Save and Be Successful

Jas. J. Hill said: "If you want to know whether you are going to be a success or a failure in life—you can easily find out. The test is simple and infallible. Are you able to save money? If not, drop out—you will lose. You may not think so, but you will lose as sure as you live. The seed of success is not in you."

This advertisement is the third of a series of ten, designed to effect closer co-operation betwen the company and its subscribers. There are three parties to a telephone call—the person calling, the person called, and the operator who connects them. The quality of service rendered is determined by the spirit in which all three work together, rather than by the individual effort of any one or two of these three persons. We shall gladly send complete sets of the series to those desiring them.

"Line Busy" Reports

A "Line Busy" report is an exasperation to the subscriber. To both the subscriber and the operator, as a rule, it means delay and duplicated effort.

Our operating methods require the operator to "test" the line, in order to find out whether or not it is being used, before making a connection.

"Line Busy" reports are given when the operator has tested the line and

(1) A person at the called station is already talking on the line, or

(2) The person called is on a party line and a subscriber

at one of the other stations is using the line, or (3) When all lines of a private branch exchange subscriber are in use, or (4) When a call is made for a telephone, at which there is no one to answer, at the moment when someone else is also calling that telephone, or

(5) A subscriber on the called line has passed a toll call and the line being held awaiting its completion, or

(6) Through an error by the subscriber in giving, or the operator in repeating, a wrong number is tested and found in

"Line Busy" reports are not so frequent on calls to stations served by individual lines. "Line Busy" reports on calls to party lines can be reduced if the joint subscribers to such lines will refrain from unnecessarily long and inconsequential con-

They're Better Surface Craft In Heavy Weather

BRUTAL AS THE OTHERS

Little Fishing Craft Fired on Without Warning and Crew Left Clinging to Hul - During All War Only Nine British Transports Sunk

London, Jan. 10—(By the Associated Press)—The submarine warfare has gradually taken on a new phase since the wintry weather set in. Submarines of the so-called cruiser type are now doing most of the sinkings, while the smaller submarines apparently are confining their work largely to mine laying.

The reason for this is that small submarines are not good surface craft in stormy seas, while the cruiser type has proved wonderfully seaworthy, being actually more manageable than the modtually more manageable than the mod-ern torpedo boat destroyer in heavy weather.

If not convoyed, merchantmen have a small chance against these super-submarines. Little fishing vessels, which the Germans do not distain to attack at every opportunity, are still helpless. Yesterday morning, the unarmed British fishing trawler Premier was at its peaceful work with nets in the North Sea during a blinding snow storm when a super-submarine suddenly appeared on the surface at a thousand yards, and sent two six inch shells without warning into the hull of the minety ton boat. The trawler turned turtle from the violence of the explosion and the crew of twelve jumped into the water and then climbed up on the overturned hull. The submarine came up in leisurely fashion within a stone's throw of the wreck, as if to take the men off, but seemingly thought better of the momentary humanitarian impulse and submerged suddenly without a word from anybody on board. The crew of the trawler was rescued some hours later. One man died and the others suffered from exposure.

Mine John Later Canadian Press Association in withedrawing from the news print investigation some months ago was the subject of some general observations by Geo. H. Montgomery, K. C., counsel for the Paper Manufacturers' Association, before Commissioner Pringle yesterday afternoon.
