

SPORT NEWS OF A DAY, HOME AND ABROAD

BOWLING.

City League.
The Lions took three points from the Sweeps in the City League game on Black's alleys last night. Tonight the Ramblers play the Thistles. Summary of last night's game.

Sweeps—	Total Avg.
McLaren	96 89 88 283 91.3
Gambin	74 80 85 239 79.2
Copp	83 77 94 254 88
Jenkins	86 83 90 259 86.3
Sullivan	79 91 105 275 91.2
	440 430 462 1232

Lions—	Total Avg.
Wheeler	98 90 97 285 92.3
Wheeler	84 78 116 278 92.3
Wheeler	89 89 89 267 89
Wheeler	81 89 88 258 82.7
Wheeler	81 89 88 258 82.7
Wheeler	101 83 92 276 92
	460 429 452 1239

Commercial League.

The Emerson & Fisher team took three points from the Ford Motor Works team in the Commercial League game on Black's alleys last night. Tonight the Post Office plays Ames-Holmes-McCreedy. Summary of last night's game:

Ford Motor Works—	Total Avg.
Latham	76 80 90 246 82
Woolman	80 75 83 238 81.3
Geldart	85 86 81 252 84
Phillips	76 79 73 228 76.3
McKell	80 103 75 258 89
	397 429 416 1235

Emerson & Fisher—

Emerson & Fisher—				Total	Avg
Owens	82	81	66	229	76 1-
Burns	80	76	94	250	83 1-
Stinson	86	85	95	266	89 2-
Fitzgerald	83	76	96	255	85
Chase	90	94	106	290	96 2-
				—	—

Wellington League.

The Custom House team took all four points from the Queens Candy Co. in the Wellington League game, rolled on the G. W. V. A. alleys last night.

Queens Candy Co.—	Total Avg.
Harding	80 80 77 237 81
Branscombe	69 80 90 239 79.2
Copp	83 75 81 244 81.3
Kingston	74 72 75 221 73.3
Mitchell	78 87 86 251 83.3
	395 394 409 1198

Custom House—

Custom House—	Total. Av
Wills	78	73	86	237 79
Yeomans	87	81	86	254 84.2
Nice	74	72	79	225 75
Ross	98	98	103	299 99.2
Willet	77	85	75	237 79
	414	409	429	1252

Phone Team Won.

The N. B. Telephone Co. won a match game from the Bank of Nova Scotia in which only the total points counted on the Victoria alleys last night. The summary follows:

N. B. Telephone—	Total Avg.
Wheaton	83 85 87 255 85.7
Till	78 78 78 234 78
Shewers	93 83 83 259 86.3
Nason	72 107 83 262 87.3
Marshall	80 84 96 260 88.2
	416 438 447 1301

Bank of Nova Scotia—

Bank of Nova Scotia—				Total.	A
Miller	85	74	91	250	83
Pye	72	71	70	213	71
Lindsay	93	81	101	275	91
Seeley	94	98	87	279	93
Somerville	86	84	88	258	84

FOOTBALL.

British Games.

(Canadian Press Despatch)
London, March 17.—In a Northern Union league game today, Leeds defeated Keighley by 26 to 8.

In a Southern Union Cup re-play, Leigh defeated Warrington by 9 to 8.

BASEBALL.

Myers Surrenders.

Hot Springs, Ark., March 17.—Rimer Myers, pitcher of the Boston American League baseball club, who has formerly been a hold-out, has reported at the Red Sox training camp here.

May Enter City League.

The Pirates, who won the championship of the South End League for the 1920 season, are considering entering a team in the City League. At a meeting held last evening they decided to re-organize and made a bid for a berth in the City League.

VOLLEYBALL.

Halifax Rotary Team Wins.

Members of the local Rotary Club and visiting members from Halifax enjoyed a game of volleyball in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium last evening. A team representing the Halifax Rotary won.

DELICIOUS

That's one way of expressing the goodness of

PURITY ICE CREAM

Take a brick home with you. Give the family a genuine treat.

PURITY ICE CREAM CO. LIMITED

"The Cream of Quality"

Phone Main 4234
Stanley Street,
St. John, N. B.

presenting Halifax defeated one representing the local club, taking three out of four games.

THE RING.

Fulton Seeking Revenge.

