Majesty, entitled, "An Act respecting tions and regulations, the fishing for and taking of Lobsters within any District that "All Orders made, and all alterations or revocations of Orders made under this Act, shall be published in

in pursuance of this Act, may be prosecuted, and all fines under this Act or any such Order, may be recovered with cost of suit, on summary conviction before a Stipendiary Magistrate; and in default of payment of any fine, the same

European.

The New Prince of Bulgaria.

The semi-official 'Journal de St. Petersburg' of the 27th ult. publishes an article upon the Prince of Bulgaria and the country which he has been elected to govern. After describing the organization of the Principality the journal states that the object of the Prince's tour to the principal European capitals is to exchange views upon the external and internal position of the country. The Prince, continues the article, will promise the strict observance of the Treaty of Berlin, and, at the same time, point out the conditions necessary for the maintenance of tranquillity in the East. These conditions include chiefly the faithful and thorough application of the constitution of Eastern Roumelia; the postponement of the entry of the Turkish troops into the province; and the settlement of the question of the Balkan frontier. It will further be necessary to give Macedonia an organization similar to that of Crete; to effect the demarcation of the frontier between Bulgaria and the Dobrudzschia; to establish regulations for the navigation of the Danube; and to obtain the demolition of the fortresses. The 'Journal de St. Petersburg,' in conclusion, says that the Emperor of Russia places the fullest confidence in Prince Alexander, towards whom his Majesty is very favorably disposed.

Last week Mr. Thomas Scantlebury, of Pengelly farm, Lostwithiel, who has lately been in ill-health, was seized with a fit and presently died. An undertaker was summoned and made his preparations, and relatives were invited to the funeral; but on Sunday, to the astonishment but delight of his family, the deceased recovered warmth, consciousness returned, and in a minute or two he entirely recovered, and remains as well as he was before he was seized with the trance.

A Press Association telegram says that much satisfaction was created in Glasgow on the 29th ult. by the statement from Inverness that the liquidators of the City of Glasgow Bank have settled with the Caledonian Bank for £11,000, being the amount of two calls upon the four shares held by the Caledonian Bank. This arrangement, it is considered, proves that no more calls will be necessary to complete the liquidation.

At the rent audit of the Prince of Wales's property in Somersetshire, held at Farrington Gurney, it was authoritatively stated that the announcement that his Royal Highness intended making a reduction of 20 per cent. to his tenants was untrue. Much disappointment was caused, and some of the tenants did not attend nor pay their rents, and nearly all refused to sit at the audit dinner.

Intelligence received at St. Petersburg from Samara states that a panic had prevailed there, caused by placards posted up in the town announcing that the town would be burnt on the 13th inst. The fire brigade paraded the streets all night, but no fire broke out. Threatening letters were distributed in Orenburg on the eve of the recent fire in that city. The St. Petersburg police has been reinforced by 150 soldiers.

A 'Daily Chronicle' Larnaca telegram says matters in Cyprus are assuming alarming issues. Commerce is at an absolute standstill, the harvest is a failure, and the peasantry refuse to pay the taxes. Distress is wide-spread and general. Though camped on the most elevated plateau of the island, the military sick lists daily show a considerable increase.

The treaty of peace with Afghanistan was ratified at four o'clock on the afternoon of May 30, a salute of 31 guns being fired in honor of the event.

A Romantic History.

Sixty years ago a young Italian was condemned to death for a political offence. The scaffold was erected when he found means of escape. He finally landed in England. A stranger, and unable to speak the language, he began to teach his own. For ten years he lived a life of penury. One day he found a friend in Roscoe, the author of "The Life of Lorenzo the Magnificent," who gave him letters which gained him employment at University College. One of the letters was to Sir Henry Ellis, who was then chief librarian of the British Museum. Two years afterwards when Brougham interested himself in the young Italian, this letter to Sir Henry no doubt helped to obtain for him the position of assistant librarian. He was thirty-four when he entered the museum, and at forty he was appointed keeper of the printed books. He instituted wise reforms, administered his department with great skill, showed a marvellous knowledge of books, and with a liberality which is creditable to the government of the times, when death once more made the higher place vacant, he was elevated to the post, and being naturalized, he was knighted. This, in a nutshell, is the brief history of Sir Antonio Panizzi, Librarian of the British Museum, who died at the ripe age of eighty.—'London letter.'

A Madman at a Royal Palace.

On the 19th ult., at the hour of 11.30 a. m., a well-dressed gentleman with a bundle of paper under his arm, entered the gates of the Quirinal Palace, and, pretending not to hear the questions of the porter, walked on briskly towards the staircase. By chance the keeper of the palace met him and questioned him, but received for reply a deliberate blow. The carabinieri and police then interfered, and after a violent resistance, succeeded in arresting the intruder, whom they placed in a cab and lodged in the Questura. The poor man turned out to be a clerk employed in a government office and a subaltern in the militia, who had lost his reason in consequence of domestic distress. His object in going to the Quirinal was to solicit King Humbert to promote him to rank of captain. He is now in a madhouse.

