Discussing the point that there has been some criticism in Canada of the curtailment of munitions in favor of orders for the United States, Mr. Nuzum said that he thought it was only a commercial transaction. "At first we were losing Great Britain money and security for every dollar; since we joined the Allies we are losing money without any security, simply accepting the notes of the Allies. Naturally we expect that all the orders should come to us that can be by way of return."

It is noteworthy, to quote Mr. Dawson, that the present order given to Canadian Cottons is the first goods that they have made for domestic consumption since the United States. The sample has been sent there before for port only. This order was secured by vice-president after a visit to New York and Washington. The sample is a little different from anything that these mills had made for the Canadian government.

Shifting War Business to States
The introduction of the war-time transactions caused a flurry among the shorts, resulting in a rapid extension of gains in the first half hour. Central Leather, Marine Preferred, Mexican Petroleum, Smelter, Quebec, Bethlehem Steel, United States Steel, Republic and Maxwell were marked one to three points. Railroad shares were quieter. Reading and Canadian Pacific rose a point each, but C. P. R. subsequently relaxed two points to a new low figure at 147 1/2.

THE EVAPORATED APPLE INDUSTRY
With the apple picking season close at hand and the large quantities of apples grown in Canada, comes a timely bulletin from the United States. The sample is written by C. S. McGillivray, chief traveling inspector of fruit and vegetable of agriculture, Ottawa. It speaks of the old time methods when apples were cut into sections and hung up to dry, and then, with many illustrations and drawings, describes in full the progress that has been made in the process, the wholesome and nutritive value of the evaporated apple, the implements that can be used, and the structures that are advisable for manufacturing on a scale of different dimensions.

The bulletin remarks that the industry is only in its infancy in Canada, but is of great value and importance and open to extensive development. It gives the results of many experiments and, in short, in plain and explicit language, explains very fully the operations that are necessary to bring the evaporated apple to the highest standard of commercial excellence and nutritive value. The bulletin can be had free by addressing the Publications Branch, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

ENCOURAGING TO DULLARDS
Like Newton, Herbert Spencer in his school boy days showed no aptitude for the high. Elliott, his biographer, says of him that "he was very backward as a boy in the ordinary subjects of children's lessons. . . . Morally he was extremely disobedient and contemptuous of authority." At 18 he "found the discipline of his school more severe than he cared about, and he ran away home to Derby again, walking 48 miles the first day."

Yet as a man, "without money, without special education, without health," he was a biographer, "he produced 19 large volumes of philosophy and science in many diverse kinds, published a variety of mechanical inventions, and on endless other subjects, great and small, he set forth a profusion of original ideas."

U.S. Orders For All Canadian Mills Can Make

Montreal and Welland Mills Get Big Orders For Duck

No Injury To Canada—Acceptance of U. S. War Business Will Not Hurt Domestic Deliveries—Easement Replaces Munitions

(Financial Post)

Montreal, Sept. 19.—The readjustment of Canadian industry goes on with many encouraging elements of compensation. Increased activity in shipbuilding at both ends of Canada is now an accomplished fact, and business is starting for the auxiliary industries. A factor that should be taken into consideration is the prospect of large war orders coming to Canada from the United States.

Mention has already been made of orders for blankets and for underwear that had been placed, and also woolen mitts. On Thursday The Financial Post was informed by A. Dawson, vice-president and general manager of Canadian Cottons, that he had just secured an order for 2,000,000 yards of shelter tent khaki duck, worth approximately $700,000. The delivery of this will commence at once, and it so happens that this order will enable the firm to keep a section of its huge plant going that might otherwise have run slack. The order that was accepted was as much as Canadian Cottons could handle, and was not by any means the total amount that is open to Canadian mills.

Indeed a statement was made to the writer also on Thursday last week by H. F. Nuzum, a leading cotton merchant of New York, that orders for from 7,000,000 to 10,000,000 yards of duck were at the disposal of the mills in Canada if they could accept and handle this quantity.

500,000 Men Across by January 1
"It is not that the American mills are unequal to the demands of the government, but simply a matter of speed. At the present time the Canadian mills are not producing enough of the heavier lines to clothe and house our soldiers for the winter, and Canadian manufacturers can have practically all that they can turn out for us in the way of duck, underwear, blankets, woolen mitts and other necessary lines for our troops in training. Our aim is, if possible, to have 500,000 men across the ocean by the first of the year."

It is understood that another order for duck has been taken by the Imperial Cotton Co. and one for tape by the Hamilton Cotton Co. Penman's. The sample is a little different from anything that these mills had made for the Canadian government.

THREE MONCTON CHUMS MADE LAST SACRIFICE

(Moncton Times.)
The death of Pte. Curtis Wortman, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Wortman, Union street, closes a unique local incident of the war. During the winter of 1916, while the 104th was still at Sussex, G. E. Foster Keith's tobacco shop in Main street was the favorite headquarters of Fowler's men, whenever there chanced to be any considerable number of them in town on leave. The most steadfast chums in the Moncton lot were Private Wortman, Bert Hoy and Laurie Emerson. One evening all three were seated on a bench in Keith's shop examining a handsome banner which they had brought up from Sussex. As the outcome of a bantering conversation, the boys called the banner to the wall in their corner, asking Mr. Keith to leave it there "until we come home." The banner is still in its place for these boys will never come home.

Private Hoy was the first to fall killed in action, and Private Emerson lost his life but a short time later. And now

Private Wortman, the last of the gallant trio, than whom no Moncton soldier is better known or esteemed, has fallen in battle for the empire.

RECENT DEATHS
The death of Mrs. Eliza Pitt of Reed's Point, Kings county, occurred on Monday after a lingering illness. She was seventy-eight years old and leaves two sons, Frank W. and Adam P., of Reed's Point, and one daughter, Mrs. George A. Chase, of St. John; also one sister, Mrs. Lavina Foster of Kingston, N. B.

The death of Miss Elizabeth Preece, of Bellefleur Creek, occurred on September 12. She was seventy-three years old.
