a great sport in the dominion with the conduct being waged so bitterly overseas, "The Golfers' Roll of Honor" shows that far and wide throughout Canada the men of the links have rethe Atlantic westward golfers have rallied to the colors, and of the 8,000 who enlisted about 150 have paid the supreme sacrifice. The list is printed in

RING
Leonard Had Easy Time.
Philadelphia, Penn., June 4.—Benny Leonard, the world's new lightweight champion, simply toyed with Joe Welsh, of this city, in six rounds at Olympia A. A. tonight. In fact he gave the ambitious Philadelphia a real boxing lesson. Several times Welsh was on the verge of a knockout, but his wilfulness in using the ring coupled with Leonard's desire to save his hands saved him that ignominy.
It was announced that Leonard would enlist in the navy and tonight's contest was his final ring appearance before fighting for Uncle Sam.
Leonard thrilled 6,000 fans. He boxed like a real champion, hit Welsh almost at will with either hand, and gave a remarkable exhibition of free hitting, skilful ducking, and a defense which Welsh failed to penetrate. The men were matched at 140 pounds, and both were under that limit. The Philadelphian was careful. He had a wholesome respect for Leonard's leuds and counters.
He took no chances in the first round.
He let Leonard do the leading, while he boxed on the defensive.
Welsh kept his guard high and Leonard's jabs failed to do much damage.
In the second, Welsh opened up, and it was nearly his undoing. Leonard jolled him on the jaw with his left and shot his right for the body. Each blow he landed stung, and he had Welsh doing footwork around the ring. It was only

BODY OF LES DARCY SENT HOME
Will Be Accompanied to Australia
By His Intended Bride; A Sad Ending
The body of Les Darcy, the man who lost his last fight, the fight that everyone wished he could have won, has been sent back to his home in Australia. Thus ends the short but very unhappy stay in America of the champion who hoped to win fresh honors and more money on this continent. It is a sad ending to one of the greatest boxers the prize ring has ever known.
Darcy's intended bride, who arrived in San Francisco a few days ago from Australia, will go back on the same ship as Les' body. She came to America on receiving a cable from Darcy. They were to be married tomorrow and Darcy, thoroughly disheartened over the treatment received in America, had decided to return to Australia and enlist.
It came to pass that nothing that the happy boy did seemed to please. The fact that he had enlisted in the aviation corps in America stirred up a rumpus in Australia.

each exchange. Throughout, Morris made the fighting to his own liking, and displayed the better ability at leading and then following the lead through, and at close quarters he piled his blows frequently and with effect. For the entire nine rounds Morris was on top of Moran all the time, belaboring him with heavy right and left hand blows to the face and body alternately, and frequently sending Moran's head back on his shoulders with stiff uppercuts. Try as he might, however, Morris was unsuccessful in his efforts for a knockout blow.
In the fifth session Moran staggered Morris several times with his famous "Mary Ann"—a right to the jaw—but couldn't follow his advantage because of his shortness of breath. The weights were: Moran, 190 pounds; Morris, 224 pounds.

Harriston (Ont.) Father says Dr.
Cassell's Tablets Saved his Life Mr. Curly, Harriston, P. O., Ont., writes: "Our little girl was weak from birth, and though we tried doctors' medicine and other things she got no better.
She just lay in her cot and cried, and neighbors all said we could not save her. The doctors said she had stomach trouble, and that her chances were small, yet Dr. Cassell's Tablets cured her. They have been worth their weight in gold to us, for we were just giving up hope of saving our little daughter. I don't know there is any other medicine for children like Dr. Cassell's Tablets. Published in the 'Tablets' helped us."

