London, June 23.—A most terrible calamity has befallen the British battle ship Victoria, flagship of the Mediterranean squadron, and hundreds of lives have been lost. The Victoria, which flew the flag of Vice-Admiral Sir George Tryon, K.C.B., was run into off Tripoli by the British battle ship Camperdown, also belonging to the Mediterranean squadron, and under command of Capt. Charles Johnstone. The Victoria had an immense At Philadelphia— Philadelphia... New York At Cincinnati— Chicago..... Cincinnati Oincinnati. 3 8 0

Bayne sank rapidly and died.

R.C.B., was run into an Importown, also belonging to the Mediterranean squadron, and under command of Capt. Charles Johnstone. The Victoria had an immense hole made in her side, through which the water poured in torrents. The immense hull of the Victoria at once began to settle, and before those on board could cut loose their small beats she

Some of the officers and crew managed to get out of the suction caused by the sinking vessel and were rescued. Among those lost is Vice-Admiral Tryon. The first reports of the disaster stated that about 200 meh ad been drowned, but later dispatches show that the loss of life was far greater, not less than 400 of the officers and crew of the Victoria having GONE DOWN WITH THEIR SHIP.

The Victoria was a twin screw bastleship of 10,470 tons and 11,400 horse-power. She mounted fifteen guns. The Camperdown is also a first-class twin screw battle-ship. She is of 10,600 tons and 11,500 horse-power, and carries ten guns. Admiral Sir George Tryon was commander-in-chief of the Mediterranean station. He was made a vice-admiral Aug. 20, 1891.

Later—Rear Admiral Albert H. Markham, of the Trafalgar, the flagship of the rear admiral in the Mediterranean, has telegraphed to the Admiralty from Tripoli, Syria, under date of to-day as follows; "I regret to report that while maneuvering of Tripoli this afternoon the Victoria and Camperdown collided. The Camperdown's ram struck the Victoria forward of the turret on the starboard side. Twenty-one officers were drowned and 255 men were saved. The injury to the Camperdown has not yet been fully ascertained, but it is serious, and will necessitate her going on dock for repairs. I propose to send the survivors to Malta."

In January of last year the Victoria ran aground off the Greek coast near Plateau, and she was only floated off after an immense amount of labor and large expense. It was said the accident was due to carelessness. Hon. Maurice Bourke, captais of the Victoria, and a son of the late Earl of Mayo, who is the youngest post captain in the British navy, was held responsible for the accident and was severely reprimanded by a court martial. Capt. Bourke was in command of the Victoria when she sank. QUOITING. The death is announced at Llanelly of John Anderson McGibbon, the world's champion quoit player.

Victoria Hall last evening was filled by a large, fashionable and highly delighted sudience assembled to enjoy the closing recital by the pupils of the piano department of the London Conservatory of Music. The manner in which the young ladies acquitted themselves is both evidence of their own aptitude and of the efficiency of their instruction. The programme was their own aptitude and of the efficiency of their instruction. The programme was difficult enough to call for the exercise of ne ordinary powers, and the critical pronounced the performance admirable in all its artistic phases. It proved a public testimonial to the excellent tutorage of the director Mr. W. C. Barron and his able staff, who have in the two years' existence of the conservatory, given it a high musical standard and an ever-widening reputation and clientele both in London and Western Ontario. The platform was prettily ornamented with flowers and foliage last evening, and the occasion was a happy one for performers and audience. The programme was:

Restoring the Cathedral.

Restoring the Cathedral.

The building committee in connection with the restoration of St. Paul's Cathedra have issued a printed address urging assist ance in the work, the necessity of which is clearly set forth. The pamphlet contains the interesting history of the present structure. About the year 1835, some three years after the arrival here of Bisho; Cronyn, the present site of St. Paul's was granted by the crown for church purpose, and the first church bearing the name, a frame building, was creeted. This was and the first church bearing the name, rame building, was erected. This was burnt down in 1844, when the present church was built, of bricks molded and baked upon the spot, and stands, though weather-worn and dilapidated, a monument to the honest and efficient work of its builders, and so substantial that it will not be necessary to rebuild the main walls and tower, which, if suitably encased in molded and pressed brick, will be sufficiently modernized and improved without impairment of the original design. The work is modernized and improved without impairment of the original design. The work is now proceeding upon designs in harmony with the original church building prepared by Messra. Spier & Rohus, of Detroit, and under the superintendence of Messra. Moore & Henry, architects, of this city. The contract for the principal work has been let to Messra. LONDON, June 22 .- During the debate in the House of Commons on clause 4 of the the House of Commons on clause 4 of the Irish Home Rule Bill limiting the law-making powers of the proposed Irish Legis-lature, ten of the proposed amendments to the clause were decided out of order. A proposal made by James Parker Smith, Liberal-Unionist, to prevent the Irish Legislature from establishing a censorship of the press or interfering with lawful pub-lic meetings was deleated. ctings was debated.
Gladstone stated to day the alterations the Government had decided to make in the financial clauses of the Irish make in the financial clauses of the Irish Home Rule Bill. He proposed a provisional term of six years to effect the financial arrangements; no change in managing or collecting the existing taxes would be made. The Irish Parliament would be empowered to establish new taxes. Ireland's contribution to the Imperial exchequer would be one-third of the ascertained revenue; also the whole yield of any taxes imposed on Ireland by the Imperial Parliament expressly for war or special defense. At the close of six years the contribution and the whole arrangement would be revised. It would be provided that Ireland should collect and manage taxation with exception of the customs and excise duties.

Mr. John Radmond Paraellite member

Mr. John Redmond, Pernellite member for Waterford city, gave notice that he would oppose the clause preventing the Parliament from collecting and regulating existing taxation as unjust and humiliating to Ireland.

Interviews with Justin McCarthy and other Irish leaders show that they are disappointed over the proposed alterations in the financial clauses of the Home Rule Bill. Before committing themselves to oppose or reject the alterations a conference will be held and the sense of the party taken.
