

YOUR FORTUNE IN A TEA CUP

METHOD I.

AS a preliminary, when the tea has been drunk, turn the cup round three times from left to right, carefully pour off any liquid left in with the grounds, stand the cup upside down a moment in the saucer, and then hand it to the appointed prophetess of the occasion, without looking in the cup oneself, or else, so the oracle says, the spell will be broken.

A form seen resembling a HEART, if surrounded, indicates future pleasure. If dotted around, you may expect money.

TWO HEARTS—A marriage.

CROSSES—Adversity. If near the top of the cup, they mean that the misfortunes are nearly at an end.

AN ANCHOR—If at the bottom of a cup, a successful career; at the top, love and constancy; if circled with "clouds," inconstant love.

157.
A RING—A happy marriage. If there are any specks round the ring, clouds are signified, meaning precaution is necessary, and deceit not inevitable. A ring at the bottom of a cup foretells separation.

FLOWERS—To a married person, denote good children, who will be a comfort to their parents.

A STAR—Happiness, if standing out clear; if surrounded, it means long life; dotted round, it indicates that happiness, wealth, and all the fortunes of life will be the possession of the owner.

MOUNTAINS—Clouded round, mean many foes; but, if one by itself appears, you may expect the favor of people in a higher rank than yourself.

A SERPENT—Beware of an enemy. If on the top of middle of your cup, you will gain the victory; if it appears in a clouded part, there will be a struggle before you can master him.

FISH—When standing out clear, show lucky events by water, but mean the reverse when marked in cloudly parts.

A STRAIGHT ROD—Quarrels about legacies. If in the thick of the grounds, an illness.

(Continued on page 3.)

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription Tablets mailed direct, on request—50 cents.

c 1916