The death of the Czar of Russia after an illness of little more than a month's duration, removes the mightiest autocrat on earth. Alexander was "Emperor of all the Russias." The territory under his rule embraced one-sixth of the surface of the globe, and contains over one hundred and ten millions of people. He was one of the greatest of the Romanoff family that has reigned since the dynasty was founded in 1613. Born in 1845 he came to the throne in 1881, in consequence of the assassination of his father by nihilist conspirators. He was studious, a young man, and when obliged to assume the reins of power he was qualified to fill a post as responsible and so difficult. During the thirteen years of his reign Russia has made wonderful strides in the extension of commerce and in the quieting of domestic discord. She has attained a position of great influence among the first powers of the world. On the other hand it remains for a more enlightened age to witness the removal of cruelities against prisoners of her population and to repeal the awful severities of Siberia.

The Provincial papers are still grinding away at the late exhibition at Halifax, and the main point at issue now appears to be in regard to the best place for holding such shows. To argue the question understandingly requires a knowledge of the object sought in holding provincial exhibitions. If the principle aim is to have a successful dog show, or to afford a breeding firm a good opportunity for advertising, there is no doubt but that the object can best be accomplished at Halifax. If a sham fight or naval review is a necessary adjunct of an agricultural and industrial show, the metropolitan is undoubtedly the best place in the province to hold such an exhibition. But if the object is to obtain the fullest possible representation of the agricultural products of the Province, the end can best be attained by holding the exhibitions in agricultural centres.

—Parish Leader.

The frequency of burglaries of late in different parts of the province, and the apparent inability of the authorities to hunt down the desperadoes, is not the most encouraging sign of our times. When the arm of the law is shortened that it cannot punish our vicious classes are emboldened to multiply their misdeeds.

The City of Hamilton Stirred Up.

An Interesting and Well-known Lad Taken Home from St. Joseph's Hospital to Die.

The Whole Staff of Physicians and Trained Nurses Declared His Case to be a Hopeless One.

At the Point of Death, Paine's Celery Compound Cures Him.

One of the Most Desperate Cases Ever known—Limbs and Body Swollen—An Unconquerable Piece of Humanity—The Boy's Body is Tapped and Two Gallons of Water Taken Away—After Medical Skill Failed, Paine's Celery Compound Works Miraculously—All Statements Vouched for by Geo. LeRiche, Esq., late of J. Wiser & Co., and David Morton, Esq., Superintendent of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church Sunday School.

Young Aleck McIntosh, interesting, bright and good-looking, is a lad in his teens, and resides with his parents at No. 107 Catherine Street south, Hamilton, Ont. The members of the family are well and favorably known, and attend St. Paul's Presbyterian church, of which Rev. R. J. Laidlaw, LL.D., is pastor.

Some months ago, to the great grief and consternation of Mr. and Mrs. McIntosh, their son Aleck was stricken down with a terrible swelling of the limbs and throat. Notwithstanding the fact that the boy was under the care of an able and experienced doctor, his condition continued to grow worse.

A consultation was held by three of the leading physicians of the city, and the result was that Aleck was sent to the hospital, where he might have all the advantages of medical skill, and the constant attention of trained nurses.

At the end of four weeks, Aleck's condition was more alarming than ever, and his parents were assured that there was no possible chance of recovery for their dear boy. He lay on his hospital bed perfectly helpless, and so swollen from head to foot that he was unrecognizable.

The sorrowing parents, feeling that there was no hope, and that the hand of death had securely grasped their loved one, wished to have him taken from the hospital, those in charge expressed sorrow that nothing more could be done for the dying lad.

While at home, and at the point of death, a kind neighbor called to see him. A thought—a revelation—came to her mind. A joyous hope filled her motherly heart as she gazed on the dying boy, and witnessed the intense grief of the parents. She remembered having herself used in an extreme case of throat trouble, a medicine called Paine's Celery Compound. Would it meet this case where he vital sparks were almost extinguished? Yes, she had faith that it would. The use of Paine's Celery Compound was suggested to the parents.

"Ah! yes, try it—anything—if dear Aleck's life can be saved!"

The wonderful Compound was immediately procured and properly administered. The first dose produced results that gave the parents hope. There was a virtue in this medicine that no other remedy ever contained. The boy lived, and the medicine was continued from day to day with results that gave joy and gladness. By the time the fourth bottle was finished young Aleck McIntosh was well, and all his troubles banished. To-day he is as strong and robust as any boy of his age in the city.

All the physicians look upon the cure as a marvelous one, and the whole staff of St. Joseph's Hospital rejoice at the lad's restoration to health.

Scores of Hamilton's best people can vouch for every statement made in connection with this unparalleled case. The statements made by Mr. and Mrs. J. McIntosh, the boy's parents, are able supported by two Hamilton's leading business men. Such sterling proof of the value of Paine's Celery Compound, should strongly convince every sufferer, and all who have suffering and distressed friends, that there is no other medicine.

Unsubstantiated as our council may have been at the time of their election they are undoubtedly fast learning the ways of legislation. The manner in which the petition re Scott Act Inspector was shelved at their last meeting shows this to be the case. Their action amounted to an utter disregard of the wishes of the ratepayers. Perhaps it might be well when the term of the present council is up, to consider the matter of filling their places with men who will be more willing to consider the wishes of their constituents.
