ACTIVITY AT THE BEACHES.

Patrons of Summer Resorts Preparing for Season's Outing.

Balmy and Kew Beaches are again assuming their accustomed activity. There are already quite a number of families down for this summer. On going around the beaches one notices many changes from last year. A number of the houses have new lawns and flower beds, while others have been changed and added to. More houses have been built this spring than ever before. There are at least thirty new houses east of Woodbine-avenue, six or seven of which are on the lake front. The church pavilion at Balmy Epach is now on Spruce-avenue. John Ross, who keeps the Balmy Beach rules for the corner of Queen street, and the new fire hall is also to be on Spruce-avenue. Among the new houses is a boarding establishment on Beach-avenue, just north of Queen-street. This house is being built for Mr. Moore, and is to have thirty-six rooms.
