PRAYED DAILY FOR KAISER AND ARMY

South American in the Toils in Guelph, Ont.; Fined and Ordered Deported

Guelph, Ont., April 12—Santiago Abila, a resident of South America, a student of the Ontario Agricultural College since last September, was arrested this week by Inspector Reynolds of the immigration department, and yesterday was fined $100 and costs or two and a half years in the penitentiary, and ordered deported to his own country, after he pleaded guilty to writing a letter to a friend in Colombia which contained matter objectionable under the war measures act. The letter was written in Spanish, and was intercepted by the dominion censor. Part of it read: "In relation to the war, if I am not mistaken, you are pro-ally. I respect your inclination, but I am becoming more pro-German daily, and every morning I pray for the Kaiser and his army. What I regret most is not being able to celebrate the German victories as we used to in San Bartolome, with the addition of a little pill of rice or one or two cigarettes." In referring to the Americans, the letter stated that they were playing the scab and hoping the others will pull the chestnuts out of the fire for them. The prisoner had enough money to pay his fine, and is now being held, pending arrangements for his deportation.

ARE UNANIMOUSLY FOR COMMISSION

Board of Trade Council Takes Stand on Harbor Matter

At a meeting of the council of the Board of Trade this morning, the council went on record as unanimously in favor of harbor commission. They also expressed a desire to assist in bringing it about and are waiting for the action of the city council at their next meeting. They also endorsed a recommendation of the Charlottetown board of trade for the broadening of the gauge of the P. E. I. railway.

The secretary was authorized to take up with other Canadian boards of trade the question of West India service through the ports of St. John and Halifax. One member of the council spoke strongly against the action of the food board in allowing bakers to sell bread without wrappers. He pointed out how unsanitary this was and said he felt that the people should be protected. It was decided to seek more information after which the matter will be taken up with the food board.

UNITONISTS OF ULSTER HELD TO OBJECTION

(Continued from page 1.) The Ulster Unionist delegates remained in the convention only in the hope that some form of home rule would be proposed which might modify the determination of those whom they represented to have neither lot nor part in an Irish parliament. The Nationalists strove to win them by concessions, but they were unable to accept any scheme discussed, and the plan they presented was confined to the exclusion of their whole province.

Lord Middleton brought forward a suggestion which looked like a workable compromise. It accepted self-government. In return for the special minority representation in the Irish parliament which already had been conceded by the Nationalists it offered to that parliament complete power of internal legislation and the administration of direct taxation and excise, but insisted upon permanent reservation to the imperial parliament of the power to fix customs duties.

THE WAR NEWS OF TODAY IN NUTSHELL

With the British hanging grimly on to the great bulk of Messines Ridge, their bulwark in Flanders, the Germans to the south are pushing their wedge deeper into the British lines northeast and north of Bethune, one of the British advanced bases. The point of this wedge was driven last night farther along the Lye Canal to Merville, two miles west of Lestrum, which the British held up to yesterday. The salient was extended also slightly to the north near its tip to the vicinity of Neuf Berquin, two miles northwest of Estaires, another point where the British had been making a stand.

The Germans today were continuing what appeared to be their heaviest pressure in this region, and had made some progress when the noon official report was issued in London. The southerly side of the salient, as it runs southeast toward Givenchy, is being strongly held by the British. They were standing firm today at Loken, three miles northeast of Bethune, and along the line northwest to the Merville region.

Reuter's Headquarters at the front reports that in brilliant rushing the battle is continuing with fierceness, which has scarcely flagged since the beginning. The Germans are throwing in their reserves in the same prodigal manner as in the opening days of the offensive.

"Come What May They Will Not Break Through"

The present struggle on the Western front is known to the German people as "The Kaiser's Battle," according to the Washington Herald, and for this reason the higher powers realize that "it would hardly do to allow the Kaiser's name to be associated with a colossal military failure—as it would be if the present struggle were allowed to rest where it no stands." And so German legions desperately fight on in the hope of winning a decision. That their hopes are futile is the firm conviction of the Allied armies as evidenced by Premier Clemenceau's assertion that "come what may they will not break through," and the assurance of General Foch that "most glorious hopes are permissible." To these assurances is added the statement of Lloyd George that "the French and British are buoyed with the knowledge that the great Republic of the West will neglect no effort which can hasten its troops and its ships to Europe."

Read in THE LITERARY DIGEST this week—April 13th issue—a sweeping review of the great struggle raging on the Western front, showing it from every angle.
