NEW YORK GIRL SUES JOHN WANAMAKER, JR.

Claims $100,000 in Breach of Promise Suit—Defendant Denies He Ever Asked Her to Wed

New York, Sept. 14.—John Wanamaker, Jr., son of Rodman Wanamaker, and grandson of John Wanamaker, merchant prince, philanthropist, and former Postmaster-General, has been named as defendant in a breach of promise action for $100,000, Miss Lucille Storer of this city is plaintiff.

This first became known yesterday when Henry A. Wise, counsel for Wanamaker, moved in the supreme court for the transfer of the action from the State to the United States Court.

The fact papers show the defendant was served with the summons and complaint last July as he was about to return to England. He had come to New York on June 25, having the summer vacation, to attend the wedding of his sister, Mary Louise, to George Munn.

Little could he have known that Miss Storer, H. M. D. Connelly, her lawyer, said he did not wish to make a statement until he had consulted her. Miss Storer alleges Wanamaker began to court her in the spring of 1912. She says he promised marriage and within a reasonable time and she accepted him. He continued his attentions, she sets forth, until late in 1914, and then informed her he did not intend to marry her.

Attorney Wise stated last night that his client will file a general denial of Miss Storer's allegations. The lawyer said his client was twenty-one, a Princeton student, when he met Miss Storer, and had accompanied her to places of amusement. He denied he ever asked her to be his wife.

WOMAN INSISTS SHE WILL BE NEXT VICE-PRESIDENT

Mrs. Kathryn Rutherford, of Chicago, Announces Herself Republican Candidate

Chicago, Sept. 15.—She looks like a nurse, gray-haired and dressed in white. "I am Mrs. Rutherford, yes—the Mrs. Rutherford," she smiled, "who is going to be next Vice-President of the United States."

Leading the way to her office as housekeeper of the Municipal Tuberculosis Sanitarium, Mrs. Kathryn Rutherford sat down.

"I am not a politician, but a humanitarian," said she. "All women are humanitarians. Some are intellectually developed and that is what I am. I am going to be a candidate for the Vice-Presidency on the Republican ticket. Think of what an inspiring thing it would be to have a woman in the Vice-President's chair and eventually a woman in the President's chair."

"What I will do if I become vice-president is interesting. I am surprised you have asked me that question. Well, I won't let this country be involved in war—that fact will do me in my power to prevent it. Woman is naturally against war. It keeps her subjugated, no matter who wins. And then I am interested in labor questions."

"Oh yes, I didn't tell you that I think a nation should be treated like a child—lovingly. As vice-president I would be kind and act exactly the same as I do today."

IS CROWN PRINCE OUT OF HIS MIND?

Reported That Kaiser's Eldest Son Has Broken Down Under the Strain of War

London, Sept. 15.—A despatch from Northern France to the Central News gives a sensational report from German sources, via Rotterdam, that the German Crown Prince is suffering mental aberration as the result of worries of the campaign.

He undoubtedly has not spared himself in the attempt to strike a decisive blow on the western front. Prisoners say that he did not sleep for three days during the recent offensive, and that he has broken down under the strain.

Despite the entreaties of the princess, the prince refused to relinquish his command, even temporarily.

GLASS AND EMERY IN LUBRICATING OIL OF LINER ST. LOUIS

When Vessel Stopped For Engine Trouble, an Oiler Jumped Overboard, Was Rescued, But Died

New York, Sept. 15.—The American liner St. Louis here from Liverpool, had been laid up for a week to overhaul her engines, which had been damaged, according to a rumor emanating from the Irish coast, by enemy dust placed in the lubricating oil. The officers declined to discuss the matter, but said that a full report had been filed at the company's office in Liverpool.

Edmund N. Todd, vice-president of the Hanson & Van Winkle Company, manufacturers of chemicals at Newark, N. J., who was on the St. Louis on her last trip from this port, said tonight that he heard that glass was found in one of the engines.

Mr. Todd said that on the fifth day out, as the ship was approaching the war zone, about 100 miles from the Irish coast, something went wrong with one of the engines. When the trouble was discovered, one of the oilers jumped overboard. A life-boat put out and rescued the man, but he died almost immediately.

Mr. Todd said a ship's officer told him that particles of ground glass were found in the cylinders of one of the engines. The ship threatened to damage the bearings and put the pistons out of commission. Whether the suicide of the oiler had anything to do with the trouble to the engine Mr. Todd could not ascertain. The St. Louis arrived in Liverpool on September 11 on board the New York, which arrived here last Thursday.

