A Vote for Honest Progressive Government

TO BRING FLOATING ELEVATOR TO WORK IN ST. JOHN HARBOR

Important Meeting of Improvements Committee Marked by Promises of Government Assistance from Minister of Public Works—Harbor Commission, Courtenay Bay Development and Marsh Bridge Abolished Taken Up.

At a meeting of the harbor improvements committee Thursday morning at which Hon. William Tugsey, minister of public works, was present, it was decided that as a grain conveyor could not be built in time for the coming season's business, a committee should be appointed to arrange for securing a floating elevator and lighters for handling grain.

Advantage was taken of the minister's presence at the meeting to question him about Courtenay Bay borings and the proposition to place the harbor in commission. Dr. Pugsley gave an engineer report on a plan of harbor development for Courtenay Bay as soon as the result of the borings was made known.

Mr. Pugsley said that a partial report made by Mr. Day showed that on the western side of the creek he had found a depth of 32 feet of mud and sand at that place on Sept. 2, aged 74 years.

Mr. Pugsley said that a committee be appointed to negotiate with the owners of floating elevators regarding the purchase or rent of such a vessel and that the C. P. R. and Dominion government be asked to further such negotiations.

Mr. Pugsley said he would recommend the government to pay towage on bringing the vessel to this port. He also agreed to recommend that the railway department should bear a third of the cost of repairing the Marsh Bridge aboudeau.

STRIKING FEATURE OF THE EXHIBITION

Natural History Department to Comprise Exceptionally Fine Collection of the Free Kindergarten Work.

The natural history exhibit will be one of the most interesting and instructive features of the approaching exhibition. William McIntosh, curator of the Natural History Society, will have charge of the display, which is a guarantee that every detail will be given close attention, and that all will be attractively arranged.

Perhaps the main feature of the exhibit, as it will take up a large portion of the space, will be the school children's competition, with collections of plants, minerals and insects. A large number of entries have come in already and some very good collections will be shown.

One of the attractions of the exhibition, will be the exhibit of a fine gathering of minerals in the rough, as well as cut stones having been secured. There will also be a collection of ores of various metals, such as iron, copper, zinc, gold, silver, antimony, manganese, aluminum, lead and nickel.

A representative collection of fossils, showing ancient animal life, will also be on display. This will include the remains of the children attending the free kindergarten will be exhibited, and the gift and occupation as carried on will be explained by a trained teacher each day.

Through the kindness of T. J. Phillips, the association are enabled to sell candy, soap and a few pictures, inexpensive copies of famous pictures by old masters. The proceeds of these sales will go towards their work.

Mr. Estabrook suggested that steps should be taken to get in touch with the transportation companies to see what it was proposed to do at Courtenay Bay. The building of wharves and dredging there would be a work of considerable magnitude and they should get right to work.

A Big Clothing Sale at J. N. Harvey's Store Exhibition Week. The exhibition in St. John this year will give the people living outside the city a chance to attend one of the greatest clothing, hat and furnishing sales that has yet been held in St. John. J. N. Harvey, the Union street clothier, who has been in the habit of holding a big sale at least once each year, says that after each sale there have been a number of people who live outside the city and who have seen some of the bargains got by their more fortunate neighbors, have complained that they have never been able to take advantage of one of these sales. On the sale this year has been timed to take place during exhibition week so that the people outside the city can take in the fair and the clothing, hat and furnishing sale, and save enough on their fall outfit to pay all expenses and still be money in pocket. The sale will extend to every department, clothing, hat and furnishing, and will show a much real expansion of the Harvey clothing establishment, which now occupies the entire lower floor of the Open House block, as sales of up-to-date, fully guaranteed goods carried make it a pleasure to deal at these stores and accounts for the rapid growth of the business from one store in 1895 to four stores in one now. The sale starts Friday, September 11 and closes Saturday, September 19. Remember the Harvey store is in the Opera House block, 109 to 127 Union street. Watch next Wednesday's paper for large ads. and price list.

Oak Hall Fall Clothes for Wear Are Ready

To the critical man To the economical man To the tall, slim man To the short, stout man To every man who wants Thoroughly stylish, good-fitting Good-wearing clothes, this Announcement means much

We have allowed nothing to stand in the way of the development of this fall's product—and as a result we have clothes that in style, in fit, in workmanship and in wearability are not surpassed anywhere.

To anyone who questions it we have but to Show our goods to prove our point. We know that the work put into the garments is the kind that counts. We know that the clothes we wear well—and that the fit will last as long as the goods. We are so sure that every garment we sell is what it should be that we guarantee it for satisfactory service and ready to make right any defect that comes to light.