Tom O'Rourke, veteran manager of boxers, is out with a challenge on behalf of Fred Fulton, Minnesota heavyweight, for a world's championship bout against Jack Dempsey, champion. O'Rourke has been campaigning for a return match between Fulton and Dempsey ever since he assumed the management of the tall plasterer more than a year ago. Fulton is eager to erase the blot of Harrison, N. J., from his memory and Manager O'Rourke has declared himself ready to arrange a return bout on any terms demanded by the champion.

Wilson Wins Decision.

New York, March 17.—Johnny Wilson, world's middle-weight champion, retained his title in a fifteen-round bout with Mike O'Dowd, former champion, at Madison Square Garden here tonight. At the end of the battle, the judges disagreed and Referee Johnny McAvoy, of Brooklyn, gave his decision in favor of Wilson.

O'Dowd was examined in his dressing room by two club physicians after the bout and they reported that he had been struck in the left groin, which seemed to substantiate O'Dowd's claim that he had been fouled.

SKATING.

Winner to Race McGowan.

Pittsburgh, March 18.—Norvell Baple and Staff, professional ice skaters, will meet here next Friday. The winner will race McGowan at Boston on March 27. Baple and Staff will compete against each other in a 200-yard, 880 yard, one mile and two mile race. If each scores two victories they will skate a 440 yard race to decide the winner.

WRESTLING.

On Fall Evening.

Cleveland, March 18.—Stanislaus Zbyzsko, heavyweight wrestler, threw Joe Vargo of this city here last night in forty minutes and thirty seconds, with a toe hold. Vargo was unable to resume after the first fall.

THE DOG TEAMS OF THE NORTH LAND

Winnipeg, Man., March 18.—The horse or the driver has no chance with the dog team in the northland during the winter season, according to Miss Mary Clendenen, staff writer for the Manitoba Free Press. Dogs are the winter burden bearers of the north. The young men of the towns buy a dog team instead of a team of horses with which to take the girls riding. On the other hand, pioneers at remote posts do not mush the dogs as sport. The dogs are harnessed when it is necessary to make the round of the trap lines; to replenish the larder; to fetch supplies or mail from the nearest post or to make a hurry-up trip for the doctor.

The only wagon roads north of The Pas and vicinity run to Flin Flon mine, about 100 miles, and from Mile 82 on the Hudson Bay railway to Herb Lake, about eighteen miles. Aside from these roads, horses are unknown in the north, and where the horse cannot go the automobile has no chance.

Northern traffic goes by water in summer, and the dogs, for their sins of fighting and howling, are banished to outlying dog camps. They come into their own again each fall at freeze-up, for then passenger, freight and mail service depends on dog power.

The genuine husky is a cross between the big timber wolf of the north and the collie. The first generation of such dogs is of little use for work. Many of the present huskies are generations removed from the original cross by which the type was produced. Many other working dogs show points of the husky, but are not distinguished in the conformation of almost everything doggy.

Pure huskies are known by their sharply pointed ears, the plumelike tails carried well over their backs, the rich, smoky silver of their coats, which are long and silky, and also by their wolfish howling. Such dogs cannot really bark. Some of them weigh 100 pounds, and a load of 100 pounds per dog is not considered excessive. They are fit for work before they are one year old, and are good for the hard trips of several hundred miles with a spin of perhaps sixty miles per day, for almost seven years. After that they may be used at easy hauling for two or three years.

Fifty miles a day is considered good sledding, and 2,000 miles in a winter is a conservative estimate of what a dog at regular work will cover.

There are different dog languages. "Mush," pronounced "mooch," is used for the start, with "gee" and "haw" for right and left; "who" for the stop, and other words too numerous to mention. The Alekutan, Walter Gove, uses a nonchalant conversational tone with his dogs, starting them with a short whistle and "All right."

There are different dog languages. "Mush," pronounced "mooch," is used for the start, with "gee" and "haw" for right and left; "who" for the stop, and other words too numerous to mention. The Alekutan, Walter Gove, uses a nonchalant conversational tone with his dogs, starting them with a short whistle and "All right."

There are different dog languages. "Mush," pronounced "mooch," is used for the start, with "gee" and "haw" for right and left; "who" for the stop, and other words too numerous to mention. The Alekutan, Walter Gove, uses a nonchalant conversational tone with his dogs, starting them with a short whistle and "All right."

