to have been carbon dioxid. It has been shown that this gas possesses so great a power to retain solar heat that its addition to the extent of only one-

the fall of meteers was the source of the extra supply of carbon dioxid in Experiments of the Swedish physicist Arrhenius, supplementing the investigations of Professor Langley, investigations of Professor Langley, indicate that in order to explain the origin of the warm climate which prevailed over the earth in the tertiary age, when even the polar regions seem to have abounded with life, and of the intense cold that caused the glacial periods, when half the northern hemisphere was buried under ice, it is only necessary to look to slight changes in the composition of the atmosphere. With nearly all medicines put up for sale through druggists, one has to take the maker's say-so alone as to their curative value. Of course, such testimony is not that of a disinterested party and accordingly is not to be given the same credit as if written from disinterested motives. Dr. Pierce's medicines, however, form a single and therefore striking exception to this rule. Their claims to the confidence of invalids does not rest solely upon their makers' say-so or praise. Their ingredients are matters of public knowledge, being printed on each separate bottle wrapper. Thus invalid sufferers are taken into Dr. Pierce's full confidence. Scores of leading medical men have written enough to fill volumes in praise of the curative value of the several ingredients entering into these well-known medicines.

Amongs a Prof. Finley Ellingwood, M. D. of Bennet Medical College, Chicago: Prof. Hale, of the same city; Prof. John M. Scudder, M. D., late of Cincinnati, Ohio; Dr. Grover Coe, of New York; Dr. Bartholow, of Jefferson Medical College, of Pa. and scores of others equally eminent.

The sun, provided we measure only the disk seen with the smoked glass, is $66,000 miles in diameter—i. e. 108 earths could be constrably ranged side by side ecroes the disk. To cover the surface would require many shoutends. To fill the interior we should need 1300,000. On a smaller scale we might represent the sun by a ball two feet in diameter and the earth by a good sized grain of shot. Let the sun be hellowed out, then place the sarth at its center and let the moon revolve about it at its real distance of 240,000 miles. There would yet remain hearify 200,000 miles of space between the moon's orbit and the inclosing shell of the sun. Indeed to journey from one side of the sun to the other, through the center, would take one of our swift express trains nearly two and a half years. So vast a globe must be heavy.
