"Every morning, for over 20 years, I never went to the toilet without fear and trembling, and I never left it without having suffered agonizing and Fred, and Lill, and Sadie, and tortures. Many days I did not dare go at all, so much did I dread the terrible ordeal.'

These are the exact words of a sufferer from piles, and we hear the same thing almost every day. It voices the sentiments of hundreds of thousands of others in this country to-day, for it is estimated that of every ten persons we meet in church, the street, or the theatre, seven are affected with piles.

Martyrs, and needless martyrs, too, for since the discovery of the marvelous Pyramid Pile Cure no one need suffer one moment longer. There is now no excuse for having piles, and if you continue to suffer from them you do not deserve a particle of sympathy, considering the chance we give you to prove it to your own satisfaction wholly free of cost to you.

Here is a typical case: Mr. Benjamin Shaw, Postmaster of Bland, New Mexico. He had suffered from aggravated piles for years, and was upon the eve of a serious surgical operation, believing that he had reached the limit, and that the operation offered the only possible means of relief and cure. Let us quote his own words in his letter of Oct. 31, 1905: "I was in great agony of mind and body. In the meantime, a gentleman told me of the virtue of your Pyramid remedy, I fortunately found it at a drug store, and by the next morning I did not feel that an operation was necessary, and in three days I was able to return home, and a complete cure was accomplished to my great satisfaction and the surprise of the physician." Send to-day to the Pyramid Drug Company, 2272 Pyramid Building, Marshall, Mich., and get a sample package by return mail and then go to your druggist and get a box, the price of which is 50 cts., and get well without pain, trouble, or cutting.

who goes to Sunday School. I have heard say that at Sunday School the children learn to be kind to everybody and to everything; so we will watch next Sunday, and see what children go to church; and then on Monday morning we will build near the home of one of these."

So that night, and the next, Mr. and Mrs. Sparrow slept under the leaves of a low-growing bush.

"It won't hurt us to go a night or two without a home," they said. Sample Package Free so that We "since we are to have a Sunday School boy or girl for a neighbour when we do build." .

> When Sunday came, a shower came also; but, for all that, Johnnie, oh, so many boys and girls put on their waterproofs, and took their umbrellas, and started off to Sunday School.

> "Now, we know who the good chiluren are,"" said Mrs. Sparrow. "If tnese boys and girls love their Sunday School so much that the rain will not keep them away from it, they will love us birds, too, and won't try to hurt us."

So the next morning Mr. and Mrs. Sparrow built in the yard of Johnnie's home; and when Johnnie's Sunday School class met there for a birthday party, there was a whole nestful of little sparrows for them to look at; and Mamma and Papa Sparrow were not at all afraid to have them come near their babies .- Alice May Douglas.

A GIRL'S EDUCATION.

Sometimes it happens that a woman is practically compelled to play a man's part and perform a man's labour in the world; and when she does it well we honour her. But this is not her normal function; it is an exception, a dislocation of destiny. In her natural sphere we would not have her walk like a grenadier, nor shout like a sea captain. There is no more perfect heroine in Shakespeare's plays than Cordelia; and of her it is said that

"Her voice was ever soft, gentle and low, an excellent thing in woman."

'Tis an old-fashioned commendadation, I know, but it has not yet lost its charm; and it is symbolical of other points of womanly excellence in the body-quiet and refined charms which we would be loath to exchange for a superficial and not particularly useful mannishness.

quickening of the imagination, so that they shall be able to comprehend more clearly and to sympathize more deeply. "The advantage of study, I suspect," wrote James Russell Lowell to a young woman for whom he felt a warm affection, "is not in the number of things we learn by it, but simply that it teaches us the one tuing worth knowing-not what, but how to tmink." That is true for boys, but it is even more emphatically and importantly true for girls.

They are not going to be inventors, or discoverers, or lawyers, or philosophers, or chemists, or theologians -at least not in the majority of cases. They are going to be women; and that means that they will have a special need and use for the power of thinking in companionship. The man who is intellectual, who has some hard work of brain to do, or who is engaged with some knotty problem of knowledge, does not want

There is room for the same kind of discrimination, if I mistake not, in the intellectual education of a girl. Her mind is as good as the boy's mind, but there is usually a certain difference in the fibre, which suggests a possible variation in the way of working it, and in the distinctive purpose of its development.