MEL COOGAN DEFEATS HOGAN Brooklyn Lightweight Wins The Championship of Eastern Canada in Fast Fifteen Round Bout Halifax Recorder—Mel Coogan, a Brooklyn lightweight, who won the championship of New England on last Tuesday, ended the championship contest in Canada to his laurels at the Arena last evening, when he defeated Patsy Hagan, the title-holder, after the scheduled 15 rounds. There was no knockout, the bout going the limit, but there was not a person among the 700 present who made the slightest question as to the referee's decision. No better tribute could be given to Coogan as to how clear-cut was his victory, as usually there are ordinary spectators who cannot see the same way as the referee.
But in this instance, Frank Murray, who at all times is an excellent referee, did not have a person make the slightest objection to his verdict, because the verdict was so clear-cut, and he was altogether too clever, giving a boxing exhibition such as has been seldom seen here. He uses his left to great advantage, he has a stiff punch and withal is clean and gentlemanly at all times.
He was brought to Halifax through the efforts of a local sportsman, who said he could bring a man who could beat Hagan, and he justified his claim.
There was not a round in the fight that Coogan did not have the advantage. He jabbed Patsy in the nose with his left over and over again; he pounded him around the head and the body, and definitely Hagan's efforts, the latter could not get through his guard. Patsy tried hard to reach him in the first two rounds, but Coogan was not only too clever, but was landing hard. He made Patsy look like a "selling plater," and in the fifth round he walloped him so badly that the referee was considering stopping the bout. But Hagan, as soon as he found he was outclassed, settled himself to stay the limit, which he did, and gave an exhibition of gameness such as seldom witnessed. He was a veritable human punching bag throughout the greater part of the fight, but he hardly ever broke ground; he stalled, he conserved his energy, he used all manner of defensive tactics, but he was always right up with his opponent. There were rounds that it seemed that he would be punched out, but with a minute's rest he came back quite fresh ready to continue. He said to a friend before the fight, who asked him about the outcome: "I will do my best." He certainly did, and there was not a spectator who was not enthused over the wonderful gameness of the "little iron man." No visiting boxer has ever won more admiration here than Coogan, as apart himself a good sport, being under wraps towards the finish, particularly in the last round. Both boxers had a forfeit posted as to weight, 150 pounds at the ring-side, and both were underweight.
Hector McInnes, the noted Boston sporting man and manager of famous boxers, was one of Coogan's seconds.

a question of keeping his jaw out of the danger zone.
He succeeded until the sixth round.
Then Leonard cut loose. He rained lefts and rights to Welsh's jaw, and had the latter in bad shape at the finish. In fact, he dropped into his chair when the final bell rang in a groggy condition.
How Morris Trounced Moran.
Whatever ability Frank Moran, Pittsburgh heavyweight, had to entitle him to serious consideration as a potential opponent for Jess Williams, the world's champion, seems to have left him. This was clearly demonstrated when the blond Pittsburgher clashed for ten rounds with Carl Morris, the big Sapulpas (Okla) heavyweight, at the Harlem S. C. In nine of the ten rounds Morris garnered the honors, although the fighting Irishman was always in it and always dangerous for the entire journey.
The other round, the fifth, went to Moran, for it was in this session only that the Pittsburgher showed any signs of effectiveness. The contest was a fairly interesting one, but the heavyweights in both boxes, with little of science in their make-ups, were swinging and cutting each other all the way. Moran, although badly beaten and punished about the body and face, grimly endured through his swollen face at the end, as if conceding the other boxer's superiority.
Moran showed nothing but gameness and courage in the face of a stinging attack. Although buffeted about continually by the big Oklahoma heavyweight, the Pittsburgher always was willing to mix, and came up smiling grimly after

MORNING NEWS OVER THE WIRES A London despatch yesterday told of the capture of German positions north of the Scarpe river on a mile front. The report, which was from British headquarters, told of the operations and said that in addition to the objectives gained, 102 men and four officers were captured.
The weekly report of the British headquarters regarding losses of ships by mines or submarines during the last week showed that only fifteen vessels of more than 1,000 and three of less than that tonnage were sunk. The arrivals numbered 2,693 and the sailings 2,642.
All single men of military age in Ottawa without dependents and engaged at present in munition plants have been requested to present themselves at the base recruiting office for medical examination. Five thousand out of six thousand inspectors are also on trial.
PASTOR'S CRYSTAL WEDDING.
Rev. and Mrs. S. S. Poole were tendered a surprise party at their residence, 51 Queen street, Tuesday evening, the occasion being the fifteenth anniversary of their wedding, which was performed in Wolfville (N. S.), by Rev. H. R. Hutchinson on June 4, 1902. Some of the members of the Philatheas Class and the deacons of the church and their wives were present besides a few other friends. Among the gifts, which were all of cut glass, were a vase, one half dozen glasses and one dozen frappe dishes and a fruit bowl.
The presentation was made by Deacon S. H. Davis on behalf of the congregation.
A wedding cake set with fifteen candles was brought in by the girls and a bouquet of fifteen roses was also presented. Refreshments were served and a delightful time was enjoyed by all present.

CONVICTS IN RIOT
Joliet, Ill., June 5.—After one prisoner had been killed, eight severely injured and several others hurt today during three riotous outbreaks at the State Prison by 1,600 convicts, a rainstorm drove the last 200 of the mutineers to the cell-house although they had stubbornly refused to move before the bayonets of the National Guardsmen who quelled the outbreak.
Fires set within the prison buildings destroyed the prison yard's buildings, entailing a total loss of $20,000. Several other buildings were damaged by the flames.
