DRIVER OF NO. 1 HOSE ENDS LIFE

Joseph H. Redmond Commits Suicide in Home in Brussels Street

DRINKS CARBOLIC ACID

Was Four Years in Department and Had Good Record, But at Times One Failing—Leaves Wife and Three Children

"Forgive me for what I have done. You were a good wife to me, but I was in the wrong. But it's all over now. These were the dying words of Joseph H. Redmond, driver of No. 1 hose in the fire department, who ended his life by drinking an ounce of carbolie acid at his home, 82 Brussels street, about ten o'clock this morning. In the house at the time were his wife and three small children, the oldest of them twelve years of age, and the youngest six. Redmond was considered a very valuable employee of the department. His duties called him to remain at the fire station all night, returning to his home in the morning for his breakfast. He had been in the employ of the department for four years, and during that time has made a good record. It was said he had been drinking and at such times was doctored. Last night he asked permission of Chief Kerr to get off from eight till eleven o'clock. His wife was out visiting with a neighbor, and when she returned at eleven o'clock her husband was waiting for her. He was angry and said that he would kill her even if he had to lose his job. The police were called into the house to quiet him. A large crowd had collected and at one time Redmond was on the street with his coat and hat off. The police restored quietness, however, and he returned to the fire station. The men at the station say that he acted all right last night.

This morning at eight o'clock he returned home in a rather despondent mood. On the way home he went into Clinton Brown's drug store and purchased one ounce of carbolie acid, telling the clerk that he wanted to use it to make a wash for one of the fire department horses. The sale was registered in the proper way. On reaching home he had some breakfast and told his wife that he was going away. He asked her to say good-bye to him as she would not likely see him again. She thought that he was not in earnest, however, and told him so.

He walked about the house for a few moments and then went upstairs. In a few minutes he staggered down and into his room, where he contained the acid on the floor. Mrs. Redmond immediately notified the neighbors and Dr. George A. B. Ashby and Doctor Foster were summoned. When they arrived life was extinct. Archbishop Raymond, to whose church he belonged, was summoned, and Coroner Berryman was notified and examined the body. Upstairs were found the bottle which had contained the acid, and a bundle of clothes which he had evidently gathered together in a hurry. Chief Kerr also called at the house during the morning. It is likely that an inquest will be held.

The family are left in rather poor circumstances. Mrs. Redmond said this morning that she had but little money saved up, and that she did not know how she was going to get along with her three little children, two boys and one girl. She said that her husband was very good to her except when he drank, and then he was quarrelsome.

He was about thirty-seven years of age and for many years was employed with the late M. A. Finn. Besides his family he is survived by one sister in Bermuda and an uncle, William Redmond, who lives in Carleton. One brother, Charles, died in Montreal last year.

COURT CASE FOR AN ACT OF 19 YEARS AGO

Woodstock Suit Against C.P.R. Goes to Supreme Court of Canada

JUDGMENT OF INTEREST

Mr. Justice McKeown's Decision in Eight Year Old Lumber Case—Case Arises Out of Fishery Dispute—County Court Matters

In the case of Mrs. Catharine A. Carr, of Woodstock, vs. the C. P. R., on application of Fred R. Taylor for the defendant, Dr. L. A. Curry appearing for the plaintiff, Mr. Justice McKeown today approved of the bond on appeal and set the case on appeal to the supreme court of Canada. The case will come up for argument in Ottawa at the October sitting of the court.

This case is a peculiar one. The act for which damages were claimed was done nineteen years ago, when the defendant company ran a siding into the plaintiff's property in Woodstock, thereby cutting off part of a lawn. The statute of limitations would bar any action with respect to her in twenty years, and the peculiar part of the case is its being brought before the court at the eleventh hour.

When the case was tried the defence set up was that the limitation of two years in which to bring actions, as set out in the railway act would apply in this case, but Doctor Curry argued that the act of the defendants had nothing to do with either the construction or operation of the railway, and therefore the old statute, allowing twenty years, in which damages could be recovered would apply. This opinion was upheld by the court, and a verdict for $1,500 was given in Woodstock on October 12 of last year.

The case was appealed to the supreme court in Fredericton, and after some time was dismissed with costs on April 18. The case will now go on to the Supreme Court of Canada for adjudication.

The case of Ferguson vs. the Swedish Canadian Lumber Company, which has been before the court for eight years, was finally disposed of by Mr. Justice McKeown in Chambers this morning. A verdict was given for the plaintiff some time ago and a new trial was granted, on the amount of the verdict being paid into court. The judgment was set aside, and this morning, on application of Dr. L. A. Curry, Judge McKeown made an order that out of the money paid into court $2,500 be paid to the plaintiff and the balance in court be paid to Powell & Harrison, the defendants' solicitors.

In the matter of John H. Sherwood et al, a suit in chancery for the dissolution of co-partnership, a summons was obtained this morning. This is an action on July 9. Dr. W. B. Wallace, K. C. appeared for the petitioner and John Kerr, Esq. for the respondents.

This is a case of several partners in a fishing operation at the West Side. It Kerr was in the police court some time ago, when a charge of theft was made against a co-partner. The present suit will introduce a charge of theft, and another of defamation of character.

County Court.

The case of George McKean vs. A. E. Crandall came up before His Honor Judge Kerr this morning. This is an action on a promissory note to recover $188, and the defence is want of consideration. The plaintiff contends that the title deed which should be the consideration, was not to be given until after the note was paid by agreement. Wm. Golding was the only witness, and His Worship reserved judgment. E. C. Woyman appeared for the plaintiff and Ralph St. J. Freeze for the defendant.

The case of Ryan vs. Ryan was adjourned to chambers, the date of hearing to be decided by counsel. McIntyre & Treisman are representing the plaintiffs and Weidon & McLean the defendant. The court adjourned sine die.
