

in stating that I believe you to be eminently qualified for such a post. You were one of our most distinguished students in the medical school of the University of Edinburgh, and while here you were appointed to offices which afford invaluable opportunities to the student of acquiring that practical knowledge which can alone render him a successful physician, and which are conferred upon pupils of merit only. If to this it be added that you distinguished yourself at your final examinations and carried off honors in important classes in the University, I believe enough will have been said to show that you have very strong claims to be appointed to the office for which you are a candidate.

Believe me very truly yours,

GEO. J. ALLMAN, M.D., F.R.S., L. & E., M.R.I.A., &c.,
Regius Professor of Natural History in the University of Edinburgh.

---

EDINBURGH,

May 1, 1865.

Dr. FREDERICK MONTIZAMBERT is well known to me as a highly educated and in every respect fully qualified medical man. During his studies at the University, Dr. MONTIZAMBERT was distinguished by his diligence and success.

I am glad to be able to express the opinion that Dr. MONTIZAMBERT's claims for an hospital appointment are of a very decided character; and it will afford many of his friends in Edinburgh sincere pleasure to hear of his having secured the position which he presently seeks.

J. Warburton Begbie,

*Lecturer on Practice of Medicine,
Royal College of Surgeons of Edinburgh.*

---

EDINBURGH,

March 27, 1865.

I have much pleasure in stating that Dr. FREDERICK MONTIZAMBERT took a very creditable position amongst the graduates of his year in the University of Edinburgh. As a Dresser and Clinical Clerk in the Royal