

GSA eyes library

by Brent Kostyniuk

The new extended library are a waste of money, says Mills, library committee representative. Speaking at a GSA council meeting Tuesday, Mills said the increase could have been put to use in other areas of library development. Mills fought the increase because there are books lying in back rooms without enough staff to place them on the shelves.

The hours of operation at U of A libraries are presently longer than hours at most Canadian universities and in some cases substantially longer. Mills claimed the Zoeteman executive pushed for the longer hours in order to fulfill a campaign promise.

An informal survey by Mills found the libraries receive little usage during the late evening hours, particularly on weekends. These are the times which have been expanded.

In other GSA business, approval was given to the preliminary report for the renovations to the old power plant. The report must now be approved by the Campus Development Committee and the Building Development Committee. It will then become the basis for a detailed $25,000 report.

The old power plant will be used jointly by the Department of Art and Design, the University Physical Plant and the GSA.

Long list for SU

item list by Students' Union president Len Zoeteman shall with in the remainder of the university term was delivered to Students' Council Monday.

Zoeteman declined to assign priority to any of the items on the list saying all of them were important and all would be dealt before council.

Many of the items deal with campus policy for clubs, organizations and SU organizations such as Student and the Housing Registry. Item calls for "complete revision of the constitution for purposes of clarification and elimination of redundancy."

Other notable items are: —preparation of a primary budget.

—hiring a person for the newly-created Student Advocate position.

—development of a course to be published in 1978.

—examination of present grading system, with possible recommendation for a 15-point system to replace the present one.

—development of an exam library (a collection of old exams), possibly located in SUB.

—an attempt to increase communication between Students' Council and faculty associations, and with increased responsibility for council members.

—a proposal to replace election of student representatives to the General Faculties Council (GFC) by committee to an annual two-year term of office.
