

Salvage Notes.

The Xmas season has been so full of festivities, and the holidays are such a joyous break, that even our occasional notes disappeared to the background of memory. But here we are back to work again, and so begging the pardon of our readers for our lapse we again pass on to our Salvage people abroad the doings in the old home vicinity.

The local branch of the L.O.A. holding its annual parade on St. Stephen's Day, proved the first of the parades in our neighbourhood. The brethren held a most successful time. On Tuesday, St. Stephen's Day, the S.I.P. branch at Salvage Bay held their annual turnout. Your correspondent although present at both repeats, took a deeper interest in the latter, being a Brother of the Order.

On Wednesday, Holy Innocents Day, the Loyal Orangemen at Salvage Bay and Happy Adventure paraded. At each of these parades the brethren attended service in the Church of England and listened to splendid sermons delivered by the Rector of the parish, Rev. E. H. Humphries.

On Thursday night, Dec. 28th, the C.E.W.A. held their annual sale of work at Squid Tickle, a concert by several of the adults of both sexes being appended. The affair was very successful and a large sum was realized to go towards a new church which the enterprising people of this locality intend starting work on the coming spring. We wish them all success in their glorious work.

On Monday, Jan. 2nd, the Loyal Orangemen of Squid Tickle paraded and the Rector was again the preacher.

The old-time role of mummering seems to have received a new impetus this year, many of the residents remarking that they have seen more this season than any season for the past twenty years. There is nothing so jolifying as some of the old time customs, and for fun and a real good time surely everyone of experience must admit that "Jannying" stands on a pedestal of its own. Then here to the merry mummers, and woe betide our race when we become too serious or too much centred on rank materialism to loosen up in the good old style at Xmas tide.

Messrs. Stanley Burden, Fred Decker and Stewart Oldford, of Squid Tickle, spent a couple of days last week visiting friends and relatives at Salvage.

We hear that Mr. Jas. Moss of Round Head, was to go to the General Hospital for a facial operation. We feel sorry for Mr. Moss, but trust that he will have a speedy recovery.—COR.

An Expression of Gratitude.

To the People of Caplin Cove:

The people of Greenspond, and especially the families of those who lost relatives and friends in the unfortunate schooner Passport, wish to express their sincerest thanks for the untiring efforts you put forth in recovering the bodies, and the reverential care you took in preparing the bodies for burial.

While the dreadful tragedy will never be forgotten, your kind and affectionate care of the dead has had the effect of soothing in some degree this awful visitation of Providence. We also wish to thank Magistrate Vatcher for his kindness in supplying everything necessary for a decent burial of the dead. We also tender our thanks to the Government for arranging for the bodies to be sent home, so that they may be laid to rest among relatives and friends.

The Greenspond members of the crew of the "Passport" were: Skipper Lewis Bragg, who leaves a wife and two children; William Peckford, who leaves a wife and one child; Pierce Burry, who leaves a wife and one child, and Joseph Stratton, single.

The unfortunate accident has cast such a deep gloom over this community that it will take years to remove.—Com.

Italian Transatlantic Cable.

BUENOS AIRES. (A.P. Mail)—Juan Carosso, an Italian engineer, residing in Buenos Aires, and chief promoter of the project for a direct cable between Italy and South America, has returned from Italy where he obtained the support of the Italian government, and announces that the work will soon commence. He expects the cable to be finished in two years. The Italian government will allow a subvention of $3,000,000 annually. The cable will touch Spain, Brazil, Uruguay, Argentina and the Canary and Cape Verde Islands. Misruled Country.

Haul in the log and look at mileage and you will be amazed that this country is a misruled one. How? What? Five dollars salary coming out of the sweat and blood of men, women, children, and taxation of cents on the dollar on imported goods, and then the men in the country don't know what's ailing this country.

Member Samson, who was a fighter for the District, is quietly cuddled away in a sweet story. Perhaps that is what the honorable Sir was pulling the wool for and yet giving out his value as an honest seeker for the people's rights and could not be had. Have they stopped the mouth gold? Are the sweets from the man's table and cuddle out from beneath our wings and say, "Thy done, not ours."—Twillingate Star.

Something New in Church Socials

Between three and four hundred persons gathered in the basement of George St. Church, on Wednesday evening in response to a curious stirring invitation for a New Social. There were many surprises from those entering the room. Messrs. J. Peary and W. with other willing helpers, had transformed the place with a novel scheme which called for commendation. It was realized that a few items, intended to assist in liberating the spirit by a general mix-up, were to be scrapped from the programme, as the room was filled with the carefully planned free space. Although it was not suitable for everybody to shake hands with everybody else, the next thing was done, and everybody's hands with all persons within reach.

