A TERRITAL Shooting accident is reported from ship Harbor, thirty miles can of HAlf-fax. Four men were in the woods on fax. Four men were in the woods on friday moose hunting. They were named Taylor, Annad, Cyrus Mitchell and Thomas Webber. They became seperated during the afternoon. Taylor and Annad saw the bushes moving and thinking it was moose fired. The supposed moose were Mitchell and Webber. A bullet passed through Webber's neck and entered Mitchell's body, killing both men almost instantly. When Taylor and Annaud discovered their fatal mistake they were

The Dominion Illustrated for September 7 contains some noteworty features. Scotchmen will enjoy the illustrations of the Caledonian games, including the "Sword Dance," "Putting the Shot," the "Boys" Highland Costume Competition" and the "Bagpipes of the 5th Royal Scots." The portraits of Mr. William Rutherford, president, and Mr. S. C. Stevenson, vice-president, of the Caledonian Society, will be prized by the many friends of those popular officials. Girl graduates and aspirants for military honors will be interested in the portraits of Miss Helens Gregory, B. A., and Mus. Bac., and of Sergeant-Major H. S. Rogers, winner of the Governor-General's gold medal at Kingston Military College. Mrs. Spragge's British Columbia sketches are continued. The "Martin" Nursery Challenge Shield, won by the Victoris Riffes at the P. Q. R. A. matches, and the writing lessons complete the illustrations of a number of much variety and interest.
