Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine

WHERE DR. CHASE'S BACKACHE PLASTER IS APPLIED PAINS AND ACHES CANNOT EXIST.

Though composed of simple ingredients of well known virtue, Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine has a powerful and far-reaching action on the whole system.

It is not meant to merely STOP the cough, which is usually a dangerous proceeding, but to POSITIVELY CURE both cough and cold.

In this regard it is entirely different to all ordinary Cough Medicines.

It is also intended for more serious diseases, such as Croup, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Asthma and Pneumonia.

Though it is not claimed that Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine will cure Consumption in its advanced stages, experience has proven that it is certain to bring relief, and if used in time will prevent the development of this dreadful disease.

When your body is chilled and you feel that you are taking cold, when the chest and lungs become sore, when you are threatened with Pneumonia, you can depend absolutely on this great family medicine to cure you.

WILL EVOLVE A NEW BILL OUT OF MASS OF ARGUMENT

Assessment Committee Will Depend on Chairman to Lead Them Out of Wilderness.

Attorney-General Gibson, chairman of the Legislative Committee on Assessment, will evolve something out of the mass of conflicting argument given before the committee that will assist the members in arriving at a more equitable basis of taxation than is provided by the present law or the report of the Royal Commission. When he gets his ideas reduced to paper he will call the committee together, probably the week after next, and what he thinks should be the law will then be discussed. The committee will be merely tentative. The committee adjourned yesterday after having spent several full days hearing the representations of the farmers, the municipalities, the franchise-holding corporations and the business men. No definite expression of opinion was given by the committee, the members being content to listen and acquire information. They appeared to be agreed, however, that a good law will come out of the work done so far.

Will Evolve a New Bill.

Just before adjournment yesterday afternoon Mr. Gibson announced that he proposed to draw up some tentative clauses, and he asked for some suggestions. He said Mr. Langton, secretary of the Royal Commission, did not like the idea of putting aside the proposed house tax, as he regarded it as the best method of reaching a class of people who would otherwise escape paying their just proportion of the burden of taxation. It struck Mr. Gibson that a good way to get at the telephone companies in the country was on the mileage and in the office on real estate and a percentage of gross income. Had they better not exempt machinery? he asked, and an expression in favor of this idea was given. It was felt that this would go a long way in the direction of getting rid of the bonus nuisance.

Mr. Gibson said there was no doubt that the clause exempting professional men up to the amount of $4000 was very unpopular, but it might not be unwise. There might be some other arrangement made, however, as the lawyers, for instance, would object to being the butt of the law.

How to Tax the Bell.

When the committee resumed Mr. Lynch-Staunton called attention to the Bell Telephone Company. He made it plain that the company was not trying to evade taxation, but wanted a basis fixed that would be more than just equitable. "Tax" on a percentage, he said, "and then impose the business tax on our franchisees and toll offices, and if that can't be worked out we are willing that the tax be put on the gross revenue."

ADAMS' ANNIVERSARY.

The second anniversary of the opening of the Adams Furniture Co. new building was held yesterday. The occasion was suitably decorated for the occasion with chrysanthemums and palms, making the ground floor look more like a reception room than a sales department of a first-class, busy furniture store. Many of the young ladies who visited there yesterday made arrangements to wait for their friends in a place that would be satisfactory to the municipalities. He said he thought it would be a good idea to have a "Home" range, with all the complete attachments, which are the desire of the modern housekeeper. A demonstration of the use of this is given in the basement, where a visitor is given hot biscuits and tea.

The new Magazine gallery, between the ground and first floors has been reserved for the cabinets and bric-a-brac furniture, and it makes a very good room and kitchen, showing how nicely the wealth and richness of the surroundings, and appreciates the way in which Advertising Manager Rutherford is placing his goods before the public.

The model house up-stairs is complete in every respect from parlor to smoking room and kitchen, showing how nicely a house can be furnished in these days of machinery by a small expenditure of money. The various pay taxes, for here the goods are presented in the most available form. Even the heavy rolls of carpets have to be displayed, the over ready clerk is willing to exhibit his goods to the visitor.

The Canadian Household Economic Association will meet on Tuesday, Dec. 8, in the hall of the Normal School, at 3 p.m. Miss Temple will address the meeting on "The Artistic in the Daily Round."

How Iron-ox Tablets Cured a Toronto Lady of Nine Years' Dyspepsia.

January 15, 1903.

Having been troubled with indigestion in the worst form for nine years, I can honestly say that I am cured, as I have not been troubled with it since using Iron-ox Tablets, which is six months ago. Any person wishing any information I will gladly give it. I have recommended them to several persons and they say the same as I do.

LOCAL OPTION AND WHOLESALE LICENSE

Editor World: In your editorial in today's issue on local option, you omit quoting section 35 of the License Act, which is as follows:

"A wholesale license shall be granted only to a person who carries on the business of selling by wholesale or in unbroken packages, and shall be and as any time during the currency of the said license, directly or indirectly or by or with any partner, clerk, agent or other person, carries on, upon the premises to which such license applies, the business of a retail dealer in any other goods, wares or merchandise."

The effect of this provision together with the high fee of $250, is that only in cities and large towns does it pay to attempt a wholesale liquor business, apart from every other kind of business. Any retail selling will mean the forfeiture of the wholesale license. We do not need bar-rooms in the suburbs of Toronto. We who know the true condition of things feel convinced that our effort to safeguard our suburbs is one that should appeal to all reasonable business men. It is not an extreme measure, and it is entirely a municipal affair, outside the arena of party politics. There are suburbs connected with Montreal, Halifax, Cleveland, Pittsburgh, Chicago and Boston without licensed saloons, which are eagerly sought after as residential places because they are free from drunkenness and disorder. Why should the suburbs of Toronto remain the dumping ground of the city's vice?

BOSTON SHOE STORE OPENING

Will Take Place To-day at 100 Yonge-street.

To-day sees the opening of the new Boston Shoe Store, at 100 Yonge-street, with a one-price gentlemen's shoe and the most practical guarantee ever offered in this city.

"If the uppers break thru before there is a hole in the sole of the shoe, we will replace them, with a new pair," said Manager J. A. Caruso to a World representative yesterday. "We have the best American made shoe ever offered in Toronto, and we keep such a wide assortment of widths and sizes that a poor fit is impossible."

The new store has been handsomely finished in Pompeian red, antique finish, and Finnish oak, with furniture to match. A marble-tiled front and entrance and handsome onyx pillars complete the surroundings, while a staff of obliging salesmen, at every trade, will see to the comfort and interests of the patron.

Politicians in Full Mail.

"Keep your hands off the regiment," roared the civilian officials, "Lord Wolsey says in the last word of his two volumes:

Chatter politicians you may be, but you are not soldiers, and you do not understand them; they are not pawns on a chess-board. Lead Wolsey, our fighting men of old British Army of old renown, and do not let us be led by a man who is not a soldier, but a politician. He has not yet forgiven the government for sending our Army out to fight Russia."

In the government that sent our men to the Crimea there was a soldier; all its members were political gentlemen. I trust that in the next world they may be the slaves of the noble spirits who died of want before Sebastopol thru their ignorance of war, of its wants, and of its stupendous difficulties.
