

Threat To Blow Up the Welland

Niagara Falls, N. Y., June 15.—It is believed that another attempt to blow up the Welland Canal is threatened in a letter received by Captain Patrick Dacey, tender at lock seven, by certain lock tenders, and discipline in their ranks is badly disrupted as a result. The letter purports to come from the Black Hand Society, and was postmarked at Buffalo. It was written in true Black Hand style, and the letter declares that the society is determined to kill the recipient and that a horrible death awaits him. Dacey displayed the letter to his fellow-lock tenders, and he was much disturbed.

The Advance Thought Meetings.

To the Editor of The Advertiser: Dear Sir,—With reference to the comments on the last meeting of the Advance Thought Circle I wish to correct some of Mr. Turner's misstatements which to me seem to be deliberate.

Mr. Turner says that I and other speakers wished to call a strike of school children. To this Mr. Turner and others would not agree, and motion made by Mr. Hill was declared out of order.

Now, sir, I never advocated a strike. I never spoke one word with reference to such a ploy, and what is more, I never proposed any motion such as Mr. Turner declares out of order. One speaker did speak in favor of calling the children out, but I do not recall the subject was turned against any such idea, and further, no motion was proposed concerning this line of action.

The Advertiser says that if I am a Socialist, I am also an Imperialist, a somewhat anomalous political character. Sir, I raise my hand to the soft impeachment. I am, as others before me, an anomalous political character. Just as dear old Randy Churchill declared himself a Tory-Imperialist, so I claim to be an Imperialist-Tory-Socialist. To fully explain these apparent contradictions would take up more space than you would be inclined to grant, and I wish to claim your indulgence to give me enough space to deal with the controversy at present on the topic. Some few weeks ago I noticed advertisements in the local press relative to the holding of new or advanced thought meetings, and being a searcher of knowledge, I at once attended same, to find out what nostrums were advocated by this latest of all new schools. For several weeks I found that Mr. Turner and another gentleman, whose name I will not mention, were amusing themselves like children, in a vain discussion about hell fire, terrors and several other endeavored to switch them off their topics, to something within reason. After a time Mr. Turner promised to give a lecture on British Imperialism. The Advertiser editor was notified that this would be a subject for discussion. At the last minute Mr. Turner, and I proposed a change of front, and announced a continuation of the hell fire business. Another opportunity presented itself in the shape of the children's picnic. This subject was turned over to me, and I determined to do my best, that it should be handled in a businesslike manner, and to this end I wrote an open letter, and proposed a full expression of his opinion as to whether the action taken by these public authorities in cutting out the children from the picnic meeting unanimously adopted my manifesto and suggestion. Mr. Turner and his friend included. Then a committee was appointed to make any minute alterations in the manifesto, and to give out the order for printing, etc. For this purpose a collection was taken up, amounting to $2.76. At the committee meeting the manifesto was read again flunked and showed cold feet. Myself and others present at this committee meeting were absolutely flabbergasted at the change of front, and we protested against it, whereupon Mr. Turner informed us that the advanced thought meetings were his meetings, because he paid for them.

I am not angry with Mr. Turner. Far from it. He has amused me so immensely that I feel grateful to him for the diversion I have had. His expense during the short existence of his new thought, world-reforming school. To be serious, sir, in conclusion, let me say that I believe in the economic principle of socialism, and in the ultimate success of those principles, but at present I live and work for the immediate success of British Imperial consolidation. Yours truly,

CHARLES HILL.

No New Thought Discard.

To the Editor of The Advertiser: Sir,—In your issue of June 14, you have a lengthy local headed "The New Thought Meeting on Sunday Ended in Disorder in St. George's Hall." Now, by referring to your list of religious announcements on Saturday, June 12, you will learn that these meetings are called "Advanced Thought," and they have no relation whatever to New Thought.

There never has and never will be a discard expressed in any New Thought circles. We are very enthusiastic over the harmony that prevails at our New Thought meetings, and will resent any attempt to throw over us the onus of any discord. We demonstrate a principle that will always produce harmony.

Hoping with this brief explanation later, for though the mills of the gods grind slowly, yet they grind exceeding fine. Cruelty to man or beast resembles a chicken—it will come home to roost, and many people who have thrown out poison to animals might find the source of their own heart-rendings if they analyzed their conduct and considered brutes, and the misery they had brought on a household when the pet of the children was poisoned. It would do no harm to pass a law prohibiting dogs running at large. And if the law is broken the owner should be made pay the penalty. London, June 15. NEMO.

PROBE RUIZ MYSTERY

English Newspapers Carry Matter to the House of Commons.

New York, June 15.—A London dispatch to the Times says that notice was given in the House of Commons last night of the question of the Curran, member of Parliament for Jarrold, will put to Home Secretary Gladstone, regarding the suppression of the facts brought out in the inquest into the death of Mrs. Antonio Ruiz, who committed suicide on May 16.

