HERE FROM DEMERARA FOR TRADE

Representative of Large Firm of Wholesalers in Town

MORE OF OUR PRODUCTS

Mr. Webb Will Seek to Arrange to Handle Larger Quantity—Trade is Growing and There is a Good Market

Among the passengers arriving on the steamer Ocano this morning was Harris S. D. Webb, of Georgetown, Demerara, who is on a visit to Canada to look into the trade possibilities of the Dominion. Mr. Webb is a son of Samuel Webb, secretary of the firm of Weiting & Richter, who carry on a big wholesale business, and import large quantities of goods from Canada and the United States. He will go from Halifax to Montreal and thence to Toronto.

In talking to a Times-Star reporter, he said he wanted to see how flour was milled, fish cured and various other goods that his firm handles, are prepared for the summer. He will also try to arrange for handling a more extensive line of Canadian products.

Trade between Canada and Demerara, he says, has improved greatly in the last few years, and there is a good market in the latter for Canadian flour, cured fish, lumber, etc.

His firm recently built a large cold storage building in Georgetown and they hope to work up a trade in butter, eggs and meats. The building was erected only about a year ago, and thus far the trade in this direction has not been very great, but it is thought that with proper cold storage facilities on the steamer considerable business in this line of goods can be worked up.

The exports from Demerara consist mainly of sugar, rum and molasses. The former is shipped largely to Montreal direct, though it was only a few years ago that the bulk of the business was handled by New York. The rum and molasses are shipped to the United Kingdom. The British commission inquiring into trade relations between the West Indies and Canada, is in Demerara recently and gathered information that is expected to result in improving the trade between the two countries.

Mr. Webb has never been in Canada before and he said he was surprised to find that St. John was such a large city. He had supposed it was quite a small place. It was refreshing, he said, to get into the cooler weather. In Demerara the thermometer seldom went below 80, and it reaches 130 degrees in midsummer. He will leave this evening for Halifax.

The presentation was made by the principal of the school, Miss Emery appreciated the kind expressions of regard held for her by the teachers, as well as the beautiful present, greatly. Many regrets are expressed at her retirement.
