

A Mystery Cake

Can you name it?

Here is another new Royal Cake, so delicious and appetizing that we have been unable to give it a name that does justice to its unusual qualities. It can be made just right only with Royal Baking Powder. Will you make it and name it?

$500 for the Best Names

For the name selected as best, we will pay $250. For the second, third, fourth, and fifth choice, we will pay $100, $75, $50, and $25 respectively.

Anyone may enter the contest, but only one name from each person will be considered.

All names must be received by December 15th, 1921. In case of ties, the full amount of the prize will be given to each tying contestant. Do not send your cake. Simply send the name you suggest, with your own name and address, to the

ROYAL BAKING POWDER COMPANY
155 William Street, New York

How to make it

Use level measurements for all materials

1/2 cup shortening
1 1/2 cups sugar
Grated rind of 1/2 orange
1 egg and 1 yolk
2 1/2 cups flour
4 teaspoons Royal Baking Powder
1 cup milk
1 1/2 squares (1 1/2 oz.) of unsweetened chocolate (melted)
1/4 teaspoon salt

Cream shortening. Add sugar and grated orange rind. Add beaten egg yolks. Sift together flour, salt and Royal Baking Powder and add alternately with the milk, beating in one beaten egg white. Divide batter into two parts. To one part add the chocolate. Put by table-spoonfuls, alternating dark and light batter, into three greased layer cake pans. Bake in moderate oven 20 minutes.

FILLING AND ICING

3 tablespoons melted butter
3 cups confectioner's sugar
1 egg and 1 yolk
2 squares (2 oz.) unsweetened chocolate
Grated rind of 1/2 orange and pulp of 1 orange

Put butter, sugar, orange juice and rind into bowl. Cut pulp from orange, removing skin and seeds, and add. Beat all together until smooth. Fold in beaten egg white. Spread this icing on layer used for top of cake. While icing is soft, sprinkle with unsweetened chocolate shaved in fine pieces with sharp knife (use 1/2 square). To remaining icing add 2 1/2 squares unsweetened chocolate which has been melted. Spread this thickly between layers and on sides of cake.

LLOYD GEORGE WAS SUSTAINED

London, Nov. 7.—The Government obtained its expected mandate from the House of Commons to-night to proceed with the Irish negotiations. The Unionist motion, censuring the Government for initiating the Irish negotiations was voted down, 539 to 43. The Premier said the position of the Ulster Parliament was intolerable, and unless something happened in the next few days to put the position right under the Government of Ireland Act, a short bill would be introduced to remedy the position. As to the Irish negotiations, the Prime Minister assured the House that no agreement was possible without the sanction of the Imperial Parliament. Lloyd George said he had received guarantees that no arms would be imported into Ireland during the truce "I cannot conceal from the House", said the Premier, in alluding to the effort at an Irish settlement, the possibility that I may have to make the grim announcement that it is impossible to settle without danger and dishonor". He said that if the conference broke down the "first thing the Government would have to do would be to ask the House considerably to strengthen the force of the Crown".

One who has made a success in life makes the best kind of a representative. Consider McCurdy's career as a business success and you have your man.

"If the security of this country is menaced", said the Prime Minister, "If the throne is repudiated, if this Empire is to be mutilated and Ireland established as an alien country on most vulnerable flank, free to make any arrangements with the enemies of this country, free to make war on our commerce; if Ireland walks off with her freedom, leaving Britain staggering alone under the burdens thrown upon her for benefits which every Irishman in the world is sharing today, whether in this country, the dominions or the United States, if arrangements are insisted upon which will mean civil war between Catholic and Protestant, then Britain, I feel confident, will make the necessary sacrifices to face the necessary risk and avert such evils".

In moving the vote of censure, Col. John Grettton, Unionist, Rutland, addressed the House after the Speaker had ruled out of order an amendment by Lord Robert Cecil, deploring the policy of the Government in the last three years, but declaring that the severing of the negotiations at the present stage would add dangers and difficulties to the situation. Col. Grettton attacked Sinn Fein and criticized Lloyd George's course.

The motion was seconded by Rupert S. Gwynne. Arthur Henderson, in behalf of the Laborites, explained that that party favored the negotiations, although opposing what he termed the previous policy of repression and retaliation.

Mr. Asquith supported the Government, but deprecated the suggestion that renewal of fighting was the only alternative if the conference failed.

