Jokers' Corner

Personal Hemish - Too much clean of ship. A very narrow aperture - The crack of a ship.

Customer - Boy, give me a paper. Boy - How'll you have it - with a Russian history or Turkish?

Candidate for place: "And of course 'm, the washing's put out?" Lady: "Oh yes."

Instructor in Astronomy: "And now young gentlemen, which of you can tell me the name of the greatest of the planets - the champion planet, so to speak - of our solar system?"

Young Person (applicant for house): "I am in a very nice situation. May I ask, sir, if you keep a boy?"

Old Man: "A boy! No. Why?" "Oh, to clean boots and knives, carry up coals, and..."

"How much is my bill?" inquired a sad-eyed youth in a Chicago confectionery store the other day.

"Sixteen dollars and fifteen cents," said the proprietor, looking over his books a minute and then replied: "As the young man drew forth his wallet to meet the account, he sighed deeply and said: 'I tell you this is tough!'"

"How so?" asked the confectioner. "Oh, she's gone back on me!" "Who?"

"Oh, she - the girl that eat all the candy," continued the unhappy youth; "and I tell you it's hard to pay for so much sweetness after its gone and sourced on a fellow."

"The candy man acknowledged that it did seem kind of rough. A young married woman married a man not noted for activity of body or energy of character, and in a few months her honeymoon was over, upon awakening one morning found his spouse in tears.

"My love," said he, "what is the matter?" "I don't think it is," said the wife, "I don't think it is a dreadful dream."

"Why, what was it?" "I thought I was going up Broadway shopping when I saw a sign, 'Husbands for Sale.' So many women were rushing in that I followed, and just then they sold a splendid specimen for five hundred dollars."

"But did they all bring as much as that?" "Oh, no; they want at thousand dollars, five hundred dollars, and so down." "Well, did you see any that looked like me?"