Much of the success of the was due to the policy of making audience entertain itself. A sheet of well-known choruses, old and favorite, some new and surprising was handed to each person. Beginning with the "Ode to Newfoundland," and working through "Auld Lang Syne," and then singing some of the favorites, the gathering sang itself into corporate happiness.

By way of educational interest Mr. R. F. Horwood gave a blackboard demonstration of church finances. Later Mr. Horwood, with Messrs. Wyatt and W. Thompson, rendered highly amusing and also enlightening impromptu dialogue representing some of the average man's reactions to the Church.

Mr. C. C. Pratt, Superintendent of the Sunday School, in the course of a brief and bright statement of work of his department, got in a successful recruiting work for staff.

A recitation by Mr. Piezman was heartily enjoyed.

The Ladies' Guild was in charge of the refreshments, and all that be said on this point is that the nobly-maintained George St. Church high reputation in this respect.

What was pronounced a very pleasant function was fittingly closed by family prayer conducted by Rev. Fenwick and the Minister of George St. Church, Rev. R. F. Fairbairn.

Unemployed Committee Submit Plans.

The committee on unemployment met last night in the Board of Trade rooms when the matter of finding relief for the present conditions in the city was discussed. Mr. H. E. Coe presided and there was a full attendance of members. Various plans for relief were submitted but no decision was arrived at. It was understood that the committee will view both the City Council and the Government on the plans of employment outlined at the meeting.

WINTER NIGHT.

When winds are shrieking and clouds are leaking a cheap-john brand of snow, and things are freezing, I t'a doubly pleasing a cheery home to know. The storm grows louder, and like white powder the snow sifts through the cracks; the drifts are piling, but I am smiling, and life is slick as wax. Here in my shanty, with wife and auntie, and grandsons nine or eight. I read my paper while storm-horns caper and howl their hymn of hate. For I kept busy till I was dizzy before the cold blasts came; with vim and ardor I stocked the larder and spoiled Old Winter's game. The round plunks earning, no fair job spinning, I banked some iron men; now I should worry when wild winds scurry outside my comfy den. A squash named Hubbard is in the cupboard, I've loaves of kickless bread; up in the garret there is a carrot, and cordwood in the shed. And all is paid for; the goal I played for my aunts' dearest I've won, and winter's squealings don't hurt my feelings, since I have saved my mon. Let winter thunder! I got from under before the tempests came; alert and heedful I saved the needful, and hope you did the same.

Cinematograph Fire Causes Panic.

A terrible disaster occurred at the Opera House Bovertown, Pennsylvania, on Jan. 13, 1908 during a cinematograph display. The performance had been arranged as a New Year party of the St. John's Lutheran Sunday school, and the hall was crowded with members of the church and their friends from round the countryside. All went well till the cinematograph display and then suddenly the gas used to operate the machine by which the pictures were moved, exploded with a loud noise. Immediately the children became panic-stricken and their terror was increased by the shrieks of some hysterical women, who rose as though mad, and raced for the narrow exits. A lamp got knocked over on the stage and the oil running along, ignited the scenery; this turned the confusion into pandemonium. It started everyone in a frenzy of fear, fighting for life; and in a moment the heap of victims was as high as the doors—men beating down women and children in their efforts to escape. Terrible scenes ensued while the flames gained on the miserable victims, and the whole building was burnt out. At least 167 bodies were recovered from the ruins.

MINARD'S LINIMENT RELIEVES DISTRESS.

Cool Check.

Hearing a suspicious noise in the middle of the night, Mr. Bumble stole downstairs and found a burglar busily collecting spoons and things in the dining-room.

"Look here!" he roared, "I've caught you!"

"Your house?" retorted the midnight visitor, coolly. "Is it your house? I thought you only rented it."

"So I do!" exclaimed the other, taken by surprise. "But—"

"Well, don't be so high and mighty talking about your house," snapped the burglar, as he opened the front door and stepped out into the darkness. "Good-night!"

Lights Out!

"You'll get run in," said the pedestrian to the cyclist, "if you ride without a light."

"You'll get run into," responded the rider as he knocked the other down.

"You'll get run in, too!" said the policeman, as he stepped forward and seized the cyclist.

Just then another cyclist came along without a light, so the policeman was run into, too, and had to run in two.