There are different dog languages. "Mush," pronounced "mooch," is used for the start, with "gee" and "haw" for right and left; "who" for the stop, and other words too numerous to mention. The Alekutan, Walter Gove, uses a nonchalant conversational tone with his dogs, starting them with a short whistle and "All right."

There are different dog languages. "Mush," pronounced "mooch," is used for the start, with "gee" and "haw" for right and left; "who" for the stop, and other words too numerous to mention. The Alekutan, Walter Gove, uses a nonchalant conversational tone with his dogs, starting them with a short whistle and "All right."

There are different dog languages. "Mush," pronounced "mooch," is used for the start, with "gee" and "haw" for right and left; "who" for the stop, and other words too numerous to mention. The Alekutan, Walter Gove, uses a nonchalant conversational tone with his dogs, starting them with a short whistle and "All right."

There are different dog languages. "Mush," pronounced "mooch," is used for the start, with "gee" and "haw" for right and left; "who" for the stop, and other words too numerous to mention. The Alekutan, Walter Gove, uses a nonchalant conversational tone with his dogs, starting them with a short whistle and "All right."

There are different dog languages. "Mush," pronounced "mooch," is used for the start, with "gee" and "haw" for right and left; "who" for the stop, and other words too numerous to mention. The Alekutan, Walter Gove, uses a nonchalant conversational tone with his dogs, starting them with a short whistle and "All right."

There are different dog languages. "Mush," pronounced "mooch," is used for the start, with "gee" and "haw" for right and left; "who" for the stop, and other words too numerous to mention. The Alekutan, Walter Gove, uses a nonchalant conversational tone with his dogs, starting them with a short whistle and "All right."

There are different dog languages. "Mush," pronounced "mooch," is used for the start, with "gee" and "haw" for right and left; "who" for the stop, and other words too numerous to mention. The Alekutan, Walter Gove, uses a nonchalant conversational tone with his dogs, starting them with a short whistle and "All right."

There are different dog languages. "Mush," pronounced "mooch," is used for the start, with "gee" and "haw" for right and left; "who" for the stop, and other words too numerous to mention. The Alekutan, Walter Gove, uses a nonchalant conversational tone with his dogs, starting them with a short whistle and "All right."

There are different dog languages. "Mush," pronounced "mooch," is used for the start, with "gee" and "haw" for right and left; "who" for the stop, and other words too numerous to mention. The Alekutan, Walter Gove, uses a nonchalant conversational tone with his dogs, starting them with a short whistle and "All right."

There are different dog languages. "Mush," pronounced "mooch," is used for the start, with "gee" and "haw" for right and left; "who" for the stop, and other words too numerous to mention. The Alekutan, Walter Gove, uses a nonchalant conversational tone with his dogs, starting them with a short whistle and "All right."

There are different dog languages. "Mush," pronounced "mooch," is used for the start, with "gee" and "haw" for right and left; "who" for the stop, and other words too numerous to mention. The Alekutan, Walter Gove, uses a nonchalant conversational tone with his dogs, starting them with a short whistle and "All right."

There are different dog languages. "Mush," pronounced "mooch," is used for the start, with "gee" and "haw" for right and left; "who" for the stop, and other words too numerous to mention. The Alekutan, Walter Gove, uses a nonchalant conversational tone with his dogs, starting them with a short whistle and "All right."

There are different dog languages. "Mush," pronounced "mooch," is used for the start, with "gee" and "haw" for right and left; "who" for the stop, and other words too numerous to mention. The Alekutan, Walter Gove, uses a nonchalant conversational tone with his dogs, starting them with a short whistle and "All right."

There are different dog languages. "Mush," pronounced "mooch," is used for the start, with "gee" and "haw" for right and left; "who" for the stop, and other words too numerous to mention. The Alekutan, Walter Gove, uses a nonchalant conversational tone with his dogs, starting them with a short whistle and "All right."

There are different dog languages. "Mush," pronounced "mooch," is used for the start, with "gee" and "haw" for right and left; "who" for the stop, and other words too numerous to mention. The Alekutan, Walter Gove, uses a nonchalant conversational tone with his dogs, starting them with a short whistle and "All right."

There are different dog languages. "Mush," pronounced "mooch," is used for the start, with "gee" and "haw" for right and left; "who" for the stop, and other words too numerous to mention. The Alekutan, Walter Gove, uses a nonchalant conversational tone with his dogs, starting them with a short whistle and "All right."

