St. Pats Win Arena Game

The Toronto St. Pats defeated the All Stars in the arena last evening by a score of 11 to 4. Owing to the storm only a small number of fans were in attendance, but those present were given an idea of what the former N. H. A. champions could do if they were forced, or if there was anything at stake. The St. Pats, started with a rush and the first period ended 6 to 0 in their favor. They demonstrated wonderful shooting ability and a defense which was practically impenetrable as well as a number of new stick and body checks. As far as a game was concerned it was devoid of any thrills although there were a few bright spots now and then. The work of "Red" Stuart of Amherst, one of the defense players for the St. Pats, was a feature. He is one of the best defense men now in the game and in addition is exceptionally fast on his skates besides being a clever and dangerous shooter. Andrews in centre also played well, while Roach in goal showed up well when the occasion required. The All-Stars made a very good showing but could hardly be expected to hold the N. H. A. stars.

The line-up follows:
St. Pats. Goal All-Stars.
Roach ..... Kirby
Defence
Arbours ..... Nolan
Stuart ..... Cook
Andrews ..... Ingram
Wings
Randall ..... Jackson
Arbours ..... Lowther
Reserves
Scott ..... Doncaster

Second period: 7, All-Stars, Jackson, 5 mins.; 8, St. Pats, Arbours, 3 mins.; 9, St. Pats, Randall, 2 mins.; 10, All-Stars, Lowther, 6 mins. Third period: 11, All-Stars, Jackson, 7 mins.; 12, St. Pats, Stuart, 2; 13, All-Stars, Cook, 2; 14, St. Pats, Stuart, 5; 15, St. Pats, Arbours, 1.

BUFFALO BILL LIVES AGAIN ;

HIS EXPLOITS ON SCREEN

Famous Indian Fighter Portrayed in Films

IMPERIAL'S NEW SERIAL

Events of The Buckskin Era Are Vividly Depicted

The small boy of today has at last come into his own. Thanks to the enterprise of Imperial Theatre.

"Buffalo Bill," the picturesque scout and Indian fighter whose adventures and person appearances thrilled the youngsters of a generation ago, will again dash by on his favorite horse, his long locks billowed on the breeze and his celebrated rifle spitting death to hostile Redskins and wild animals.

It will not be the real Buffalo Bill, for that quaint character now sleeps the long sleep, high on a Western mountain, overlooking the broad expanse where once he roamed and rode.

Yet, fashioned in the mold of Col. William F. Cody as he was during the vigorous days when he earned his name as the champion buffalo hunter of the plains, the screen has recently given to the youngsters of today and tomorrow, a re-incarnation of the famous scout.

When Caesar could a boy want especially the boy of today, who just missed by a few years seeing Buffalo Bill himself, in the midst of his stirring, overwhelming wild west show of Indians, stage-coaches and troopers?

It is understood that great pains have been taken in the reproduction for the screen of the adventures and exploits of Buffalo Bill. A true son of the plains who had traveled several years with Col. Cody's Wild West Show, was chosen to play the role of the celebrated scout.

The picture, which is called "In the Days of Buffalo Bill" is said to concentrate upon the vigorous days between 1892 and 1899, which saw Buffalo Bill first as a pony express rider, then as a Union cavalry trooper, later as a guard and buffalo hunter for the Union.

Pacific railroad, at that time nosing its way across the plains, and finally as a scout and Indian fighter for the troops guarding the frontier.

These scenes depict Buffalo Bill at his best, performing the deeds and living the experiences which he, himself, later made popular throughout the civilized world with his famous show.

"The greatest thing Buffalo Bill ever did," wrote Chauncey Thomas, describing his last interview with the scout, "and a thing which few men throughout the ages have ever equalled, was to give a new game to the children of the world. In that, his fame will probably outlive Caesar's, for when Caesar and Napoleon have faded into oblivion, Buffalo Bill will have become a legendary hero, known in the literature and the legends and to the children's game of civilizations yet to come."

"At one time Cinderella, Sinbad, Robinson Crusoe, Friday, and their kind, undoubtedly lived in the flesh, but so long ago that the memory of man runneth not to the contrary. What Robin Hood was to England, and Napoleon was to France, Buffalo Bill will probably be to America."

"Buffalo Bill took the American frontier around the world. London, Paris, Berlin, people by the million the earth around saw with their own eyes, not an imitation, not a mere stage or a puppet, but the real thing. Here, before their own eyes, were the actual men, red and white, who rode the Western plains of America."

This New Serial Starts on Friday, March 23, With Two Chapters—4 Reels

TOLD HIM TO GO TO "L."
(Boston Herald.)

President A. Lawrence Lowell of Harvard University returned from England on the Cunarder Andania yesterday and was confronted by vexatious delay at the pier because longshoremen refused to work during the supper hour, between 5 and 6 p. m. unless granted overtime. This was refused by the steamship officials. The liner therefore was delayed by clerks, who handled the heavy hawsers as best they could.

President Lowell was among the first of the 630 passengers to step ashore and, when he was advised of the situation located one of his trunks and dragged it yeoman fashion well across the shed. A few minutes later the head of the great college sought out a customs inspector with the question: "Where will I find my baggage?"

"What's your name?" asked the inspector.

"Lowell!"

"Then go to L for your baggage," came the reply.

President Lowell glanced sharply at the inspector, who now was directing another passenger. A smile overspread the educator's face as he sauntered over to the section designated by a big black "L."