The proposition to re-establish capital punishment in Switzerland was submitted on May 18, to the popular vote. Complete returns show that the proposal has been approved by 191,197 votes against 177,263 votes.

Almost all parts of the city of Mantua was flooded on June 2. The embankment of the River Mincio was in danger, and the town of Rovigo was seriously threatened. Two thousand workmen were employed in strengthening dykes there. The River Adige has also risen.

The new leader of the Irish Home Rulers, Mr. Shaw, M. P. for Bandon, was originally a Protestant clergyman, but was out of orders for some years. He has been a staunch Home Ruler since he entered public life. He was twice chairman of the Home Rule Conferences held in Dublin, and to the marked ability displayed on those occasions may be attributed his selection as leader of the party. Mr. Shaw is a clear and powerful speaker, and is accredited with honest motives and pure habits. His party have every hope that he will prove a powerful leader.

BUENOS AYRES, May 24.—It is reported that letters of marque against Chilean commerce will be granted at the Argentine Confederation. An engagement has occurred between the Chilean ironclad 'Blanche Encaslada' and the gunboat 'Chacabuco' and the Peruvian forts of Phagua. The gunboat lost one killed and six wounded. The town is reported as almost demolished by the fire from the ships.

A Daring Leap.

Prospect House, Niagara Falls, N. Y. May 21.—At 3 p. m. to-day, as announced previously, Harmon P. Peer made his unprecedented leap from the New Suspension Bridge, Niagara Falls, into the surging river beneath, a distance of 192 feet. A scaffold four feet long had been erected near the centre of the bridge and projecting over it. There was about 1,000 spectators scattered in viewing distance along both sides of the bank and on the bridge. Peer came forward bareheaded, and mounted his platform. He was dressed in tights, a wide rubber life-preserver of his own construction fastened around his waist, reaching from his hips under his arm pits, funnel-shaped, so as not to prevent velocity or hinder his action in the water; sponge tied over his mouth and nose, and two smaller ones in his ears; leather shoulder suspender, with two small brass rings attached just over his shoulders; fastened to these was a fine brass wire coiled on a roller to assist him in keeping his equilibrium. Crossing his legs he adjusted a wide elastic band just above the knees, and another across his insteps to keep his feet from spreading. When all was ready he let go his hold and made his fearful drop, occupying 3½ seconds. Three boats were on the river waiting to pick him up. The one manned by Conroy, the guide, was the first to reach him, and conveyed him safely and uninjured to the shore. In interviewing him after his feat he said he felt no fear. After striking the water he sank some eleven feet, when the under current in the river threw him on his back and carried him some fifty feet. When he arose to the surface he had been under water two seconds. He is thirty-four years of age, weighs 140 pounds, 5 feet 1 inch high, is of slim build and pleasant appearance, with determination in his countenance. His father is a Prussian and his mother an Irish woman. He resides at Teeterville, Ont., is married, and has one child. He got his first idea of jumping when a sailor, seven years ago.

A Gigantic Strike.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., June 3.—The great iron workers' strike throws out of employment in this city and all Allegheny about 40,000 workmen. It affects not only mill hands, but also coal diggers, and men employed in other connections with the mills. Yesterday 200 puddlers marched to Hussey, Howe & Co's steel works, and ordered the employees, numbering 500, including sixteen puddlers, to stop work. The men promised they would at night, and the strikers ordered the men at other mills to quit. The capital that will be idle while the strike lasts is estimated at $25,000,000 in this county alone; besides 3,500,000 at Youngstown, Ohio, and 2,500 men; $2,500,000 at Sharon, Pa., and about 1,000 men; $1,500,000 at New castle Pa., and 600 men. There are dozens of other places in eastern Ohio, Virginia and western Pennsylvania, where iron mill owners belong to the Western Iron Manufacturers' Association, who pledged their honor not to take any action not indorsed by the Company appointed to take charge of their side of the case.

NEWARK, N. J., June 3.—The investigation into the recent wholesale poisoning of children who drank from the brook discloses that diphtheria caused death. Diphtheria in a mild form has been in the vicinity, so that the water poisoned by barium drainage and putrid carcasses of dead animals was just the thing to feed the disease into the development of a terrible malady.

St. JOSEPH Mo., June 2.—A dispatch from Irving, Kansas, yesterday, reports thirty deaths certain and fifty-three people badly injured by the recent cyclone. The people want money to get necessities. Ten bodies were buried yesterday. Fifty to sixty families at Frankfort, Kansas, are homeless and destitute. The citizens of that place have donated $700, and more aid is needed. A despatch from Sabetha today says that seventy-five to one hundred persons are destitute in the vicinity of Beattie. Bedding and clothing is in great demand.