There are different dog languages. "Mush," pronounced "mooch," is used for the start, with "gee" and "haw" for right and left; "who" for the stop, and other words too numerous to mention. The Alekutan, Walter Gove, uses a nonchalant conversational tone with his dogs, starting them with a short whistle and "All right."

There are different dog languages. "Mush," pronounced "mooch," is used for the start, with "gee" and "haw" for right and left; "who" for the stop, and other words too numerous to mention. The Alekutan, Walter Gove, uses a nonchalant conversational tone with his dogs, starting them with a short whistle and "All right."

There are different dog languages. "Mush," pronounced "mooch," is used for the start, with "gee" and "haw" for right and left; "who" for the stop, and other words too numerous to mention. The Alekutan, Walter Gove, uses a nonchalant conversational tone with his dogs, starting them with a short whistle and "All right."

There are different dog languages. "Mush," pronounced "mooch," is used for the start, with "gee" and "haw" for right and left; "who" for the stop, and other words too numerous to mention. The Alekutan, Walter Gove, uses a nonchalant conversational tone with his dogs, starting them with a short whistle and "All right."

There are different dog languages. "Mush," pronounced "mooch," is used for the start, with "gee" and "haw" for right and left; "who" for the stop, and other words too numerous to mention. The Alekutan, Walter Gove, uses a nonchalant conversational tone with his dogs, starting them with a short whistle and "All right."

There are different dog languages. "Mush," pronounced "mooch," is used for the start, with "gee" and "haw" for right and left; "who" for the stop, and other words too numerous to mention. The Alekutan, Walter Gove, uses a nonchalant conversational tone with his dogs, starting them with a short whistle and "All right."

There are different dog languages. "Mush," pronounced "mooch," is used for the start, with "gee" and "haw" for right and left; "who" for the stop, and other words too numerous to mention. The Alekutan, Walter Gove, uses a nonchalant conversational tone with his dogs, starting them with a short whistle and "All right."

There are different dog languages. "Mush," pronounced "mooch," is used for the start, with "gee" and "haw" for right and left; "who" for the stop, and other words too numerous to mention. The Alekutan, Walter Gove, uses a nonchalant conversational tone with his dogs, starting them with a short whistle and "All right."

There are different dog languages. "Mush," pronounced "mooch," is used for the start, with "gee" and "haw" for right and left; "who" for the stop, and other words too numerous to mention. The Alekutan, Walter Gove, uses a nonchalant conversational tone with his dogs, starting them with a short whistle and "All right."

There are different dog languages. "Mush," pronounced "mooch," is used for the start, with "gee" and "haw" for right and left; "who" for the stop, and other words too numerous to mention. The Alekutan, Walter Gove, uses a nonchalant conversational tone with his dogs, starting them with a short whistle and "All right."

There are different dog languages. "Mush," pronounced "mooch," is used for the start, with "gee" and "haw" for right and left; "who" for the stop, and other words too numerous to mention. The Alekutan, Walter Gove, uses a nonchalant conversational tone with his dogs, starting them with a short whistle and "All right."

There are different dog languages. "Mush," pronounced "mooch," is used for the start, with "gee" and "haw" for right and left; "who" for the stop, and other words too numerous to mention. The Alekutan, Walter Gove, uses a nonchalant conversational tone with his dogs, starting them with a short whistle and "All right."

There are different dog languages. "Mush," pronounced "mooch," is used for the start, with "gee" and "haw" for right and left; "who" for the stop, and other words too numerous to mention. The Alekutan, Walter Gove, uses a nonchalant conversational tone with his dogs, starting them with a short whistle and "All right."

There are different dog languages. "Mush," pronounced "mooch," is used for the start, with "gee" and "haw" for right and left; "who" for the stop, and other words too numerous to mention. The Alekutan, Walter Gove, uses a nonchalant conversational tone with his dogs, starting them with a short whistle and "All right."

There are different dog languages. "Mush," pronounced "mooch," is used for the start, with "gee" and "haw" for right and left; "who" for the stop, and other words too numerous to mention. The Alekutan, Walter Gove, uses a nonchalant conversational tone with his dogs, starting them with a short whistle and "All right."

