

PAGE BLURRED /
PAGE PARBOUILLEE

C164596

Then we swept up by the banks of the old haunted St. Lawrence -- and I was in the great Province to which Jacques Cartier came -- leaving St. Malo in April, 1534; to which Champlain came -- the merchant men -- the missionaries -- the nursing sisters -- the pioneers in settlement and in government -- who -- for 150 years -- gave us the House in which -- today -- we dwell.

And I saw -- in memory -- Highlanders -- climbing Wolfe's cove -- and a battle on the plains -- two great leaders dead in battle -- and -- today -- that simple twin shaft for Unity of Wolfe and Montcalm -- Canada united!

And I know Quebec had given me my Bill of Rights.