But in addition to the style and fit and wear of our garments there's the advantage of lower prices than those of any other store. It is an advantage that no other store can duplicate, because no other that has to buy its clothes in the open market as all stores, except ours, must do—can possibly afford to sell at the same price as we. Our makers have no middle-men's profits to pay. We sell direct to you at practically what the goods cost other stores. They must pay the manufacturers a profit and you must pay it back to them. That's why our prices are always lower, seldom less than 25 per cent. lower, and often the saving is 30 per cent. and more.

Now do a little hard thinking when you get ready to buy your fall clothes and you'll understand why we do the largest clothing business in the maritime provinces and why you should buy here.

OBITUARY

George Mitchell. Halifax, N. S., Sept. 1 (Special).—George Mitchell, ex-M. P., a member of the firm of Geo. P. Mitchell & Sons, for years one of the leading firms of West India merchants here, died this morning. Mr. Mitchell was, until stricken by the illness that proved fatal, one of the most active citizens, foremost in all good movements.

George Emerson Allen. George Emerson Allen, at one time a well known resident of this city and prominent in musical circles, died Wednesday in Amherst. He was a native of Ontario, but resided here for some time but left upwards of 25 years ago, and since lived in the states. A few weeks ago he and his wife, formerly Miss Joan W. Frith, daughter of the late Capt. Frith, went to Amherst, where Mr. Allen had since been at the home of his brother-in-law, Andrew B. Mack. He was about fifty-five years of age.

Hugh Blair. Hugh Blair, a former well known employee of the I. C. R., died at his home Tuesday, aged sixty-six years. He had been sick only four days, with paralysis. Besides his wife he is survived by two sons, and two daughters who live at home. The sons are W. H. Blair, baggage master on the I. C. R., and E. W. Blair, of the Cornwall mill. Mr. Blair was popular with a wide circle of friends, who will be sorry to hear of his death.

H. A. Whitney. Moncton, N. B., Sept. 2.—H. A. Whitney, ex-mayor of Moncton, passed away today in Montreal, where he was operated last week for internal trouble. The news of his death came in the form of a surprise to friends here as his condition up to a day or two ago was reported favorable. Deceased was 74 years of age and was born in Milltown, Charlotte county. He had resided in Moncton for many years, being one of its most prominent citizens. He was mechanic superintendent of the I. C. R. here for twenty years or more but was superannuated about fifteen years ago.

Rev. A. Judson Kempton. Many readers will be pained to learn of the death of Rev. A. Judson Kempton, at Madison, Wisconsin, on Sunday evening, May 20, of typhoid fever. Mr. Kempton was a graduate of Acadia College, of the class of 1888. He also graduated in theology at the Rochester Theological Seminary. He was a young man of exceptional ability and sterling Christian character. His first settlement was in St. John West, as pastor of the Holy Trinity Baptist church. Here he labored for about three years, when he removed to the United States and settled in Madison, Wisconsin. Here he took a first place among the preachers of that city and was highly esteemed by his brethren in the state. He identified himself with every effort which was put forth to benefit and bless his fellows. He became a strong advocate of the cause of temperance and moral reform. After a successful ministry in Madison, the seat of 14th State University, he removed to Muskegon, Illinois, where he was pastor of the church at that place when he was called to higher service. Mr. Kempton was a most genial friend, a most sympathetic pastor, and a strong and vigorous preacher. His imagination was vivid and his sermons sometimes were interspersed with beautiful word pictures. The last year of his life was a most strenuous one. In a revival service which was held in that city and in which the different congregations united, Mr. Kempton threw himself with all possible energy. Following these services he had the exalted privilege of welcoming some 200 persons into church fellowship. The strain upon his physical strength was greater than even his friends had any idea of. In his exhausted condition he was stricken with the deadly typhoid, which he greatly dreaded, and which proved fatal. Mr. Kempton leaves a widow and three children, a widowed mother and a large circle of relatives and personal friends to mourn his early demise. His widow, who is well known in his province, where her husband labored for many years, will have the deep sympathy of her many friends in this great sorrow.

George Flewelling. George Flewelling, formerly well known in this city as one of the firm of G. & G. Flewelling of Hampton, died at his residence in Roxbury (Mass.) on Sunday last. He was 85 years old, and up to a few days ago was in good health. He leaves two daughters in California, and a son and daughter in California. He and his brother, Gifford, organized the matches and box shock business, still so successfully carried on by sons of the firm. He was a young man of exceptional ability and sterling Christian character. His first settlement was in St. John West, as pastor of the Holy Trinity Baptist church. Here he labored for about three years, when he removed to the United States and settled in Madison, Wisconsin.
