It represents an old man, with naked feet, Nature. 'The humble desier, who hawks uncovered head, and long white beard, some article of clothing or some old piece wandering ceaselessly over the earth. His of furniture about the streets; the obsequiface is pale, a mark of blood is upon his ous mass of animal filth and rags which apforehead, his eyes burn like sapphires beproaches to obtrude offers of service on the nesth their oblique lids. With an eagle-like nose, and blood-like lips, squalid and passing traveler, is perhaps deeply versed in Talmudin lore, or aspiring, in nightly harsh in features, and clad in a coarse woolen gown, he ever pursues with staff in elements, and acquire invisibility.' Thus hand his interminable journey. Speaking wisdom is preferred to wealth ; and a Rothsall languages, and traversing all lands, knowing not the purposes of God concernchild would reject a family alliance with a Christian prince to form one with the huming himself, and ever driven onward by a blest of his tribe who is learned in Hebrew secret impulse, he is transported from place lore. to place with the speed of the wind; and as The Jew of the old world has his revenge :

the long centuries come successively to a close, his old age renews itself with the vigor of youth, in order that he may complets the weary round of ages. The people means of waging exterminating wars, he wonder as he hastens past. Once or twice only has he paused to tell his story. He was of the Jewish nation, 'lodged hate' and 'certain loathing,' more Absencerus by name, and a shoe-maker by gratilying even than the golden Four-pertrade. Dwelling in Jerusalem, he per-secuted our Saviour, and was of those who cance is the fact that in many parts of the cried, 'Crucify him.' The sentence of world, the despised Jews claim as their own, death having been pronounced, he ran to the possessions of the Gentiles, among his house, before which, Jesus was to pass whom they dwell. Thus, the squalid Yesler, on the way to Calvary. Taking his child living in the Jews' quarter of Balata or in his arms, he stood at the door with all Haskeni, and even more despused than the his family to behold the processsion Our unbelieving dogs of Christians, traffics Saviour, weighed down by the heavy burden secretly in the estate, the palaces and the of the Cross, leaned for a moment against villages of the great Beys and Pachas, who grossness of his taste and manner of eating, the wit addressed him with "Dr. M'C., ye In the Ottoman Empire there are at least bring me in mind of the great king Nebu-
