I CURE MEN!

NO PAY TILL CURED.

This is for the man who has spent hundreds of dollars trying to remove the burden that is taking all the pleasure out of his life—the weakening drain upon his vitality which is destroying his strength. I can cure you, and if you will secure me for my money when you are well you need not pay a cent till cured.

I don't want money that I don't earn. I don't need it, and I am not after it. But I am after the dollars that are now going wrong in the quest of health. Look at all these poor wrecks of humanity that are spending all they earn on drugs—dope that is paralyzing their vital organs—that have spent all they have earned for years without gaining a pound of strength for the hundreds of dollars wasted.

That is the money I am after, because for every dollar I take I can give a thousand per cent. interest, and I don't want it at all until I have cured you if you will secure me. I have cured so many cases right here that I can prove my claims to you.

Just lately I have received letters of praise from these men:—
"It is beyond my expectation; back is much stronger; no lagged out feeling, no pain in the scrotum or back, and sleep perfect."—E. C. HANSEL, Bridgeburg, Ont.
"My varicocele has greatly diminished, which is a source of great satisfaction to me, and otherwise I feel better too."—CHARLES NEWLOVE, Bracebridge, Ont.
"It is thirty days since I began using your Belt, and it has cured my troubles."—MRS. ROBERT MOFFAT, Blackheath, Ont.

Wherever you are, I think I can give you the name of a man in your town that I have cured. Just send me your address and let me try. This is my twenty-fourth year in the business of pumping new vim into worn-out humanity, and I've got cures in nearly every town on the map. Come and see me if you can and I'll fix you up and you can pay me afterwards, or, if you can't call, write to me and I'll do the same. I've got a nice book on men that I'll send sealed, free.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS. Miscellaneous.

CURING SIDEBONES.

Can sidebone on horses be cured with blistering, or will it have to be operated upon?
J. W. C.

Ans.—Neither sidebone, splint, bone spavin, or any other of the bony enlargements to which horseflesh is heir, can be removed by blistering; but persistent blistering or firing may check inflammation in the part, and so alleviate the pain or lameness, thus affecting a cure. When once the lameness of sidebone is cured, no purpose can be served by trying to remove the enlargement. Splints and spavins are, of course, more unsightly, but their appearance must be endured. They are generally only painful in their formation periods, when the bony excrescence is being deposited; later they cease to give pain.

STANDARD WEIGHT OF A BUSHEL OF ONIONS

How many pounds of onions is there to the standard bushel by act of Parliament?

Ans.—Since 1898, the Government standard weight for a bushel of onions has been 50 pounds. Previous to that time it was 60 pounds. It is quite evident that there is a great variety of opinions as to what a bushel of onions should weigh. Upon inquiry of three prominent dealers here, one said that he usually took 50 pounds as the standard; another said that he considered 54 pounds about right, and the other had always looked upon 56 pounds as the standard. The general impression among farmers seems to be that a bushel of onions should be the same as a bushel of potatoes, 60 pounds. When they sell at this rate, the dealer, of course, gains the difference of from four to ten pounds per bushel. To give some idea of the different standards adopted in the United States, I may say that twenty-five States have adopted a legal standard; that for Indiana, 48 pounds is the standard; Connecticut, Wisconsin and Washington, 50 pounds; Maine, Rhode Island, and Vermont, 52 pounds; Michigan, 54 pounds; Maryland and Tennessee, 56 pounds; and the other fourteen States, Arkansas, Colorado, Georgia, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Massachusetts, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, New Jersey, Texas, and Virginia, 57 pounds.

SIZE OF STALLS—HENHOUSE

1. In laying out a cow stable floor for large cattle, how many feet should we allow from the front of the manger to the gutter? How wide and how deep should the gutter be? We tie with chains.

2. Would you condemn building a henhouse in the south end of a building adjoining a horse stable or cow stable, that is, a room tightly partitioned off for poultry?
DAIRYMAN.

Ans.—1. (a) Five feet nine inches from the back of the manger to the edge of the gutter is about right for an average-sized cow. Some stockmen arrange their stalls so that there is a gradual shortening in length, from about six feet to about four feet, from end to end of stable. From the front of the manger, the distance, of course, should be greater, depending upon width and plan of manger built. (b) About sixteen inches wide and six inches deep is a convenient size for a gutter, when the stable is to be cleaned out every day; although some prefer to have them deeper, as they hold more and insure clean stables, even when not cleaned regularly. Personally, we are not in favor of the gutter with perpendicular sides, but prefer to have a drop of not less than six inches behind the cattle then to have the stable floor, for about three feet behind the drop, slope toward the cattle at the rate of about one inch to the foot, then level floor behind this again. A floor of this kind keeps as clean as a stable can be expected, is easily cleaned, and convenient for cattle to cross. We know that the objection to such a floor is that it is liable to be slippery when wet, but a concrete floor should not be smoothed with a steel float, but should rather be left a little rough, by using a wooden float for finishing.

2. No, provided other conveniences, such as yards, could be had, and the division between the stable and henhouse was kept close by whitewashing to fill the cracks.
