"Hard Times" Do Not Affect the Farmer

"Hard Times," so far as Ontario is concerned, is aphrase of the past. The country was never in a better condition financially than it is at the present time. This has not been due to the developing of the mines in the Cobalt and other districts, or to any political economy, any more than the "hard times" were the outcome of political expenditures; but to the prosperity of the farmer. "Hard times" seldom affect the farmer of Ontario, except to increase the price of his produce, and thereby increase his income. There is a vast difference between farming of today and that of a few years ago. Twenty years ago, on account of the but today, with the improved methods of farming and the increased prices of all farm produce, it is a pleasant occupation and a paying business carried on by intelligent men, in a great many cases in the most approved business manner, and on this account it will be only natural for the drift of the population of the cities and towns, particularly those who are working for others, to turn by Intelligent men, in a great many cases in the most approved business manner, and on this account it will be only natural for the drift of the population of the cities and towns, particularly those who are working for others, to turn to farming for a livelihood. To be asuccessful Ontario farmer today, it is only necessary to be thrifty, economical and have only average business abilities. If business which will yield you good returns for the time and money invested, buy a farm in Ontario now, while there is a good opening and while prices are low. We have farms for sale throughout Western Ontario at very reasonable prices.

The following are short descriptions of a few of the farms we have for sale: No. 5740—Haif acre in the Township of London, County of Middlesex; soil dark sandy loam, frame cottage, 3 bedrooms, parlor, dining-room, kitchen, cellar under all of house; one mile from London market and railroad station. # The Artists' Model

The style and fit of your Corset adds to the effectiveness of your gown. If anything should be selected and fitted with care it is your corset. As you know, the effect of a perfect-fitting gown is marred by wearing a corset not suited to your form.

This model we show in this space illustrates the change this season's fashions has brought about. The departure from the rounding figure to the straight lines and the hipless form can only be perfected by having a corset built on the same lines.

These new styles in the "Artists' Model" Corset have just arrived. They are all made with narrow sections of silk elastic at the side, making them comfortable and easy-wearing. A variety of styles to suit every type of figure. Pair $3.50 to $5.00
