decided to carry nothing away. I will therefore make unlimited price reductions on all remaining stock to effect a complete clearance before Monday night.

A few cases of much wanted goods will arrive by express today and will pass out rapidly to early shoppers who are on the spot when they are opened.

This final sale means Shoes almost given away. Be here to get your share.
