

places, and shall not do any unnecessary damage, nor in any way obstruct the entrance to any door or gateway or free access to any building;

(b.) The company shall not affix any wire less than twenty-two feet above the surface of the street or road, nor erect more than one line of poles along any street or road without the consent of the municipal council having jurisdiction over the roads or streets of the municipality;

(c.) In all municipalities the poles shall be as nearly as possible straight and perpendicular, and shall, in cities, be painted, if so required by any by-law of the council;

(d.) Whenever, in case of fire, it becomes necessary for its extinction or in the preservation of property, that the poles or wires should be cut, the cutting under such circumstances of the poles or any of the wires of the company, under the direction of the chief engineer or other officer in charge of the fire brigade, shall not entitle the company to demand or to claim compensation for any damage thereby incurred;

(e.) The company shall be responsible for all damage which its agents, servants or workmen cause to individuals or property in constructing, carrying out or maintaining any of the said works in this or the next preceding section authorized;

(f.) The company shall not cut down or mutilate any shade, fruit or ornamental tree;

(g.) In all municipalities the opening up of streets for the erection of poles, or for carrying the wires underground, shall be subject to the direction and approval of such engineer or other official as the council appoints, and shall be done in such manner as the council directs; the council may also direct and designate the places where the poles are to be erected in such municipality; and the surface of the street shall in all cases be restored as far as possible to its former condition by and at the expense of the company;

(h.) No Act of Parliament requiring the company, in case efficient means are devised for carrying electric wires underground, to adopt such means, and abrogating the right given by this section to continue carrying lines on poles through cities, towns or incorporated villages, shall be deemed an infringement of the privileges granted by this Act;

(i.) No person shall labour upon the work of erecting or repairing any line or instrument of the company, without having conspicuously attached to his dress a medal or badge on which shall be legibly inscribed the name of the company and a number by which he can readily be identified;

(j.) Nothing herein contained shall be deemed to authorize the company, its servants, workmen or agents, to enter upon any private property for the purpose of erecting, maintaining or repairing any of its works without the previous assent of the owner or occupant of the property for the time being;

(k.) If in the removal of buildings, or if in the exercise of the public right of travelling on or using any public road, highway or street, it becomes necessary that the said wires or poles be temporarily removed, it shall be the duty of the company at its own expense, upon reasonable notice in writing from any person requiring the same, to remove such wires or poles, and in default of the company so doing, it shall be lawful for such person to remove the same at the expense of the company, doing no unnecessary damage thereby; and such notice may be given either at the head office of the company or to any agent or officer of the company in the municipality wherein such wires or poles are required to be removed, or in the case of a municipality wherein there is no such agent or officer of the company, then either at the head office, or to an agent or officer of the company in the nearest or any adjoining municipality to that in which such wires or poles require to be removed;

(l.) The company shall make due provision for, take care and dispose of all water and drainage to the extent it disturbs or interferes with the same, whether from artificial drains, natural streams, or watercourses, which drains, natural streams or watercourses, any work of the company undertaken for such purposes crosses, touches or interferes with and which are in existence at the time of the construction of such work;
