ARRANGING WHIRLWIND RECRUITING CAMPAIGN

Committee in Session yesterday at noon — Colonel Sturdee permanent chairman.

Plans for a whirlwind recruiting campaign were discussed at a meeting of representative citizens yesterday morning and it was decided to proceed with the work at once. Those present felt that there are plenty of men who can and will enlist, if the matter is placed before them in the right light, and it is believed that the committee will be able to fill the ranks and remove the stigma which would attach to this province in the case of failure. Col. E. T. Sturdee was appointed permanent chairman of the committee with the privilege of appointing sub-committees as required.

The meeting was held at noon in the mayor's office, Mayor Frink presiding, and those present included Col. E. T. Sturdee, Senator Daniel, Lieut.-Col. B. R. Armstrong, W. H. B. Sadler, W. J. Mahoney, J. E. G. Armstrong, T. H. Estabrooks, Rev. M. E. Fletcher, E. A. Schofield, A. P. Burchill, P. A. Peters, E. W. McCready, John C. Ferguson, W. H. Golding, F. E. Hanington, R. T. Hayes, R. O'Brien, L. P. D. Tilley, C. B. Lockhart, Rev. M. E. Connon and Captain H. H. Smith, formerly of St. John, who is on furlough while recuperating from his wounds.

Mayor Frink spoke of the need of recruits to fill the 55th before a start can be made on recruiting for the New Brunswick half of the 64th. He said it had been suggested that he call together the committee which did such excellent work last year in securing men for the 26th, and he believed that they would be equally successful this year.

Lieut.-Col. Armstrong said that about 1,500 have been recruited for the 55th, but that 600 have been sent forward in reinforcement drafts, and that about 300 more are needed. Although the same number have been taken from the 40th, Nova Scotia has succeeded in filling that battalion and now have more than their share of men for the 64th. He told of the methods used in Halifax to stimulate recruiting and suggested work along similar lines. If men could be enlisted in groups so that they would be with their friends he thought they would offer more freely. If enough could be secured for the 55th, he believed that the sentiment that we will win anyway, and the lack of the feeling of personal responsibility among the men of the province.

Mr. Tilley urged the formation of a permanent provincial committee to continue their work so long as the war lasts. A fund to meet the expenses of such a campaign should be made available so the work could proceed without interruption.

Col. Sturdee Chairman.

Mr. O'Brien said the need for men was pressing and that a start should be made in St. John without waiting for a provincial organization. He suggested the formation of a smaller committee with Colonel Sturdee as chairman, to undertake the work.

Colonel Sturdee protested that since his son had left for the front it would be impossible for him to act as chairman. He added that there was a feeling that St. John had not done its share and that, if several hundred of those who could and should go could be enlisted here, it would stimulate recruiting all over the province. He supported the idea of going after the men in groups, through their unions, societies, etc. How to reach the individual was the big problem.

Mr. Estabrooks, who supported the nomination, also urged the need for greater efforts in the east, now that the rush was over in the west. In Winnipeg recently he found that they had to undertake a big campaign to secure the men they need for their battalions.

From the Trenches.

Captain Smith was greeted with applause as he rose to speak. He strongly urged the need of inspiring a greater measure of patriotism among the men of the province, and driving home the realization that the future of the empire is at stake; that Canada is in peril of German domination, and that a British colony should not be willing to depend on the Monroe doctrine to protect them. Men are needed, and are needed now, and a man who has sufficient patriotism to enlist should not question whether he is needed in one battalion or another, or for a reinforcement draft. He had been asked by the department to assist in recruiting which was supererogatory, and he was willing to do anything in his power to aid the local committee.

The election of Col. Sturdee as chairman was then carried, and the mayor asked all present to serve on the committee, sub-committees to be appointed by the chairman as required.

Senator Daniel advocated the concentration of the immediate efforts of the committee upon the filling up of the 55th, as this was entirely a New Brunswick battalion, and it would be a serious reflection on the province if it were not completed.

Rev. Mr. Fletcher said that, as he had traveled through the maritime provinces, he had felt ashamed of

FIELD KITCHENS WILL BE ACCEPTED FOR CANADIAN TROOPS

Letters from War Office explains matters in this connection—Very acceptable gifts

The situation with regard to the supplying of field kitchens, as the gift of citizens and communities for the Canadian overseas forces, has been cleared up by correspondence with the British War Office. Some time ago word was received from Great Britain that the kitchens were not required, but this is said to have been due to a misunderstanding, on the part of the War Office, that the kitchens were intended as gifts.

The British War Office supplies field kitchens upon the request of the troops for France, but the Canadians who have not been remembered by their friends in this way, miss the use of them during the long period of training. In addition to this, the kitchens of the McClary type has baking ovens, hot water heater and fireless cooking or thermos compartments, while the British equipment is adapted only for boiling or making stews, which the Canadian kitchens provide for eating well. The McClary type is built according to British standard military plans and there is no difficulty on the other side in securing parts or repairs. This type has been highly commended by the War Office.

The War Office has great pleasure in accepting this patriotic offer and I should be glad if you would be good enough to convey to the donors the cordial thanks of this department for the assistance which they desire to render in this direction. As the McClary kitchen has already been inspected by us and has been favorably reported on, we should be glad if those supplied are all of this pattern.

In this connection I should explain that the War Office received a cable from the Militia Department on July 23 inquiring whether we wished them to provide travelling kitchens, but as manufacturers in this country are now in a position to meet all our requirements, we replied that we would provide them. We did not, at the time, realize that the kitchens offered were a gift.

Yours very truly,
(Sgd) P. WINTOUR,
Director of Army Contracts.

what New Brunswick was doing in comparison with the others.

Mr. Golding advocated a campaign which would reach the man in the street, through human channels, and he thought that a campaign could be made as successful as that which was started last year about this time for the 26th.

The meeting adjourned until Monday evening in the same place.

Dr. H. V. Bridges, principal of the Normal School, Fredericton, was in the city yesterday.

HEAVY PASSENGER TRAFFIC ON RIVER

About Five Hundred Down River Yesterday — Other News Concerning the Waterway.

The wharves at Indiantown presented a busy scene yesterday, occasioned by the arrival of the river steamers Majestic, Champlain and Victoria. Upwards of five hundred passengers came to the city from up river points, the majority of whom were returning from their holidays before the public schools open.

Two hundred disembarked from the Majestic. This is her largest passenger list this season. The Champlain carried one hundred and fifty and the Victoria about one hundred.

Large quantities of farm produce were also brought to the city by the steamers. Now that some of the farmers have about finished getting in their hay crop, they will commence to export their farm products.

The season from now on promises to be an excellent one. Yesterday the steamer Champlain had her biggest cargo for the season, made up of dressed meats, lamb, beef and pork. The Majestic also had large shipments.

On Thursday evening, the delegates attending the Municipalities Convention at Fredericton enjoyed a pleasant moonlight excursion on the river. The orchestra and band furnished music during the outing and among those present were Premier Clarke and Attorney General J. B. M. Baxter.

belonging to the Victoria Steamship Company has been completed and is now ready for occupancy. It will be remembered that the former shed was completely destroyed by fire on Saturday, August 7th. The present structure is a very fine one-story building and is exactly the same size as the old one. Outside of the floor the shed is practically new and embodies all the latest designs in warehouse building. Hedley Fairweather was the contractor.