The terms in which the question will be put will be in the following: "That the House do resolve that the Curran, member of Parliament for Jarrold, will put to Home Secretary Gladstone, regarding the suppression of the facts brought out in the inquest into the death of Mrs. Antonio Ruiz, who committed suicide on May 16."

The conditions of the marching and firing competition for the Layborn cup are as follows:

All regiments in camp will compete. Each regiment will furnish eighty N. C. O.'s and men, consisting of ten per company, with one officer in charge of each company. A field officer will be in command of the whole. Fifteen rounds will be issued.

Each regiment of eight companies under command of a field officer will be divided into four companies, and will receive the command "ready" when he is prepared. On the target, the range will be 100 yards, and the firing will be continued while targets are in sight. When the targets disappear, men will advance at the command of the field officer, and the targets again appear, when the firing continues.

In this way the line will advance until the targets are out of sight, and fire when they are in view in any position. The targets will be in view three times.

The scores will be taken on the targets by the umpires and recorded, the highest score winning.

AT ROYAL ASCOT

His Majesty and Guests Attend the Races in State.

Ascot, June 15.—The Royal Ascot, the racing society and the event that brings the London season to a close, opened today with a promise of clear skies and an attendance never before equalled in either brilliance or number. The royal procession which made its way from Windsor Castle to the royal enclosure facing the Ascot course, consisted of twelve four-horse open carriages with postillions, equerries and outriders in uniforms of royal scarlet, in accordance with the custom when His Majesty the King drives in state.

The first three carriages were occupied by the members of the royal family. In the fourth the Countess of Granard, the Marquis de Soveral, and the Marquis of Anglesey, while other distinguished persons are guests at Windsor Castle for the week followed in the other vehicles.

The list of invitations to the royal enclosure was somewhat curtailed this year, as the lawn was not so crowded as usual.

The trial stakes of 10 sovereigns each, with 500 sovereigns distance five miles, was won by St. Michael, owned by Gallinote, out of Admiralty Yellow Slave was second, and Nell Gow was third. Among the thirteen starters were August Belmont's Merry Task, and H. P. Whitney's Artless.

The Coventry Stakes of 10 sovereigns each, with 1,000 sovereigns distance five miles, was won by the chestnut colt by Gallinote, out of Admiralty Yellow Slave was second, and Nell Gow was third. Among the thirteen starters were August Belmont's Merry Task, and H. P. Whitney's Artless.

Among the six starters was James E. Keen's Ballot.

CHILDREN'S AID NAMES A PROBATION OFFICER

Mr. James Stevenson Proffers His Services Gratis—Meeting Monday Afternoon.

At the monthly meeting of the Children's Aid Society in the city hall yesterday afternoon, many important items of business were put through, one of the most important being the appointment of Mr. James Stevenson to the position of probation officer.

The society long felt the need of such an officer to keep in touch with the boys and girls who appear in the juvenile court, and to befriend and guide them. Mr. Stevenson is a gentleman eminently fitted to carry on this branch of the work, and the unanimous offer of his gratuitous services made to the board yesterday, and the hearty co-operation of every member promised to him in his self-sacrificing efforts for the betterment of the youth of the community.

Inspector's Report.

The report of the inspector, Mr. Sanders, was of a very interesting and exhaustive nature, dealing fully with the cases of many wayward and neglected children. Mr. Sanders presented his notice. A surprising feature of the report was the number of very small children over whom the parents had lost all control, due no doubt to over-indulgence by the parents, such indulgence frequently leading to equal bad results as neglect. The inspector was given authority to take action in some cases where children are being brought up in the county under very undesirable circumstances. The report stated that there were thirteen children in the shelter home, four having been placed on trial in foster homes since the last meeting.

The president reported that several matters needing attention at the shelter home had been attended to, and a committee was appointed to deal with the present objectionable condition of the ravine on the shelter home grounds.

Accounts amounting to $197 were passed and ordered to be paid.

SMALL BOAT SUNK ON THE ST. LAWRENCE

The Pierreville Collides With Ocean Boat in Lake St. Peter.

Montreal, June 15.—The Pierreville, a small river steamer, was sunk in Lake St. Peter on Friday night in collision with the ocean liner Torgorm, inward bound from the West Indies with a cargo of sugar.

News of the disaster reached here today with the arrival of the Torgorm. Captain Falconer, of the latter vessel, states that the Pierreville struck the liner on the starboard side, eighteen feet abaft of the stem, and sank in ten minutes. Boats were lowered, but no trace of the crew could be found. The only sign of life was a dog. As the boats were gone it is thought the crew escaped in the darkness and reached shore in safety. An inquiry will likely be held.

ANNUAL COMPETITION FOR LAYBORN CUP

Will Be Held at the Cove Ranges on Friday Next.

