

H. B. CLARK IS ARRESTED IN NEW YORK

Former Manager of Bank of New Brunswick Branch Here

GOING TO EUROPE

Detectives Have Been After Him—Tells Police He Knows Nothing Except That Bank Was Swindled

(From The Telegraph.) New York, Oct. 23.—After eluding the police and private detectives since last June, when he avoided arrest at Astbury Park by jumping on a train a few minutes before the detectives arrived, and after he had shipped his trunk preparatory to leaving for Europe on a North German Lloyd steamer this morning, Harry B. Clark was taken into custody last night at 130th street and Lenox avenue.

Technically he is charged with being a suspicious person, but in reality he is wanted by the police of St. John (N. B.) to tell what he may know as to how the Bank of New Brunswick of that place was swindled out of $85,000. Clark was manager of the bank up to June last, when the alleged swindle occurred, after which he disappeared. Two men who are alleged to have been parties to the game are now in jail in Montreal, and it is said Clark is wanted to testify against them.

Several times since he disappeared in June last the police have had Clark, who was also known as Carleton, almost within their reach, but he always managed to elude them just as they were about to lock him up.

This was the case at Astbury Park, where Clark arrived soon after he disappeared from the New Brunswick city, and spent a considerable part of the summer. While the facts will not be produced until the trial—if there is one—the city has heard many stories in connection with the affair. In the first place if the Bank of New Brunswick should suffer any loss it would meet what would be only a trifling one for it is one of the most solid institutions in the country, and even the total amount involved could not be regarded as serious from the bank's standpoint.

It has been said that some persons took to the branch bank in Charlotte street certain bonds and left them with Clark who, in course of time, and without the knowledge or authority of his superiors, took them to a local broker and hypothecated them for the sum of $27,000.

It has been reported—with what truth may appear later, one that in order to hypothecate to this amount he gave the broker a letter purporting to bind the bank of New Brunswick to meet the obligation any time the broker wanted the money.

A further story in connection with the matter is that later he contrived to cash a certified check for $1,000, the broker understanding that the bank's guarantee was behind the check. It is intimated of course that Clark in these matters acted in his individual capacity only, and he received the bank on the one hand and the broker on the other.

These stories, to be sure, must be regarded merely as reports until the facts come out in court, as they may do. At all events court records show that Clark is a man of considerable means, and that he has been in the habit of cashing checks payable to Harry Carleton, the name in which the ticket had been hypothecated. Also had several letters, one of "Dear Papa and Mama," which were addressed. Others were addressed to Gertrude Sherman, Susan (N. B.), one to Gordon B. McKay; one to Mrs. H. B. Clark, both of Sussex, and another to E. Clark, at a town in Prince Edward Island.

An undressed letter contained the following sentence: "The Pinkertons have made a punk job of this, and I guess they are tired of the chase I have given them." Clark had on him receipts for two trunks which had already been sent to the steamer, and the detectives hurried to the pier to Hoboken last night to get the trunks before they were put in the hold.

Clark Knows Nothing. At the police station Clark was questioned for two hours as to the swindling of the bank, but he said he could shed any light on the affair, and knew nothing except that the bank had been swindled.

The police version of the swindle is that three men borrowed from the bank through Clark, $35,000, on the name of a corporation which were found afterwards to be valueless.

Henry B. Clark, referred to in the foregoing despatch, was manager of the Bank of New Brunswick's Charlotte street branch up to a few months ago when he disappeared, and it became known that he was financially involved.

It is said that the Pinkertons, acting for the bank, have been in close touch with his movements since he went away, and some say, detectives acting for the bank were thought to be able to put their hands on Clark whenever the signal might be given from St. John. While the above despatch mentions the amount in litigation as $55,000, it has been understood here that it was only $37,000.

The management of the Bank of New Brunswick and its counsel were both eager when asked about the matter by The Telegraph last evening, though both had had word of the arrest from New York, and

TEACHER CURED OF BARBER'S ITCH

Tells of Cures Among His Pupils That Were Remarkable—Raw, Inflamed, Itching Skin is Soothed and Healed by Dr. Chase's Ointment

Barber's Itch is a form of Ringworm, which, when once started, is most annoying and unsightly, and most difficult to cure. Barbers often refuse to shave any one having this disease for fear of passing it on to other customers.

But you can cure Barber's Itch and keep the skin wonderfully soft and healthy by applying Dr. Chase's Ointment. Just apply this healing power to the affected parts.

Mr. Chase writes: "Two years ago while teaching at Shipshaw I contracted Barber's Itch. A friend told me of Dr. Chase's Ointment and I bought a tin. When I went for a box I thought it dear, but when I found how good it was I thought it cheap."

"Not only was I cured by that ointment, but it also cured two of my pupils, and of this one, a girl, had a running sore on the chin, which the doctor had tried in vain to cure. The girl had a sore on the chin, water running out of it all the time. I can certify to the cure of these cases."

Wherever there is itching skin or a sore that refuses to heal you can apply Dr. Chase's Ointment with positive assurance that the results will be entirely satisfactory. The soothing, healing power of this ointment is truly wonderful. Get a box, at all dealers, or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.
