

During the initial treatment—for the first one, two, or three days—much heavier injections of atropia are given, in combination with morphine. Any physician will know at a glance that the quantity of strychnine used is so minute, considering its relative potency, that it can have little effect in modifying the action of the atropia. The tonics support, to a degree, but they, too, have little influence in controlling the symptoms produced by that powerful drug.—Times and Register.

MR. GLADSTONE'S capacity for public business, for literary work of the highest character, and his physical endurance, with the weight of years upon him—he is now more than eighty-two—is a remarkable fact. There are reasons, however, for this state of things in his case. He was born into the world a vigorous infant, of excellent ancestry. He has never had any pecuniary anxiety. He has lived a sober and a godly life. These are the conditions which, if they do not insure longevity, and mental vigor with the long life, go very far toward promoting it.—The Post-Graduate.