Good News For BRONCHITIS Sufferers

FAMOUS DOCTOR ENDORSES PEPS

"Peps are exceptionally suited for the treatment of bronchial ailments; their peculiar composition, their direct influence on the membranes of the bronchi, and their freedom from risky narcotics, being among their many praiseworthy points."

Dr. GORDON STABLES.

These chilly wet November days, when the old bronchial cough shows signs of return, and the chest feels raw and tender, it is important to have handy a box of Peps. They treat chest trouble in the only direct scientific way.

You breathe the Peps medicine, and it penetrates where ordinary medicines cannot. As Peps tablets dissolve in the mouth, the sufferer inhales with every breath rich balsamic pine essences with other volatile medicines. This air-like Peps medicine carries comfort and healing into the chest; it soothes the sore inflamed air-tubes; it frees the breathing; loosens phlegm; allays the cough, and relieves the painful tight feeling around the lungs.

Peps are the safest and most valuable remedy ever discovered for throat and chest. With them you can defy coughs and colds, chills and other throat and chest troubles. 50c. box, all dealers.

THE REMEDY YOU BREATHE

NOVA SCOTIA WILL LOSE ANOTHER MEMBER

But Quebec's Growth Is Not as Large as Expected and West also is Disappointing.

Ottawa, Nov. 7.—Quebec's immoderate hopes as to total population are doomed to disappointment. Instead of the 2,500,000 confidently anticipated by Quebecers it appears almost certain now that the results of the Census will show that Province to have somewhere between 2,300,000 and 2,350,000 people.

This is of tremendous electoral significance to the rest of Canada. It means that the unit of representation in the House of Commons will be between 35,000 and 36,000 instead of the 38,461 which has been accepted hitherto on the basis of Quebec's expectations. The Province had 2,032,000 in 1911, and the unit of representation was about 30,000, which gave Ontario 82 seats. Nova Scotia 16, Prince Edward Island 4, New Brunswick 11, Manitoba 15, Saskatchewan 16, Alberta 12, British Columbia 13, Yukon 1, and Quebec, as always 65.

It was believed that 38,461 would be the basis, and that Ontario would lose eight seats. Now late though partial and unofficial information makes it apparent that Ontario will probably lose not more than four seats. On the new basis Nova Scotia will have 15 seats instead of 16. New Brunswick will probably retain the 11 seats she now has, and Prince Edward Island will continue to have four seats. That will mean a total of 173 seats for the Provinces east of Manitoba, a loss of five seats.

The West will gain proportionately, but not nearly to the extent expected by Westerners. British Columbia especially, which expects the census to show a population of 600,000 is doomed to disappointment. The population, so far as known, is as follows:

Announced.

Nova Scotia 524,579
New Brunswick 388,093
Prince Edward Island 88,536
A total of 1,001,207 for the Maritime Provinces.

2,500,000 FOR THE WEST

The census Bureau will not give an estimate, or any indications of the population of the other Provinces, but a rough-and-ready estimate may be made up from various announcements already made of urban population and unofficial advices received from various parts of Canada of what has leaked out here and there of the local results attained.

One might make a fair guess for Ontario and Quebec as follows: Quebec, about 2,350,000 Ontario, about 2,700,000, or in all, 6,060,207 for Eastern Canada, leaving considerably less than 2,500,000 for the three Prairie Provinces, British Columbia and the Yukon.

At the most, there could be an increase of 13 seats only for Canada west of Ontario, which would give a House of Commons of 242 members, and it will probably be three or four less.

The first complete announcement for Canada, though not final, will come in November. Quebec's results will be known as soon as the bureau locates the results of one riding, which has gone astray.

Success in Retailing

An essential factor in achieving success in a retail business is ADVERTISING—telling the buyers of your community what you have for them.

One doesn't need to be exceptionally clever or a genius to be a success, but one must have an aim, and pursue it resolutely and intelligently.

The businesses that are prospering and expanding are those that purposefully seek out new customers and place before both old and new customers the news of their service, in the form of Newspaper Advertising.

A WORD TO THE PUBLIC

Who serve you best—busy or half-busy men? busy or half-busy shops? Where is your custom most desired and appreciated? Is it not at those shops which stretch out the hand of welcome and invitation—in the form of advertisements in THE UNION ADVOCATE?