THE LEAGUE OF NIGHT WATCHERS REVIVED

Composed of Those Who Cannot Sleep Because of Worry Over Fate of Friends at Front

London, Sept. 15.—The Christian, a religious journal, says the newest and oldest of all missionary societies in the world is the League of Night Watchers. Because of worry over fate of friends in the trenches and on battlefields vast numbers of English people found it impossible to sleep at night. Some of them discovered that knowledge that others similarly afflicted were praying or perhaps merely thinking of them helped them to pass the hours and bring cheer.

Means were taken to let each other know names, circumstances and causes of worries, and now the league numbers thousands, and is growing rapidly.

The leaders held a convention recently and decided to welcome contributions for work to help soldiers, believing that the formation of plans for relief might divert attention and induce sleep. It was decided also to form two branches, one composed of members who cannot sleep because of war worries, the other of those who must not sleep because of duty as nurses, guardsmen, physicians or military officers.

WEDDING ANNIVERSARY OF FAIRVILLE PASTOR

Between forty and fifty of the young people of the Fairville Baptist congregation gathered at the parsonage last evening to tender hearty congratulations to Rev. P. R. Hayward and Mrs. Hayward on the seventh anniversary of their wedding. The young folks greeted the worthy pastor and his wife with the following salute, to the tune of Tipperary:

"It's a short way to the Baptist parsonage. It's a short way to the Baptist parsonage. To the dearest couple we know. Goodbye Fairville people. Hello Inspiration Hill. It's a short way to the Baptist parsonage. And my heart's there still."

On behalf of the gathering a handsome dinner set was presented to Mr. and Mrs. Hayward as an expression of sincere congratulation, after which games were played and a general good time enjoyed by all, concluding with refreshments provided by and served by the young ladies.

The Kansas story of how the farmers put beer kegs instead of wheels on their binders in order to harvest in wet weather this year recalls the old story that was often told in the days when there was a law that permitted the sale of liquor for medicinal, mechanical and scientific purposes. A farmer came in one day and offered to purchase a gallon of the stuff from the local druggist. Out came the druggist's book, in which all sales and the purposes for which the liquor was to be used must be registered. "What are you going to use it for," asked the clerk. "You might as well put it down as mechanical," replied the farmer. "I'm going to have a barn raised."

PROSPECTORS RUSH TO KOWKASH REGION

Great Search Being Conducted For Promising Claims—Much Land Staked

Cochrane, Sept. 15.—Reports from Kowkash received here state that the country is now full of prospectors and that they have scattered over a wide area in search of claims to stake. Hundreds of claims have already been staked and the search for quartz veins has begun. So far the best samples seen, it is said, have come from the original Dodd's claims, but investigators are of the belief that when sufficient time elapses for them to make a thorough search they will be successful in uncovering some promising showings.

A considerable amount of freight is now being sent over the Northern Transcontinental from this point to Kowkash including camping outfits and provisions.

Public Buildings and Phone System Declared Grossly Over-rated—Appraisal Company Engaged

Winnipeg, Sept. 14.—The Norris government today contracted with the Canadian Appraisal Company, of Montreal, to make a complete appraisal of the public buildings in the province and the provincial telephone system, the work to be finished within sixty days.

This is the first step in a departmental investigation of the erection of every public building in Manitoba. The suggestion emanated from Hon. Edward Brown, provincial treasurer.

Mr. Brown said the appraisal was to place an accurate estimate of the cost of erection of the buildings. The result, he estimated, would show nearly $4,000,000 less than the book value after taking in the telephone system purchase and the new parliament buildings.

STRONGLY URGE THE NEED OF MORE RECRUITS

"From reports I see that all Canada is still recruiting men and working them into shape. All will be needed. This war is only beginning. It is hard to imagine that men, supposedly sensible, thinking men, can stand on one side and not jump into the game. What were they born for? Are they blind? Don't they want to take a man's part in this, the greatest and most momentous event in the world's history? What are they waiting for? It is this hanging back and not giving us men and munitions at the start that is costing all these lives. It is indignant because I didn't hold out so forward too late. We are going to win, him."

Restaurant Politics

"I tipped every waiter in the dining room," said the man at the summer hotel.

"And thereby secured the best of attention?"

"No. The head waiter asserted his authority and called a boyoff. He was will not do any good for them to come the other boys and give all the money to forward too late. We are going to win, him."
