

START OUT RIGHT

¶ One of the most important things about the house is the linen, both household and personal.

¶ Few people nowadays do laundry work at home. The power laundry can do it so much better, and it is such a relief to eliminate "Wash-Day" from the week's work

¶ We are in a position to give you particularly good service in this regard, as we make a specialty of private work, and handle more personal laundry than any other concern in the city.

¶ Our patrons include the best people in town, and it is only necessary to ask your friends in order to learn how highly they esteem our work.

¶ A trial will convince you of the many excellencies of our service which our modesty forbids us to bring to your attention.