The annual competitions for the active service challenge cup and for the Layborn Cup will take place on Friday at the local ranges. Last year at Goderich the regiments owing to the fact that no ranges were available. It is four years since the cups were won by any of the regiments that are now in the city.

The conditions of the marching and firing competition for the Layborn cup are as follows:

All regiments in camp will compete. Each regiment will furnish eighty N. C. O.'s and men, consisting of ten per company, with one officer in charge of each company. A field officer will be in command of the whole. Fifteen rounds will be issued.

CAVALRYMAN CUT CORNER TOO SHORT

Threw His Horse Which Fell on Him and Injured His Leg.

A cavalryman belonging to one of the regiments in camp on Carling's Heights had a very narrow escape from serious injury yesterday morning on Pall Mall street, near the corner of Malton.

The man, together with two other cavalrymen, was riding down Pall Mall street at rather a furious pace. He was a little in advance of the other two, and was setting the pace for them.

All was well until Maitland street was reached. There the leader tried to take the corner at too short an angle, throwing his horse, which carried him with it. The animal rolled over on its side, and the rider's leg was badly crushed beneath its weight.

In a minute his two companions had dismounted and were at his side. The horse was soon put on its feet, and seemed none the worse for the mishap, but the rider was painfully hurt, and found it difficult to regain his feet. A buggy was hastily summoned, and the injured man driven to the camp, where a doctor attended him.

REGALIA IN STORAGE

Vienna, June 14.—Ferdinand of Bulgaria will have reached the height of his ambition when he is solemnly crowned czar of the Bulgarians, a ceremony which is now impending, and for which he has been waiting seventeen years. All this time the royal regalia—crown, sceptre, orb and sword—have been ready.

In 1892 it seemed as though the powers would consent to a Bulgarian czar, and Ferdinand, to take time by the forelock, ordered the regalia from a Munich firm of jewelers. But there was a hitch. The regalia were not needed, and Ferdinand refused to complete the purchase.

The jewelers went to law to oblige him to take them, at the same time putting them in their window with the announcement that they had been made for the Prince of Bulgaria. Then Ferdinand's name arrived here on the tank steamer Aral. They had been in their dry thirteen hours when picked up.

NEW CAVALRY CORPS

Grey's Horse in Camp for the First Time at Woodstock.

Woodstock, June 14.—The newly-organized Twenty-fourth Regiment of Cavalry, permitted by the Governor-General to use the name of Grey's Horse, goes into camp for the first time in its existence in Woodstock on the fair grounds tomorrow. Advance guards today made ready the tented city, and upwards of 250 of the recruits will take possession tomorrow and spend the next two weeks under canvas. The regiment is commanded by Colonel W. M. Davis, of Berlin, and is made up of three squadrons, one from North Oxford, commanded by Major J. M. Ross, of Woodstock; one from South Oxford, commanded by Major T. R. Mayberry, M. P. of Ingersoll, and one from Waterloo County, commanded by Major Moss, of Preston. In the two weeks' drill, particular attention will be paid to shooting exercises.

This evening the members of St. John's Athletic Club will visit the camp, and will give a minstrel party for the benefit of the regiment. The show will be similar to the one given a few weeks ago, which proved so popular. It is for the soldiers only, and no admission will be charged.

A Field Day.

On Thursday afternoon the First Hussars and Sixth Field Battery are arranging to hold a field day, and a programme of equestrian sports, including races, a tug-of-war on horseback, and other feats.

The men have been practicing steadily for their sports, and those who attend will no doubt be greatly delighted with the programme.

On Thursday evening the choir of Dundas Centre Church under the direction of Mr. J. Parnell-Morris will give a sacred concert. The church will be reserved for soldiers only, but after they are all in, if there is any room, the public will be admitted. No admission is to be charged. The choir will render exactly the same programme which they rendered recently when they visited Toronto and sang in the Baptist Church there.

SYNOD OF HURON SESSION

an apostolic ministry. We have and have been having during the last century great spiritual revival. Let us rejoice and thank God for the truth and strength and simplicity of our position. But let us remember that the Lord Christ calls for our fruits. If the church is to be a church, it must have the meaning of the gospel.

"Have this spirit of our text in our church and in our work. We are the church of the workingman, the poor and halt and blind? Are we the church of the rich, instead of the poor; the church of capital instead of labor?"

Some Questions.

"How is it that our mother church has attempted so much for the world of the working men and achieved so little for it? How is it that the church in Wales lost two-thirds of her ancient membership? How is it that the church in Ireland at the reformation lost the majority of its members? know that you may say more to do with this condition than the church."

"But to come nearer home. Why has the church in Ontario lost so much of its rural districts? And I think the one beloved district for all. Because the church has neglected its fundamental principle of Christ's teaching and has begun at the top instead of the bottom, and such tactics will never succeed."