SEAT SALE NOW GOING ON! IMPERIAL MON. MAR. 21-22

STUART-WHYTE'S NEW MUSICAL COMEDY
THE GIRL FROM NOWHERE
DEVILISH BEAUTIES
GORGEOUS COSTUMES

PRICES: Eve., Orch. $1.50—Fwd at $2.00 BALCONY $1.50, $1.00, 75c

OPERA HOUSE

TOY LING FOO & CO.
In the 1921 Review of Oriental mystery and magic.

GRANT and WALLACE
Versatile entertainers with music and clever gymnastics

MCORMICK and REGAY
In a high class vocal and dancing offering.

MINDELL KINGSTON and GEO. ESNER
In a Snappy Comedy Skit of Merit.

BRITT and MACE
In comedy singing, chat and dancing.

Serial Drama
Interesting Drama of BRIDE 13

QUEEN SQUARE THEATRE

See, Today, the Final Chapter of
"RUTH OF THE ROCKIES"
—Also—
SHIRLEY MASON in
"THE LITTLE WANDERER"
The Romance of a Girl from Nowhere.

COMING—Marshall Neilan's "GO AND GET IT"

UNIQUE TODAY

A Western Picture that is a Winner.
Big Crowds Yesterday.
"TOM MIX" in "THE TEXAN"
A Thrilling Tale of the Southwest.

Also—
"BRINGING UP FATHER"
COMING MONDAY:
MAY MARSH in THE LITTLE 'FRID LADY

EMPRESS THEATRE, West End

MARIE WALCAMP in "THE DRAGON'S NET"
Episode 11 of this Wonder Serial.

"THE FOREST RUNNERS"
Another one of those corking Canadian Northwest Mounted Police Stories.

A good two-reel comedy and MUTT AND JEFF complete this bill.

MATINEE SATURDAY—2 p. m.

CALL FOR TENDERS FOR DOUGLAS AVE.

At a meeting of the common council held yesterday afternoon, the report of the committee of the whole was adopted. The mayor reported that the German machine guns had arrived in the city and were in the exhibition building. Commissioner Thornton reported that some owners of electric signs neglected to keep them lighted until eleven o'clock at night, according to agreement. He was asked to report the names of the offenders.

On motion it was decided to call for public tenders for the pavement of Douglas avenue.

Commissioners Thornton and Bullock, committee on the matter of protection at the west side docks, reported that it had been decided that the steamship people have control of the sheds while their steamers were at the berths; to permit them to eject anyone who could not account for his presence there, and to allow them to close the sheds while the ship was not working. The report was adopted and a copy ordered sent to the joint committee which brought the matter before the council.

It was decided to ask the provincial government to allow the Canada Lock Joint Pipe Co. to transport material for the Spruce Lake main over the road before the thaw precautions are removed.

DOCTORS THREATEN STRIKE
Graz, Austria, Feb. 17.—(Associated Press by mail).—Wearied by the endless strikes of all classes of working people, many of them political and nearly all on trivial grounds, the Styrian Physicians Association has formally declared they will make reprisal. In event of a wanton strike involving communications or traffic in any way endangering the public health and comfort, they threaten to strike and refuse to visit or prescribe for the sick.

MULLHOLLAND, THE HATTER
Direct Importer of English, American, Italian and Canadian High Grade Hats and Caps. Also up-to-date line of Men's Furnishings, Raincoats, Umbrellas, Trousers, Union Made Overalls, Trunks, Club Bags and Suit Cases, etc. Lowest prices in town for high grade goods.

Mullholland Look for Electric Signs. Phone 3026. Store Open Evenings. 7 WATERLOO ST. (Near Union St.)

Mary Miles Minter, Milton Sills, Theodore Roberts and Larry Semon

IMPERIAL—"SWEET LAVENDER"

By Sir Arthur Wing Pinero, British Author
MARY MILES MINTER

Supported by a Notable Cast, Including Handsome Milton Sills, Theodore Roberts and Others

Sweet appealing, wholesome love and romance. Will make you feel aglow with tenderness and sheer delight!

LARRY SEMON
In Vitaphone Rural Riot

"THE HICK"

The Poetry of Farm Life as Viewed by a Nut

Concert Orchestra The Usual Prices A Perfect Programme

FRIDAY—PALACE—SATURDAY

HERE AT LAST NORMA TALMADGE in HERE AT LAST

</